G. O. P. CALLED TO UNITE ON A MAYORAL ENTRY

Snow Invites Faction Chiefs to Parley.

BY PARKE BROWN.

There were rapid developments yesterday in the Chicago mayoralty situation.

An effort to unite anti-Thompson Republicans who are dissatisfied with the prospects of Charles V. Barrett was begun by B. W. Snow, chairman of the Republican county central committee. He called a conference for Friday morning which is intended to solidify these elements behind a new candidate.

Howard P. Savage, former national commander of the American Legion, and Thomas E. Wilson, packer, were the favorites at this state of the proceedings.

Democrats Get Behind Cermak.

On the Democratic side there was further and apparently convincing proof that the regular organization will get behind President A. J. Cermak of the county board as its candidate for the mayoralty. It was estimated that at least forty of the fifty ward committeemen favor Cermak and that while there may be a contest in the primary it will be one sided.

The Snow decision to try to solidify all elements of the party not already affiliated in the primary battle came on the heels of renewed life in the Barrett campaign. This development occurred at a luncheon where Barrett used the word "liar" in connection with Thompson's failure to disclose the name of a "loop bank director," who, according to Thompson, had condemned Barrett's conduct on the board of review.

Snow Calls G. O. P. Leaders.

There was no connection between the two events. Chairman Snow has been in close consultation with representatives of the anti-Thompson wings of the organization for several days and late in the afternoon announced that in an effort to bring those negotiations to as speedy a termination as possible he had sent letters of invitation that were expected to bring about twenty Republican leaders together at the Palmer house on Friday morning.

He declined to forecast the attendance at the meeting, but said that it would include leaders of the Deneen and Brundage groups and other units displeased with the present outlook.

Part of the Letter Made Public.

He made public part of the letter of invitation that he had sent out. This part of the letter said:

"As chairman of the Republican central committee of Cook county, I regard it as my duty to present to you the situation of the Republican party in Chicago. As the direct result of continued factionalism in the party and consequent struggles for factional or personal advantage, the party now faces the possible prospect of complete exclusion from any part in the administration of government in this city and county.

"Under our system of nominating by primary selection, local political organization is absolutely necessary for a successful candidacy; therefore, the various factions maintain such local organization.

One Cause of Waste.

"The practical result is that each faction expends its strength in primary quarrels and has neither power nor disposition to give united support in the final election to the candidates who happen to be successful in the primary. The natural, even inevitable result is bi-partisan arrangements before or after election and these bi-partisan deals are in large measure responsible for the waste and extravagance in local government that increasingly burden the citizens of this community.

"Those who are in position of leadership in factional Republican groups must accept responsibility for the evil effects of factionalism where such results, and they are equally entitled to credit if their groups so conduct themselves as to aid in Republican success of a character that commends itself to the great body of Republican voters.

"In view of the approaching primary for selection of a Republican candidate for mayor and the urgent necessity for securing a candidacy which can meet the approval of all Republican groups and which represents the aspirations of Chicago for a clean, progressive and efficient administration of city affairs, I invite you to take part in a conference of party leaders for the purpose of discussing party affairs and party candidates.

"This meeting will be held in Parlor 5 of the Palmer house on Friday, Dec. 19, beginning at 10:30 a. m. and I sincerely urge that you be present. bring-

Cornered Bandit Kills Pal and Self

BAND TRAPPED AFTER 50 MILE RUNNING FIGHT

Rob Indiana Bank; Caught in Illinois.

Sidell, Ill., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Every one of five machine gun bandits who robbed a bank at Clinton, Ind., this morning was accounted for here tonight. Two were dead. Three were under arrest at the end of a fifty mile pursuit which was punctuated by gun fighting and assisted by airplanes and radio. During the running battle the robbers changed automobiles four times, but were unable to shake off the pursuing posse.

The loot, $13,000, of which a portion was in gold coin, was recovered. One casualty was reported by the possemen—Deputy Sheriff Joe Walker of Dana, Ind., was near death last night in a Terre Haute, Ind., hospital.

A mortuary in Sidell contains the bodies of T. W. Landley, 65, formerly of Frankfort, Ind., where a few weeks ago there was a $60,000 bank robbery, and Thomas Bell, alias Mann, alias Lamb, 42, formerly of Pittsburgh.

One Bandit Wounded.

E. H. Hunter, 47, formerly of Terre Haute, one of the robbers, is in a hospital at Danville, Ill., shot in the stomach. In jail at Danville is William Martn, 26, alias Walter Dietrich, recently arrested in St. Paul, Minn., for bank robbery and last known in Chicago seven years ago, when he was sentenced to prison for robbery. In jail at Terre Haute is William M. Long, 32, formerly of Kansas City, Mo. None of the captured bandits has "talked" yet, according to reports from police.

Deputy Sheriff Walker stands out as one of the many heroes of the day. So do Omer Hamm of Dana, Ind.; Chief of Police Everett Helm of Clinton, Posseman Ernie Boetto, and Patrolman Burnside of Clinton. The latter three kept close behind the bandits, braving the machine gun fire that put Walker out of the chase, and wree "in at the death."

A Spectacular Race.

The entire countryside of the three border counties of Vermilion, Indiana, and Vermilion and Edgar, Illinois, was aroused by the spectacular "hare and hounds" that wound dizzily from Clinton to Sidell. Radio, telephone and telegraph messages were broadcast warning all peace officers to be on watch for the escaping bank robbers, and two airplanes were sent forth to "spot" the carload of desperadoes.

The robbers entered the Clinton bank soon after 9 o'clock in the morning. Lawrence Jackson, cashier, was hit on the head with a gun when he said he couldn't open the vault, which has a time lock. Assistant Cashier A. W. Hedges was forced to open a smaller vault. A pile of gold pieces, intended for Christmas presents, was gathered into a bag along with bills for an aggregate of $13,000, and the bandit car sped out of Clinton on U. S. route 41.

Chief Helm, Boetto, who is an automobile dealer, and Patrolman Burnside, in a small car, took the trail immediately after the alarm was sounded.

Bandits Change Tire.

Three miles out of Clinton the bandit car was rounding a corner on two wheels when a tire burst. The pursuers were held back by machine gun fire, while two of the bandits calmly went about the job of changing tires. At Dana, the robbers stopped the car of J. R. Frisk, a retired auctioneer. They threw him $500 in gold as they drove away with his car.

It was at Dana that Deputy Walker joined in the pursuit. He and Ham noticed the bandits approaching at top speed waving revolvers and undertook to block the car. Walker was shot. A few miles farther on Chief Helm and the others helped Walker into another car and sent him to Terre Haute for medical aid.

Soon the second bandit car broke down and the desperadoes abandoned it and seized a truck belonging to S. W. Gilbert, a farmer. The fugitives mounted a machine gun on the rear of the truck and stood ready to kill whoever drew close. As the trading of machines took place the policemen noticed that one of the bandits, Hunter, was wounded and had dropped to the ground. His accomplices went back after him and carried him to the truck.

Enter Fourth Vehicle.

GIRL VANISHES; FEARED VICTIM OF KIDNAPERS

Believed by the Albany Park police to have been kidnaped, 10 year old Margaret Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Miller, 3717 Cullom avenue, disappeared last evening when her mother sent her on an errand to the neighborhood meat market at Elston and Ridgeway avenues.

She left the house at 4:40 p. m., and should have returned by 5. When she did not the mother telephoned the market and learned she had not arrived there. The parents notified the Albany Park station within an hour. Search of the neighborhood and inquiry at homes, shops, and stores failed to disclose any trace of her.

Mr. Miller, a freight agent for the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee electric railroad, described Margaret as a quiet, studious child, who never left her home without asking permission. She was a pupil in the fifth grade of the Patrick Henry grammar school. She is three and a half feet tall, weighed about 65 pounds, has dark brown hair and eyes. She was wearing a blue chinchilla hat.

MR. MURPHY GETS TIRED AND USES RAIL AS PILLOW

With a Bible in one hand and an empty whisky bottle in the other, James Murphy, 37 years old, sought a bed shortly before dawn yesterday. Not particular, he selected a nice, hard roadbed on the North Western lines at South avenue in Waukegan, used a rail for a pillow, and was soon asleep.

Suddenly out of the darkness approached a south bound limited. But Murphy, citizen of 48 states, slept on. There was a loud screeching of brakes, however, as the engineer sighted the recumbent figure in the glare of the headlight, and the heavy train came to a jolting stop, its cowcatcher only three feet from Murphy.

Murphy was arraigned before Magistrate Michael J. Haney in Waukegan yesterday afternoon, and discharged. He had no desire of dying, he said, and his choice of a bed was inadvertent. He explained that he carried the Bible on all his rovings.

Oak Park "L" Watchman Fined on Drinking Charge

James Corbett, 60 years old, grade crossing watchman for the elevated lines, who was arrested by President Charles H. Cryzler of the Oak Park village board on Dec. 7 and charged with intoxication while on duty, was fined $100 yesterday by Justice of the Peace Paul Wick. The hearing developed into a controversy between attorneys for the lines and representatives of the village who complained of the alleged inferior types of men assigned to guard the crossings in Oak Park.

Sky Armada Off on Flight to America

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ORBETELLO, Italy, Dec. 17 [Wednesday].—Italy's air armada of 12 planes and 43 men took off from here at 7:45 a. m. today [1:45 a. m. Chicago time] on the first leg of the most ambitious group flight in history. With roaring motors, the planes sped westward to Cartagena, Spain, on the flight to South America, which will include a 1,900 mile nonstop dash across the South Atlantic.

Wives of members of the crew, Italian air officials, townspeople and newspaper men stood at the docks of the lagoon and waved farewell as the ships took the air.

Fly in V Formations.

Flying in V shaped formations, the four squadrons of three planes each circled above the lagoon, dipped their wings in salute, headed west in their 740 mile dash to Cartagena at a speed of 100 miles an hour and soon were out of sight.

Gen. Italo Balbo, Italy air minister, led the birdmen. The other three squadrons are in command of Gen. Valle, chief of staff, and Lieut. Col. Umberto Maddalena, famous Italian ace.

The decision to start was made last night after a merry dinner as the officers on the flight were sipping their liqueurs and coffee. With the rain pelting against the windows of the air base dining hall, Gen. Balbo spread the last batch of weather reports from Italian destroyers, stationed in the western Mediterranean, upon the table.

A map was brought out. Gen. Balbo checked off the fog and storm areas one by one until finally a red streak across the blue marking of the route to Spain was clear.

Gives Order for Take-Off.

"We'll hop at dawn," the air minister said. "Let's drink up and go to bed."

Slowly the messroom cleared. The members of the flight crew went off to bed and calls were left for 5:30 a. m. Finally only those men were left whose job it is to wait at home and read the bulletins while two score comrades risk their lives in the accomplishment of a feat, which Gen. Balbo, in his vibrant order of the day, says will enter the storied cycle of aeronautic triumphs.

"Soldiers of the sky," reads this order, "do not fear death and offer freely their lives to go farther and higher in the skies. With stout hearts we launch ourselves out over the ocean that Italian genius and courage conquered for civilization."

With a cigar in his mouth Gen. Balbo, in a smart blue gray uniform, wearing regular limp leather service boots with a zipper slider and only his braid to show that he is the air generalissimo of Italy, stopped at the door of the messroom a moment to talk with THE TRIBUNE correspondent.

Ocean Dash in January.

He told how carefully the flight had been planned so that a few day's delay by weather conditions along the route would still permit them to get to Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, in time to make the flight across the ocean to Brazil in the full moon at the end of the first week in January.

"We will fly whenever possible in a V formation with each squadron of three planes likewise in a V formation," he said.

"Suppose one plane goes down," I asked, "what are the orders?"

"To go on and not look back!" said the young general.

"I'm glad the weather has cleared, remarked Lieut. Col. Maddalena, the man who spied Umberto Nobile's red tent in the arctic.

As no woman is allowed at the airport all farewells were said in town last night.

Akron, O., Dec. 16.—(AP)—W. S. Brock, ocean flyer, tonight said he had flown the Laird Solution, mystery plane of revolutionary design, from Chicago to Akron, 340 miles apart, in one hour and 45 minutes. The Solution, owned by Brock and Lee Shoenhair, Akron pilot, was flown to victory in the Chicago air races last summer.

THE JUDGE TAKES JOSEPH AT HIS OWN VALUATION

Joseph A. Lawrence, 43 years old, 6925 Newell avenue, will have a year in which to analyze how tough he is. He was arraigned yesterday before Judge A. O. Erickson in the Shakespeare avenue court, on charges of intoxication made by his wife, Josephine.

Standing at the bench, Lawrence boasted he was a member of the Capone syndicate, and always carried pistols. He informed the judge that if liberated he would give him two cases of whisky for a present. Otherwise, he threatened, he would take the judge for a ride.

Judge Erickson reacted by sentencing him to one year in jail, and fining him $200 for contempt. Lawrence described himself as a school board draftsman on furlough.

Riot in Spain; Troops Battle Rebel Mobs

PERPIGNAN, France, Dec. 16.—Reports leaking through the heavy veil of censorship in Spain today indicated that the republican revolutionary move is gaining strength, despite optimistic assurances being issued by the Berenguer government in Madrid.

The government today had 75,000 troops, including foreign legionnaires, and thousands of civil guards under arms in an effort to keep order in the general strike that gripped all sections of the country. Armed clashes and bloodshed were reported from more than a dozen centers and one report said revolutionary aviators were flying over several towns dropping pamphlets urging the people to join the republican movement.

Towns in State of Siege.

Rebels are reported to have captured the town of Logrono and to have proclaimed a republic. The towns of Port Bou, Garona and Figueras are in a state of siege. Placards posted during the night bearing the inscriptions "Death to the king: Long live the republic," were removed by police this morning. Fights between workers and police took place at Valencia, where a general strike is now going on. One report said Valencia was ruled by rebels and that three loyal generals had been executed. Naval forces at Cadiz were reported tonight to have revolted.

It is reported from Barcelona that serious shooting occurred during street fights this afternoon between civil guards and republicans who were shouting "Viva la republica!" It is said the guards suffered heavy losses. The rebels aimed their fire at the guards' heads.

Wealthy Spaniards Flee.

Barcelona has been divided into five military zones, each under the command of a brigadier general, with heavy reinforcements of cavalry. Military detachments from Vergara, Alcantara, Nunanera, Montesa, and Santiago were rushed there to help enforce the rigorous military law which was proclaimed yesterday.

Trains and automobiles arriving at the French frontier today from Barcelona were crowded with wealthy Spaniards and their families who are quitting Spain for the safety of France. The passengers said that cavalry detachments were bivouacked at important street intersections in Barcelona and that civil guards were patrolling the thoroughfares, ready to ride down any demonstrations and keep crowds from forming.

Mob Attacks Garrison.

A mob attacked the Santander garrison this morning. The sentinels fired, killing two civilians and wounding a dozen. A general strike which broke out at Bilbao is spreading to all factories in the region. Shops in the towns are closed up.

Outbreaks among soldiers occurred at Huelva today when certain troops cheered the republic and were attacked by their loyalist comrades. Another regiment intervened, separating the opposing factions, and the republican boosters were disarmed.

Legionnaires Are Landed.

A battalion of Spanish foreign legionnaires which debarked at Algeciras this morning is being rushed to Madrid in troop trains. The summoning of the "hirelings," as the legion-

AMENDMENT NOT PASSED VALIDLY IS HIS DECISION

Convention Proper Means, Is Ruling.

In that New Jersey district, pending appeal of his ruling, federal enforcement of the dry act will be suspended.

Federal prohibition enforcers announce they will continue prosecutions until decision is upheld by United States Supreme court.

Other New Jersey federal judges announce they will not be bound by decision unless appealed and upheld.

Wets hail decision as great victory, while drys insist it means nothing and if 18th amendment is invalid all others are also.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 16.—(AP)—The adoption of the eighteenth amendment. Federal Judge William Clark held today, was invalid.

He ruled that only by constitutional conventions and not by state legislatures can such amendments, which transfers to the United States powers heretofore reserved to the peoples, be ratified.

The only immediate effect of his decision, Judge Clark explained, would be in New Jersey and any arrests for the retail sale of intoxicants in that state would have to be made under the state prohibition enforcement act pending appeal of the ruling. Appeal would stay the effect of the decision until it could be ruled on by a higher court.

Philip Forman, federal district attorney for New Jersey, said the decision would affect only Judge Clark's district and that the Volstead act will continue to be enforced in New Jersey until the remaining three judges on the federal bench in this state either decide in agreement with Judge Clark or until a decision of the higher courts is reached on the opinion.

The ruling will be effective only in those states in which United States District court judges concur in the findings.

Case Presented by Law Group.

Validity of the manner in which the prohibition amendment was adopted was tested before Judge Clark by a group of attorneys—all members of the New York County Lawyers association—after a study of two years. The group represented William Sprague, a township clerk in New Jersey, who had been indicted for transporting beer. By today's decision the indictment was quashed.

In a fifteen thousand word opinion he discussed the proposition that prohibition of intoxicating liquors was a question of government and a problem in political science. He called upon nearly a hundred authorities in support of his ruling and quoted from their public and private writings at length.

First Decision on Issue.

The jurist declared the question he was deciding had never been presented to any court and said he was not bound by any earlier or higher authority.

In national prohibition cases before the Supreme court of the United States the only matters argued concerned the substance of the eighteenth amendment and whether or not an amendment changing the distribution of power between the states and the United States reduced the police powers of the former.

On other issues than that upon which Judge Clark ruled today the federal courts, including the Supreme court of the United States, have held the eighteenth amendment to be valid.

Although Judge Clark decided the case on points raised by counsel, he found several instances, he said, in which he was diametrically opposed to their contentions, and his decision contained less than half a dozen authorities cited by them in their briefs.

Based on Adopting Methods.

"The traditional method of adopting amendments to the United States constitution," he wrote, "is challenged. Upon the outcome of the challenge depends the disposition of the case at bar. Even if this opinion meets with a cold reception in the Appellate courts we hope it will at least have the effect of focusing the country's thought upon the neglected method of considering the constitutional amendments in convention.

"We have often wished for some statute akin to that of mortmain to remove the dead hand of tradition from the domain of ideals."

The court related that in Massachusetts the first constitution was rejected because it had not been framed by a body chosen for that one purpose. He also pointed out that of eight constitutions prior to 1787 which provided for amendments, five required that the process be undertaken in some form of convention.

Thorough Study of Question.

"This discussion of the assumptions underlying the amending clause of the constitution has been as thorough as the inhibitions of our scholarship and the amount of space that can be alloted thereto, even in an opinion on a subject of such fundamental importance permit.

"It seems indisputable that local self-government, popular sovereignty and the convention system of drafting and amending constitutions were the very 'warp and woof' of the political thought of the whole period prior to the drafting of the federal Constitution."

Declaring the thought processes of President Lincoln had come to "typify so much the spirit of our institutions," he quoted the civil war President as follows:

"'I will venture to add that to me the convention seems preferable in that it allows amendments to originate with the people themselves instead of only permitting them to take or reject propositions originated by others not especially chosen for the purpose, and which might not be precisely such as they would wish to either accept or refuse.'"

Judge Clark presented at length his theory that the United States frame of government is a problem in political science, to be solved as far as possible according to scientific principles.

"Political science," he wrote, "can give only one answer to the question presented by the alternative methods of ratification prescribed by article five [of the United States constitution]. If the amendment to be considered is one designed to transfer to the United States powers heretofore reserved to the states or, if there are any such, to the people, that answer must be in favor of the convention method.

Convention Method Indicated.

"This follows from the character of such amendment and from the character of the delegates to, and deliberations in, a constitutional convention, as compared with the corresponding character of the personnel of state legislatures and their deliberations."

The jurist then pointed out what he considered pertinent illustrations to support his contention that constitutional conventions were preferable to state legislatures in dealing with amendments.

The ratification of the women's suffrage amendment in Tennessee, Judge Clark related, resulted in the last analysis "upon the change in the vote of a youthful legislator of that state who very sensibly declared that he had always been in the habit of following the advice of his mother." Records showed, he went on, that the Missouri legislature ratified the eighteenth amendment in fifteen minutes.

"It is possible to obtain as delegates to a constitutional convention a higher grade of men than on the average fill the halls of our state legislatures," Judge Clark said, and quoted Representative Luce:

"'When a man is out of office his sole object is to attain it, and when he has attained it his only anxiety is to keep it. In his unprincipled dread of losing his place he will readily go to all lengths.'"

"Manifestly," the judge observed, "none of these influences can affect a delegate to a constitutional convention, and he can be disturbed by no hope of political gain or fear of political punishment."

A convention, the court wrote, either because of directly instructed or abler delegates, is a better vehicle for the expression of public opinion than a state legislature, and "its ultimate acts will, because of this fact, command greater popular support."

Other Amendments Not Affected.

Judge Clark pointed out that his decision today should not affect other amendments ratified by state legislatures. He related that the twelfth and seventeenth amendments affected the machinery of government; that the eleventh and sixteenth made certain changes in the judicial taxing powers of the federal government; that the ninth and tenth were concerned with the reservation of rights and powers, and that the first eight, the fourteenth, the fifteenth, and the nineteenth contained limitations upon the power of the United States or of the states. Only the thirteenth, the slavery amendment, he believed, had points of resemblance to the eighteenth.

"We believe it is distinguishable, however," continued Judge Clark, "because it strikes down the enslavement of human beings and operates directly upon the property laws of any states permitting that institution. It does not, as does the eighteenth amendment, contain a grant of power to regulate and prohibit certain acts."

Suggests Another Test.

Judge Clark said that in pondering the question before him he gave thought to why the eighteenth amendment had not been tested in relation to the "due process" clause of the fifth amendment, which is applicable to the United States. The fourteenth amendment, which is applicable to the states, had withstood two attacks in the Supreme court, he pointed out. The attacks were concerned with laws permitting vaccination and sterilization.

"Equally we think the efficacy of the eighteenth amendment, its enforcing legislation in preventing the spread of intemperance, should be the criterion in deciding upon its validity under the due process clause of the fifth amendment. We see no difference between improving the health and morals of the people by the application of serum or the knife and improving their health and morals by closing their mouths to drink. To determine this efficacy, we willingly admit, is a task in comparison to which the activities of Hercules in the Augean stables are child's play."

Such determination, the court held, could be reached only by the method of testimony in open court with cross-examination and stenographic records.

Quotes Dixon on Fourteenth.

"We do not consider that it can be done in the halls of legislative bodies or in the chambers of executive commissions, 'both of whose proceedings are subject to political criticism and whose witnesses are bound to be the result of a more or less arbitrary selection.'"

Although the reference was not made by counsel, Judge Clark quoted at length from the argument of Senator Dixon of Connecticut in 1869 in his discussion of the fourteenth amendment. Dixon contended that "when it was proposed to submit questions of amendment to legislatures or conventions, the meaning and intent was that people should have an opportunity to act, that they should at least have an opportunity to elect those legislatures or those conventions with reference to the consideration of the proposed amendment."

Phillip Forman, United States attorney, represented the government and Frederic M. P. Pearse of Metuchen, Seldon Bacon, Daniel F. Cohalan, and Julius Henry Cohen of New York were counsel for the defendant, Sprague.

Capital Excited by Decision.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Federal Judge William Clark's decision in Newark, N. J., that the 18th amendment is invalid because it was ratified by state legislatures and not by constitutional conventions caused a flurry of excitement in the capital today, but little real apprehension on the part of administration officials.

Although a majority of those in authority expressed astonishment over the ruling, they were skeptical of its force in the face of previous rulings by the United States Supreme court which have upheld the amendment. Most of them declined to comment upon it without the complete decision at hand.

Two points, however, were emphasized. First, it was agreed that the case will undoubtedly be carried to the Supreme court and compel that tribunal again to go over the question. Secondly, the view was general that federal enforcement may be temporarily affected in the state of New Jersey.

Officials of the department of justice said privately that they were positive the decision would not interfere in any way with enforcement outside New Jersey pending appeal of the case. They also seemed confident that the Supreme court would reverse the ruling of the lower court.

According to these officials, virtually all constitutional lawyers contend that there are two distinct and legal ways of amending the constitution, one through ratification of an amendment by the legislatures and the other through its ratification by constitutional conventions. The 18th and other amendments were ratified by legislatures and apparently if Judge Clark's decision were upheld it would threaten all of the amendments now in the constitution.

The most recent case involving the constitutionality of the 18th amendment to come before the Supreme court was that of A. Stanley Copeland of Buffalo, N. Y., who challenged the amendment under nine different points. The court refused to assume jurisdiction of the case.

Government on Defensive.

The Newark case, however, differs from the Copeland case and others which have come to the Supreme court in recent years in that the government is placed on the defensive by the decision of the lower court. In all of the previous cases the lower court has followed the earlier decisions of the Supreme court and held the amendment valid.

The constitutional convention plan of amending the constitution has been widely discussed recently as a quick way of repealing the 18th amendment and it was rumored recently that such a plan had been considered by the Wickersham commission. It also has been advocated by such wet leaders as Representative George Graham [Rep., Pa.], chairman of the house judiciary committee. However, no prominent persons have recently challenged the equal validity of amending the constitution by ratification of the state legislatures.

Bases Argument on Decision.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Basing his argument on the Sprague case, in which Judge Clark declared the 18th amendment invalid, counsel for four men arrested in the largest whisky raid ever made in New Jersey, has asked dismissal of the charges.

The men were arrested several weeks ago when $1,000,000 worth of whisky was taken in a Newark warehouse. Their attorney asked Commissioner Holland to dismiss the charges on the grounds that testimony in the Sprague case showed that the possession of liquor was not a crime.

Basic Law Involved in Ruling

Article 5 of the United States constitution deals with the methods of adopting amendments to the constitution. Judge Clark in the federal court in New Jersey yesterday based his decision that the 18th amendment was invalid upon the theory that the spirit and intent of the framers was to give the initiating power to elected constitutional conventions rather than to legislatures—when the amendment involved the transfer of authority from the several states or the people to the federal government. Article 5 of the constitution itself says:

"The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which in either case shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of this constitution when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress . . ."

The tenth amendment to the constitution also was a basis of the defense argument in the case on which the decision was made, which interprets this article to indicate that rights reserved to the people could be transferred to the federal government only on the initiative of the people, that is, by constitutional convention. This amendment says:

"The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution nor prohibited by it to the states are preserved to the states respectively or to the people."

He served as lieutenant and captain of artillery in France and was cited for gallantry in action.

He won his master's degree at Harvard and is a Presbyterian.

He has been called a leading scholar of the constitution.

1930 AUTO TOLL REACHES 1,069 AS FOUR MORE DIE

Four deaths yesterday raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 1,069. The victims:

Patrick Harmon, 47 years old, 1037 West 47th place. Killed when he ran into the side of an automobile while hurrying to a street car at 47th and Morgan streets. Walter Ready, 7825 South Sangamon street, was the driver.

Mrs. Simon Nasatir, 67 years old, 3712 West 13th street. Fatally injured when she was struck by the auto of Jack Campbell, 5839 Arthington street, while crossing Douglas boulevard at Central Park avenue. Campbell was held.

Mrs. Jennie Merriles, 76 years old, 6623 West Washington boulevard. Died in the West Suburban hospital of injuries received on Saturday when struck by a car while crossing Madison street at Austin avenue. The driver was Walter Bowman, 21 years old, 4442 Iowa street.

Percy Fowler, 35 years old, 6850 Yale avenue. Fatally injured when struck by the automobile of Louis Maroni, 7511 Stewart avenue, at Vincennes avenue and West 72d street. Maroni was held.

Count Felix von Luckner, famous German sea raider, who was injured on Monday when his automobile skidded on a snow covered highway north of Waukegan, was reported to be resting easily at the Victory Memorial hospital. His physician, Dr. Charles Leppert, said he believed the danger of pneumonia infection had passed. The count received a double fracture of his right collar bone, three broken ribs, and a scalp laceration.

Crusade Leader Thinks Clark Decision Will Stick

Col. Ira L. Reeves, secretary of the Crusaders, a national organization opposed to prohibition, who was formerly prohibition administrator for New Jersey, viewed Judge Clark's decision as highly important and felt sure that the higher courts would "make it stick."

SAYS EVANSTON MOVIE BAN IS TO ENFORCE REST

Sunday "blue laws" are to enforce a day of rest and not to compel religious observances, Attorney Hugh W. McCullough, representing the city of Evanston, argued yesterday at the hearing on an injunction petition to restrain the police from interfering with Sunday movies there. The suit is being heard by Circuit Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

"Ordinances like the Evanston Sunday business ordinance have been assumed to be valid in various states throughout the country," said Attorney McCullough. "The point of religious discrimination has never been settled in Illinois, but in two cases where ordinances like the Evanston law were objected to the court upheld the ordinances."

Judge Sullivan had expressed the opinion that the Evanston ordinance was invalid because it was religiously discriminatory. The public voted to permit the Sunday shows in a referendum last April. The Evanston city council has not taken cognizance of the vote. The hearing will be resumed today.

DRY LAW RULING STIRS COMMENT FROM EACH SIDE

Reaction but Reflection of Their Stand.

New York, Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Leaders in the anti-prohibition movement hailed as an important and far reaching step the decision in New Jersey today by Federal Judge William T. Clark that the 18th amendment never became part of the constitution. Sharply contrasting statements were issued by dry leaders who contended that the ruling would have no wide influence, and expressed confidence that it would not be upheld in the higher court. Some of the comment follows:

EDWARD I. EDWARDS, former United States senator from New Jersey—I have always claimed the 18th amendment was unconstitutional. I am glad to see a judge in the federal court with the courage to give a decision that defies and challenges the corrupt forces of the Anti-Saloon league and the dry forces.

MRS. CHARLES H. SABIN, chairman Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform—The point Judge Clark raises is fundamental and far more important than the issue involved in the eighteenth amendment itself. We have contended consistently that the whole question of the eighteenth amendment should be submitted to conventions of the people.

SAMUEL HARDEN CHURCH, president of the Carnegie institute—The decision should bring hope into the heart of every liberal American that the Supreme court of the United States will sustain these findings and bring an end to the confusion and crime that have overthrown law and liberty in the United States.

MRS. ELLA A. BOOLE, national president of the W. C. T. U.—The United States Supreme court has already made a decision that the eighteenth amendment was properly adopted and ratified. This decision is the ruling of only a lower court. What about the sixteenth, seventeenth and nineteenth amendments that were all ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states? If the eighteenth amendment is unconstitutional they also are unconstitutional.

DUDLEY FIELD MALONE—I congratulate Judge Clark on his decision. It is no surprise for me, however, that a judge should at last recognize that the amendment is unconstitutional. I have long felt that the amendment has jeopardized our fundamental rights under the charter of freedom. The decision will give us a chance to bring the question out into the open so that we may argue it in an honest fashion.

PIERRE S. DU PONT, chairman of the executive committee of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment—I am very much pleased to hear of Federal Judge Clark's decision and I am sure that it is sound. I consider it very important.

COMMANDER EVANGELINE BOOTH, head of the Salvation Army in America—I understand that the decision will be referred to the Supreme court. I find it difficult to imagine that the Supreme court will stultify its attitude, maintained consistently for many years, which is not only that the eighteenth amendment is constitutional but that the Volstead act, based upon that amendment, is also constitutional.

THE REV. JAMES K. SHIELDS, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey—There is no reason to worry over Judge Clark's decision. It will have no far reaching influence. I do not believe it will be sustained.

FREDERIC R. COUDERT JR., former Republican candidate for district attorney—While one can not anticipate a final Supreme court decision, I personally would like to see Judge Clark's decision stand. It is a powerful appeal in logic.

DR. GEORGE B. SAFFORD, superintendent of the Illinois Anti-Saloon league—If Judge Clark is right, it means every amendment to the constitution is unconstitutional, because all have been ratified by the states in the same way as was the 18th amendment. Besides, the Supreme court already has ruled more than once on this very subject.

REPRESENTATIVE JAMES M. BECK, Pennsylvania congressman and constitutional lawyer—Assuming that the New Jersey district court has invalidated the 18th amendment upon grounds not heretofore considered by the Supreme court in prior cases there is no reason why the Supreme court should not now invalidate the 18th amendment upon a specific ground simply because it has validated the amendment upon other grounds. Apart from this there is no inherent reason why the court should not even reconsider its prior decision upon any ground in the light of the added experience of the last ten years. The Supreme court nearly twenty-five years after the enactment of the Missouri compromise and after the nation had accepted that compromise in the Dred Scott case finally concluded that the Missouri compromise was invalid.

Volstead Undisturbed.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Andrew Volstead, author of the enforcement act of the 18th amendment tonight refused to be disturbed by the ruling of Judge William Clark in New Jersey federal court, who held the amendment invalid.

"The question of the validity of the 18th amendment has been in the United States Supreme court before and that court has repeatedly ruled the amendment valid," he said.

ENJOIN MEDICAL BOARD'S TRIAL OF DR. RONGETTI

Dr. Amante Rongetti yesterday won a point in his long legal fight arising from the deaths of Loretta Enders and Mrs. Elizabeth Palumbo, who the state contends died as the result of criminal operations performed by him.

Superior Judge William J. Lindsay issued a temporary injunction restraining an examining board of the state department of education and registration, who are seeking to revoke Rongetti's license on a charge of gross malpractice, from further hearing of the case. Rongetti's attorneys contend that Dr. Malcolm L. Harris, chairman of the examining board, cannot legally sit on the board because he is a faculty member of Northwestern university. A hearing on a permanent injunction will be held Saturday.

Find Lost Theatrical Man Living with Piutes

Death Valley Junction, Cal., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Ralph G. Farnum, New York theatrical manager, who on Saturday was reported missing, was located by searching parties today living with a tribe of Piute Indians in the northern end of Death valley, it was announced today by Sheriff Goper.

Farnum expressed amazement that he had been the object of a valley-wide search.

Fears for his safety were felt when one of his pack burros was found wandering in Furnace creek Saturday. Farnum said he knew the burro was missing, but believed it would return to the Indian camp and thought nothing more about it.

U. S. MAJOR KILLS MAD BULL; SAVES LIFE OF MATADOR

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Maj. Geyer, American naval attaché here, whipped a pistol out of his pocket, fired a bullet into a mad bull and saved the life of a Mexican bull fighter here today.

The dramatic incident occurred as the fighter fell a few feet in front of the onrushing bull. The infuriated animal rushed for him, but Maj. Geyer was too quick on the trigger.

The bull fighter was helped to his feet and carried from the arena as the crowd cheered the American.

Membership Reaches 70; See Dry Repeal in '32.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Nine new names were added today to the list of members of the house of representatives who have openly pledged themselves to fight prohibition by joining the unofficial wet committee known as the "beer bloc." The new joiners brought the total membership of the committee to 70.

Six of the newly initiated wets represent districts in New England states, one comes from Minnesota, one from Wisconsin and one from New York. They are: Representatives Richard S. Aldrich [Rep., R. I.], A. Piatt Andrew [Rep., Mass.], Clark Burdick [Rep., R. I.], Francis B. Condon [Dem., R. I.], E. Hart Fenn [Rep., Conn.], Hamilton Fish Jr. [Rep., N. Y.], Edward W. Goss [Rep., Conn.], William A. Pittinger [Rep., Minn.], and Michael K. Reilly [Dem., Wis.].

Others Pledge Their Votes.

Representative J. Charles Linthicum [Dem., Md.], chairman of the wet bloc, declared in announcing the names of the new members that "ten or twelve" other members of the house had informed him that they would vote with the committee on prohibition issues, although they did not care to become actively affiliated with it.

"In the next congress we will have 25 or 30 more members and in the following congress we will have enough wet votes to repeal the Volstead act, or at least to modify it," Linthicum asserted.

The wet committee at a session late today decided to make its next fight on the floor of the house against the increased appropriations asked by Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock to employ 500 new dry agents. This issue probably will come before the house in January.

Defends Grape Growers.

Representative Clarence F. Lea [Dem., Cal.] today inserted in the Congressional Record a lengthy statement justifying the grape growers of California in marketing grape concentrate. Until the government prohibits all materials for liquor making, he argued, there can be no legal action taken to prevent sale of the concentrate.

"Every fruit is a potential source of liquor supply in proportion to the quantity of its sugar content," said Lea. "Therefore, it is apparent that it is the unlawful use of these products and not their existence that must be eliminated in order to enforce the law."

Husband, 72, Files New Suit to Divorce Wife, 67

Charles Brod, 72 years old, a cobbler, 3152 West 13th street, yesterday filed a new suit for divorce against his wife, Mrs. Bessie Brod, 67 years old. A year ago Brod sued for divorce and his wife answered with a cross bill for separate maintenance. Both suits were dismissed when the couple declared that after 44 years of married life a divorce would be too much of an experiment. The Brods were married in 1896 in Russia. They have 10 children.

Kane County Seeks Contract for Use of Its Jail by U. S.

Kane county officials were reported yesterday to be dickering with government representatives on a plan to enlarge their jail at Geneva to care for 100 federal prisoners a day over a five year term. If the plan is adopted as it was outlined by County Treasurer L. L. Urch, it will be to the county's financial advantage by the end of the period.

The plan involves the transforming of the present sheriff's quarters in the jail into three tiers of cells and the construction of a new residence for the sheriff at some other point on the courthouse grounds. As reported, the county is asking the government to pay it $1 a day for the keep of each prisoner, which would amount to $182,500 over five years. From this, the county hopes that it could show a profit perhaps as much as $30,000 or $40,000.

Dicker with U. S. Inspector.

Negotiations were conducted yesterday at Geneva between two committees of the Kane county board of supervisors and Dr. H. E. Mereness, federal prison inspector, who makes his headquarters in the office of United States Marshal Laubenheimer when he is in Chicago.

Dr. Mereness said here last night that the proposal is of Kane county's making, not the government's, and emphasized that negotiations are in a formative state only, not having progressed to the point where a daily charge for prisoner care has even been disclosed.

Treasurer Urch, who until the last election was the county's sheriff, said that the jail now accommodates 106 prisoners and of that number about 45 per cent are federal prisoners sent from Chicago courts. About 60 per cent of these are dry law violators, serving terms up to one year, and the remainder are incarcerated for narcotic law violations and other offenses.

Geneva is easily reached from Chicago by both motor travel and electric lines, it was pointed out, being only 30 miles west. During his term as sheriff, Mr. Urch obtained an increase in the daily charge for prisoners from 60 to 75 cents. The Cook county jail receives 85 cents, that in Peoria, $1; Rockford, 90 cents; while a number of the downstate jails receive but 50 cents.

Room for 96 Prisoners.

The present plan, Mr. Urch said, is to utilize the sheriff's quarters for cell blocks with quarters for 32 men in each tier. This would allow 96 additional prisoners to be kept there. It is believed that this could be done, and a new residence built for about $65,000.

Treasurer Urch was reported to hold that the prisoners could be fed for 35 cents a day. If 100 prisoners were guaranteed in the agreement, their food would cost another $65,000 for five years.

Not all of the remaining $50,000 would be profit, it was pointed out, for in order to care for 100 more prisoners, the jail management would be forced to hire extra guards and there would be bills for fuel, light, labor, and incidentals.

Ask Opinion from Carbary.

But the plan has at least progressed to the point where the sheriff's committee of the supervisors' board has asked a legal opinion from State's Attorney George D. Carbary on whether the county can borrow money up to $50,000 without a bond issue to authorize the work. Another question asked the state's attorney is whether the county can enter into a contract with the United States government whereby the government guarantees to pay a certain amount for a certain number of prisoners over a period of years.

Mr. Carbary said that he had not given an opinion on the matter yet.

Apprised of the report that 35 cents a day would be used to feed the prisoners, Dr. Mereness said that all the money paid must be used to care for them.

Head of Insane Asylum Is Reported Near Death

Dr. George Edmonson, head of the Kankakee state hospital for the insane, last night was reported to be seriously ill of pneumonia in the Illinois Central hospital. Pneumonia developed after amputation of his leg because of gangrene. Doctors hold little hope for his recovery.

BOSTON ORIGINATES GINGER JAKE, EXPERT INFORMS CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Boston, congress was informed today, was the source of most of the synthetic ginger alcoholic drink which paralyzed hundreds of drinkers in the central and southern states during the year.

Dr. P. D. Dunbar, assistant chief of the food and drug administration, informed the house appropriations committee of the drink's origin, saying many of its distributors were now awaiting prosecution. He testified at the agriculture department supply bill hearings.

"Apparently most of it, if not all, originated in Boston," Mr. Dunbar said.

HOOVER REFUSES TO GIVE SENATE WOODS REPORT

Confidential, He Replies; Summons Asked For.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—President Hoover today answered the senate's wish for the report of Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of the emergency employment committee, with the reply that he had none. His communication read:

"To the senate—I am in receipt of the resolution of the senate reading as follows: 'Resolved, That the President be, and is hereby, requested to transmit to the senate, if not incompatible with the public interest, the following: The report of the President's emergency commission on unemployment, Col. Arthur D. Woods, chairman.'

"The President's emergency committee has made no report on unemployment. I have received notes and verbal suggestions from Col. Arthur Woods from time to time and from the departments in the government on this subject. These were confined to guidance in formulation of the recommendations which I have already laid before congress. Such notes and discussions are necessarily passing and tentative and they represent that confidential relation of the President with government officers which should be preserved."

Asks for Senate Summons.

Before the message appeared Senator Henrik Shipstead [Farm-Labor, Minn.] had criticized the President for not sending it. Following its arrival Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.] introduced a resolution to instruct the appropriations committee to summon Col. Woods, John Barton Payne, head of the Red Cross, and others, and get the information which the White House was unwilling to give out.

The two chief causes of this controversy and two pieces of legislation which are supposed to call for the most immediate consideration were thus hung up on the snag of disagreement. One, the $116,000,000 emergency construction bill, came out of conference this afternoon and may be sent back to conference tomorrow because of the senate's insistence on an amendment taking the spending of the money entirely out of the President's hands.

The other, the drought relief bill, which has not yet decided whether to be a $30,000,000 bill pleasing to the administration or a $60,000,000 bill dispensing food as well as feed, seed, and fertilizer, loitered in the house agricultural committee without any action at all.

Partisan Strategy Employed.

Partisan strategy joined issue. It is the plan of the Republicans to hold up the drought bill, leaving the Democrats' refusal to pass the smaller appropriation under suspension of the rules in the house yesterday as responsible for the delay. The agricultural committee today invited Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde to appear before them tomorrow or Thursday.

The Democratic leaders, Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.] and Representative John Garner [Dem., Tex.], served notice that instead of a Christmas recess from next Saturday until Jan. 5 there won't be any recess until the drought bill is passed.

Tomorrow's vote on the other relief bill, that for emergency construction, will serve to show just how set the senate is in its determination to oppose the President.

The original bill provided that he might allocate the various funds for the various purposes he saw fit.

Shipstead Criticizes Bills.

In his speech asking for the Woods report today Senator Shipstead pointed out that the two relief bills did not reach far. The drought bill authorized a loan only. The construction bill appropriated for only $110,000,000 worth of work not already authorized by congress before the emergency. He took a side swipe at Secretary Hyde.

"The $60,000,000 was put in the drought bill at the request of the secretary of agriculture," he declared. "It is the secretary's own bill."

And a direct slap at President Hoover;

"Yet when the senate passed that bill the President saw fit to issue a statement saying that we were playing politics and raiding the treasury. This affair is a 'comedy of errors.' We are making a great mistake in underestimating the national emergency. The longer we wait the more we shall have to pay."

Senator La Follette's resolution calling on the appropriation committee to summon Col. Woods, Mr. Payne, and others was laid on the table.

RUTH OWEN CHARMS SNAKE IN COMMITTEE HEARING ON PARK BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Not only is Representative Ruth Bryan Owen [Dem., Fla.] distinguished as daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan and as one of the nine feminine members of the house, but today she proved herself to be a first class amateur snake charmer.

With perfect equanimity, while several of her male colleagues shrank away, Mrs. Owen picked up and handled a live five foot king snake before members of the committee on public lands. She went so far, in fact, as to smilingly wrap it around her neck.

The reptile was brought to a meeting of the committee by Dr. Howard A. Kelley of Baltimore, who was a witness in behalf of Mrs. Owen's bill to create a national park in the Florida Everglades. He explained that the snake was captured in the Everglades and that it was of a harmless variety which destroys diamond back rattlers.

Dr. Kelly placed the king snake on a table in the committee room, where it wriggled about among the books and papers, much to the alarm of a stenographer a few feet away. In order to quiet the apprehensions of the stenographer and others, Mrs. Owen lifted the reptile and demonstrated that it would not bite by stroking its back. One or two other members gingerly picked it up afterward, but most of them gave the table a wide berth.

SWINDLED OF HER LIFE'S SAVINGS, WIDOW CHARGES

Mrs. Julia Gorska, 38 years old, a widow and mother of two children, charged that she was defrauded yesterday of $1,800, her life savings, by three men who induced her to draw the money from the bank for investment in a grocery. She named Adam Haedoloech, 40 years old, of 671 East 14th street, as the leader of the trio. He told her, she charged, that he would invest $2,000 in the grocery if she would assist. He and his companions fled, she said, several hours after she turned over her savings. Mrs. Gorska owns a confectionery at 1054 North Mashfield avenue.

DAVIS TALKS TO U. S. SENATE IN ROLE OF FATHER

Pleads for Better Babies in Maiden Speech.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—James J. Davis, father of five lively youngsters and official friend of thousands of orphans at Mooseheart, Ill., today made his maiden speech as the new senator from Pennsylvania. Appropriately enough, it was about the welfare of little children.

Reinforcing sentiment with statistics, the former secretary of labor declared that since the lives of many babies and many mothers were saved between 1922 and 1929 by the functioning of the now lapsed Sheppard-Towner maternity and infancy act, he was strongly in favor of the proposed Jones bill, which is substantially a continuation of the earlier legislation.

"From my own experience in the homes of the poor," argued "Puddler Jim," "from my experience in providing homes for the orphans and the homeless, and from my experience in administering a great department, I can testify to the great need for the legislation and I can bear witness to the efficiency with which the children's bureau administered that legislation.

"Every child in the United States has the right to be well born; and every mother in the United States has the right to be safeguarded in bearing her child."

Answers Bill's Critics.

Opponents of the bill, notably Republican Hiram Bingham of Connecticut and the two Democrats, David I. Walsh of Massachusetts and Willian H. King of Utah, had maintained earlier in the debate that these rights to babies and their mothers should be given by local communities, and not by an interfering federal government.

Answering this objection, Senator Davis agreed that the first responsibility must rest with the individual states.

"But the federal government," he insisted, "is an intelligent coöperator, ready to assist, but never anxious to control."

Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.], backed him up with these words:

"As a rule I have deplored the necessity of the federal government extending its activities. I must however, favor this measure, or any measure which tends to relieve suffering, prevent death, and insure a future generation healthier and better than the one preceding it. I have not yet found any woman against this measure. Its chief opposition rises among professional men who feel that their field is being invaded."

Dr. Copeland Endorses It.

Then New York's senator, Royal S. Copeland, both a doctor and a Democrat, rose to give further endorsement to his Republican senatorial colleagues backing the bill, and to chide his medical colleagues who are bucking it.

"The doctors," said Senator Copeland, "have a great fear of what they call state medicine, that is, of government operated hospitals and clinics. But they need not have no such fear in this case. The maternity and infancy act is in charge of the children's bureau only so far as allocation of funds is concerned. The bureau has nothing to do with the medical application of the law, and no federal agent, medical or lay, goes into any state. The actual administration is wholly in the hands of the medical officials of the several states."

King Denounces Bill.

Senator King denounced the bill as a step toward Russian communization of babies, which might go on until the federal government controlled everybody under the age of 18. If the bill should pass, however, he wants its administration taken away from the children's bureau, given to the public health service, which is composed of doctors.

"I think it is wrong," declared Senator King, "for the mothers of this land to be taught how to bring up their babies by a group of lay women, many of them who are not mothers and never have been; many of whom are not married and never will be."

Up in the gallery, Miss Grace Abbott, head of the children's bureau and Miss Marguerite Wells, acting president of the National League of Women Voters, sat and listened and said nothing.

WALSH ASKS SENATE TO TAKE COGNIZANCE OF CUBA SITUATION

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—The United States senate was asked today by Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] to take cognizance of the situation in Cuba.

"A situation has arisen where we can no longer remain silent," Senator Walsh asserted. "Because of the existence of the Platt amendment our relation with Cuba is unique. Either the Platt amendment amounts to something or it amounts to nothing. The present tendency seems to be to regard it as nothing.

Senator Walsh produced a manifesto which he said had been sent him in confidence and despite the strict Cuban censorship. It was signed, he declared, by a number of prominent Cuban women.

He told the senate that, a copy of the manifesto having been seized in Havana two days ago, its signers were even then being arrested and jailed. The document called, he gave the senate to understand, for American intervention on the theory that the Platt amendment obligated an American interest in Cuban affairs.

MANUFACTURER IS FOUND SLAIN; BELIEVED SUICIDE

Theodore Anderson, retired sporting goods manufactur r with a factory at 927 West Chicago avenue, was found shot to death yesterday on the farm of a friend near Lake Geneva. He is believed to have committed suicide. His widow and four children, who live at 113 North Homan avenue, were on their way to Wisconsin last night to return the body for burial. No one was about the farm on Monday. The body was discovered yesterday morning by a caretaker. According to friends of the dead man, Anderson took a new revolver to the farm, apparently with suicide in mind. No one could ascribe a motive for the act.

ASKS SENATE BAR MEYER AS HEAD OF U. S. RESERVE

McFadden Links Him with International Group.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Financial policies of the government were the target today of speakers in the house.

Representative Louis T. McFadden [Rep., Pa.], chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, charged that President Hoover's appointment of Eugene Meyer as governor of the federal reserve board means control of the federal reserve system by international financiers. He urged that the senate vote down Mr. Meyer's pending confirmation.

Representative John Garner [Dem., Tex.], minority leader of the house, assailed Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's administration of income taxes, with particular stress on tax refunds.

Seeks to Curb Margin Trading.

Senator J. Thomas Heflin [Dem., Ala.] spoke in the senate in behalf of a bill he introduced prohibiting trading on stock exchanges on margins and limiting the interest rate on call money to 8 per cent. He attributed economic conditions to practices permitted on the stock exchange.

Representative McFadden in his speech hit at the bank of international settlements and warned against "the possible involvement of the federal reserve system in internationalism," referring to Mr. Meyer's appointment pending before the senate.

"A careful analysis disclosed the fact that Mr. Meyer has been very closely connected during his whole financial career with banking houses of international reputation," said Mr. McFadden. "He has a very close connection with J. P. Morgan & Co. and as head of the war finance corporation and in carrying out its activities those close relationships were actively disclosed. He is a Wall street man."

Demands Reason for Selection.

Mr. McFadden asserted that other positions were provided for former Gov. Roy A. Young of the federal reserve board and for former Vice Governor Edmund Platt to make possible Mr. Meyer's appointment as governor.

"The senate should not confirm his appointment without going into the details as to why these changes were made necessary and why the appointment of Mr. Meyer was made necessary," said Mr. McFadden.

Representative Garner in his speech said tax refunds, credits and abatements over a 14 year period have amounted to 10.7 per cent of all income and estate tax receipts.

U. S. GRAIN BOARD TO PROSECUTE ILLEGAL SHORT SELLING HERE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—(AP)—An enlarged flying squadron of confidential inquirers to track down and prepare to prosecute those responsible for irregular transactions on the country's grain markets, is desired by the department of agriculture.

This was revealed today when the agriculture department's supply bill was reported to the house, accompanied by the transcript of hitherto secret hearings of the house appropriation committee.

It was one of the myriad activities of the department's branches upon which experts testified. Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the grain futures administration, advocated authority for the secretary of agriculture to control short selling of grain by foreign gover... ents—a consequence of the recently disclosed Russian transactions in the Chicago pit.

"Numerous cases of irregularities have already been uncovered," said Duvel, "which require further action by the department. The very nature of this work makes it essential that the department continue to take immediate action on all complaints that appear justified, and to follow through with the most important cases."

The official specifically asked funds for "special investigations, mainly in Chicago, and the prosecutions which will result."

YOUTH ACCUSES POLICE AT HIS TRIAL AS KILLER

Confession Frameup, He Tells Court.

A sharp featured, sallow youth of 19, charged with the murder of a Berwyn woman, mother of five children, brought to a dramatic close the opening day of his trial in Judge Joseph B. David's court yesterday by demanding a showup of policemen. Two policemen, he charged, maltreated him in order to force a confession.

The youth, Rudolph Hegovic, who was a Cicero High school student last year, took the witness stand late in the afternoon during the absence of the jury, after making repeated interruptions during the day claiming his innocence of the murder on May 12 of Mrs. Mary Pelletier, 43 years old, of 2521 South Ridgeland avenue, Berwyn.

"Did you ever at any time say to anybody that you shot Mrs. Pelletier?" the judge asked Hegovic after he took the stand.

Denies Signing Confession.

"No," Hegovic answered. "The officers punched me. Sometimes they kicked my legs, but they were careful not to leave scars on my face. Never at any time did I sign a confession. I never said I shot Mrs. Pelletier, to the police officers or any one else."

There was a stir in the crowded courtroom as the judge ordered the showup of policemen. They entered the room, nearly a dozen of them, and stood in a semi-circle facing Hagovic, who had some difficulty at first in pointing out the objects of his charges. He finally named Lieut. Joseph Cihak of Berwyn and Arthur Prueffer of the detective bureau.

"I don't know what a beating has got to do with it," said the court "when a person denies he has made a confession."

There followed a half hour of discussion concerning four confessions Hegovic is alleged to have made to Chicago and Berwyn police, during which the attorneys for the defendant, Public Defenders Benjamin Bachrach and Wilbert Crowley, had a tilt with Assistant State's Attorney Abel Marovitz. Judge David then adjourned court until this morning.

Defendant Interrupts Trial.

Hegovic began his interruption of proceedings at the opening of the case when he stood up in the courtroom and said he was dissatisfied with Public Defender Crowley.

"I want to make my own opening statement," he declared.

Attorney Harold Levy, whom Hegovic had formerly retained, was called to the courtroom. He told the court that he had had Hegovic examined by two alienists, Dr. H. Douglas Singer and Dr. Francis J. Gerty, who "seemed to think he was legally sane, but not thoroughly competent." After conferring with Attorneys Levy and Crowley, Hegovic said he would permit the latter to defend him. He was then given the right to make his opening statement.

"Gentlemen," he began, "I am innocent. The police framed this confesson and forced me to reenact the crime. They charged me with this crime so they could clean up a lot of other crimes in the district. I will prove my innocence."

The afternoon was devoted to hearing the testimony of witnesses who found the body of Mrs. Pelletier.

William Mann, 20 years old, of 2345 South Cuyler avenue, surprised both sides by stepping from the witness stand and pointing out Hegovic as the man he saw running from the scene of the crime.

Under constant cross-examination by attorneys for the defense, however, Mann admitted that he made his identification only by the stature of the assailant, whom he described as "about five feet ten or eleven inches tall, and thin."

Hegovic was arrested by Town Hall police on the Wilson avenue elevated platform on Sept. 4 after he had snatched the purses of two women. He was later questioned by Chief James Mikes of the Berwyn police, who said he secured a confession of the murder of Mrs. Pelletier.

Doctors Bring Sight to Radio Star Blind Since His Birth

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—The miracle of sight, a commonplace to normal humanity, was revealed today for the first time to Merwin Jenkins, 25 year old musician and radio star.

Jenkins, blind from birth, underwent an operation at St. Lawrence hospital here last Friday which permitted him today when bandages were removed to catch a glimpse of the visible world for the first time. Frankly frightened by the sight of his two doctors, and some nurses who were in the room at the time, he has not yet been given the opportunity to see his young wife and their two year old daughter. He said, however, that he wants to look upon his wife more than any one in the world.

Minimizes His Work.

As yet, the one eye to which vision has been summoned, does not provide normal sight, the specialists in charge of his case said. Dr. John O. Wetzel of Lansing, who performed the operation, aided by Dr. Howard C. Rockwell, minimized his own accomplishment, which, he said, merely was extraction of an intracapsular cataract on the right eye.

The eyeball, anesthetized, was sliced almost in two, leaving a flat surface to which must be fitted a glass lens, now being properly ground. Until this lens is adjusted, it was explained, Jenkins will not be able to see with normal perspective.

Remove Lens Every 12 Hours.

For the rest of his life, however, he must remove this lens every 12 hours, apply a special mucilage and return it to the eye socket. No effort will be made to operate on the left eye, it was said.

The fact that Jenkins was possessed of an optic nerve was determined several years ago by Lawrence Wells, operator of station WREO, a broadcasting plant here that has since ceased to function. While at the studio to present one of his popular programs as "Sunshine entertainer," Jenkins permitted Wells to play a strong light on his face which he was able to detect.

Enlists Aid of Specialists.

Since then his family has been tireless in attempting to enlist the aid of specialists to bring him sight. His wife, an employé in Dr. Rockwell's office, engaged the doctor's interest in the case and, after he and Dr. Wetzel had given it long study, the operation was planned. It was financed by the Lansing Lions club, as the family is in moderate circumstances.

"RAG KING'S" HANDS BURNED.

George Lawrence, 63 years old, a rag dealer, was burned about his hands last night when his shack at 1300 South State street caught fire. He is known as the "rag king" in his neighborhood. Police took him to St. Luke's hospital.

SHOOTS BOY CLIMBING FENCE.

Because he shot and wounded 16 year old Earl Kennelly, 4607 Wallace street, for playing on his fence, Edgar Michell, 43 years old, 4419 Wallace street, was arrested last night by the stockyards police. Kennelly's wound was not serious.

KITTY CREATES QUITE A TO-DO IN LIBERTYVILLE

It was only a vagabond cat which was observed scooting a jump or two ahead of several open mouthed hounds in Libertyville Saturday, but it was a determined one. The chase ended in Milwaukee avenue, near the business district of the northwest suburb, when the cat climbed a wooded light pole and perched itself serenely upon a cross arm.

The cat was still there Sunday. Also Monday. Yesterday it had not come down.

Some one notified Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin of Lake Forest, owner of Orphans of the Storm, a dog shelter. She telephoned Chief Frank Druba of the Libertyville police. Half an hour later Policeman Peter Hansen, weighing 190 pounds, laboriously ascended the slippery pole and persuaded the cat to crawl upon his shoulders. The descent was made safely and the cat was lodged in the station house.

WILDA BENNETT, MUSICAL COMEDY STAR, WEDS AGAIN

Drops Suit for $20,000 to Marry Defendant.

West Long Branch, N. J., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Wilda Bennett, musical comedy star, whose appearances in court have been almost as widely heralded as those she made on the stage, wed a third husband today after dropping a $20,000 damage suit she brought against him for injuries in an automobile accident.

Miss Bennett and Anthony Wettach, Elberon sportsman, were married last night by Mayor Samuel I. Baker. Then they left for a honeymoon in Florida.

Her first husband was Robert Schable, and her second Pepe de Albro, South American cabaret dancer. Both unions ended in divorce.

Six years ago Miss Bennett was sued for $100,000 for alienation of affection by Mrs. Katherine M. Frey, wife of Charles Conrad Frey, former resident of Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Frey received $25,000.

In 1928 Miss Bennett was sued for $4,000 by Mrs. Charlotte Palmer, who charged articles were missing from her apartment which she had rented to the actress. Mrs. Palmer won $400.

Among the musical comedies in which Miss Bennett appeared were "Madame Pompadour" and "Lovely Lady."

Dominick Brancato, gangster, was freed yesterday after the Appellate court had issued a writ of supersedeas in his behalf and set a $1,000 bond. The higher court decided to review the case in which Municipal Judge John H. Lyle sentenced Brancato to serve six months in the Bridewell for vagrancy.

Falsification of records was charged by Brancato's attorney, Frank McDonnell. The gangster was said to have demanded legal advice, a jury trial and a change of venue when arraigned before Judge Lyle. The records, however, showed that he waived these rights and was thereupon sentenced. The Appellate court decided that these charges should be inquired into.

Arrested Near Roche Office.

Brancato was arrested in front of the Chicago Temple building several weeks ago. It was charged he was armed and police said he may have intended to harm Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office. Roche has offices in the building.

A number of public enemies were arraigned in court yesterday. Most of the cases were continued because the prosecutors were engaged in the trial of Jack and Harry Guzik for vagrancy. A summary of happenings during the day was as follows:

Bernard O'Donnell, brother of Miles and William O'Donnell, public enemies, obtained a continuance on a charge of perjury before Judge Peter M. Schwaba, but was served with a warrant charging vagrancy as he left court and was held at the detective bureau.

Anthony [Red] Kissane and Jack [West Side] Barry, arrested at the Club Alabam, near north side cabaret, after they had displayed revolvers, were released on $400 bond for a hearing Thursday on disorderly conduct charges. No guns were found on the men when arrested.

Louis Asaher, termed the king of professional bondsmen in Chicago, was arrested and taken before Judge Lyle on charges of vagrancy after being found standing in the vestibule of the county jail. He was held in bonds of $5,400.

Lawrence [Dago] Mangano, charged with vagrancy, obtained a continuance before Judge Samuel H. Trude to Feb. 26.

Danny Stanton, charged with vagrancy, obtained a continuance to Dec. 30 to await the outcome of extradition proceedings which may send him to Wisconsin for trial as the murderer of Jack Zuta.

Maxie Eisen, head of the fish dealers' union, was the next vagrancy defendant. His case was assigned for a jury trial at his request.

Sam Battaglia, who has a long record, also requested a jury trial when arraigned as a vagrant before Judge Trude. The request was granted.

Joe Fiore and Philip Lassow, also charged with impersonation of government prohibition agents, were arraigned as vagrants and obtained a continuance until Jan. 15.

Four men, arrested at the wedding last Sunday of Mafalda Capone, sister of Al Capone, were arraigned in Blue Island on charges of carrying concealed weapons. William Pfeiffer of Cicero was held to the grand jury. The other defendants obtained continuances until Dec. 23.

Attempts by attorneys to obtain bail for Tony [Mops] Volpe, Capone gangster facing deportation by the government, were fruitless yesterday. A petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of the gangster will probably be filed, it was said.

Al Capone, according to dispatches from Miami, Fla., has spent the last month there at his Palm Island home and left last Sunday night for an unknown destination. Capone must appear on Jan. 19 to answer a contempt of court citation in the federal court.

Von Frantzius Lists Sales.

Peter Von Frantzius, sporting goods dealer at 608 Diversey parkway, frequently questioned regarding machine guns sold to gangsters, yesterday submitted to the Lake county grand jury at Waukegan a list of all sales for the last two years. State's Attorney A. V. Smith, investigating the killing of Jack Zuta, subpoenaed Von Frantzius.

The list shows many guns were sold to banks and police departments about the country. One name submitted was that of John Sbarbaro, 708 North Wells street. Frank Thompson of Kirkland, Ill., was also on the list. One order of 30 guns for Maxwell Brown & Co., New York City, caused Mr. Smith to say he would investigate.

Serials numbers of a revolver found in the possession of John and Willie Carr, charged with participation in the murder of John Guida in a saloon at 836 North Racine avenue, show it was bought from Von Frantzius, it was announced at the detective bureau last night. The Carrs were arrested in Milwaukee on Nov. 20.

REPORT BOTH PARTIES AGREE TO WITHHOLD COURT FROM SENATE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Republican and Democratic leaders in the senate have agreed to withhold submission of the world court protocols to the senate for ratification at this session of congress, according to reports circulated at the capital today. The protocols providing for the entrance of the United States into the tribunal will be taken up by the senate foreign relations committee tomorrow, but no action is scheduled until after Christmas.

While the reported agreement is not binding on members of the two parties, all indications are that the committee will vote to retain the protocols until the senate has disposed of the pending emergency relief legislation and the annual supply bills, whose passage is necessary for the support of the government in the fiscal year beginning on July 1, 1931.

Opponents of the world court now claim that thirty or thirty-one senators would vote against American adherence to the court under the revised protocols if the issue was joined during this session.

GUZIK, WEALTHY HOODLUM, PUT ON TRIAL AS "VAG"

Eight Jurors Are Sworn on Opening Day.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Jack Guzik, public enemy, whose occupation is not given after his name in the city directory, but who, it was proved in the Federal court recently, had an income of $970,302 during 1927 and 1928, was put on trial on a charge of vagrancy yesterday before Judge Edgar A. Jonas of the Municipal court.

During a session, in which eight jurors were selected, this sleek, well tailored and well fed defendant, heard himself described as one who frequented brothels and tippling houses, used lewd and obscene language, and had no lawful means of support—an idle and dissolute fellow. Occasionally he would reach into his pocket and look at a fat wad of bills or a few crumpled checks, as if to reassure himself that he was not the kind of person the lawyers were talking about.

It is no part of the Guzik philosophy that a millionaire can be made out a vagrant under any law, but his attorneys, Charles Horgan and James M. Burke, seemed to take the case seriously. It was in this same court that James ("Fur") Sammons, another nattily dressed fellow, found himself on the way to the rockpile.

Defense in U. S. Court.

During his recent trial in the Federal court, where he was convicted of tax evasion of $222,501, Guzik's defense was that he lost most of this money in financing gambling houses. Frank Pope, operator of one of these houses, Mike Potson, and a dozen others have been called by the state as witnesses in the vagrancy case.

Assistant States Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne and James A. Brown, who are prosecuting the vagrancy case, evidently are relying on the gambling clause of the vagrancy act. How Guzik feels about explaining things to a jury may be inferred from a question which was put to various jurors by his attorneys. They wanted to know if the jurors would be prejudiced against the defendant if he failed to take the stand.

A plumber, a storekeeper, a life insurance statistician, a machinist, a draftsman, a printing foreman, a bricklayer, and an insurance broker were sworn for the jury to try Guzik. These, with four other prospective jurors, were locked up in a hotel last night.

Guzik is free on bonds, and is awaiting sentence from the Federal court.

Harry Guzik Also Called.

Harry Guzik, Jack's brother, also was called before Judge Jonas on a vagrancy charge yesterday, but his case was postponed at the request of the state's attorney. Neither of the Guziks was eager to go to trial and two motions were argued before the jurors were sent for. The defense counsel wanted a bill of particulars and were told they should have asked for it before. They objected to the vague time element in the charges and moved to quash the proceedings on this ground, but their motion was denied.

BORAH A WITNESS IN STOCK FRAUD CASE AGAINST NEW YORKER

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho spent ten minutes on the witness stand today in General Sessions court where Viagio Viole was on trial on a charge of grand larceny in sale of stock in the Franklin Plan corporation.

Testifying for the state, Senator Borah denied he ever promised anybody he would obtain a national bank charter for the corporation.

The complainant, Joseph A. Abbot, New York tailor, charged Viole sold him the stock on the representation that Senator Borah was trying to obtain such a charter for it. Subsequently the concern failed with a loss to 200 creditors of a sum estimated at $300,000.

"I knew almost nothing about this corporation except what I have read in the newspapers," the senator testified. "I did look through my files last year to see if I had corresponded with anybody about the corporation, but found that I did not have so much as a line about it from anybody."

Senator Borah planned to return to Washington tonight or tomorrow.

Law Excuses Neighbor Who Cusses When Dog Bites Him

The law will excuse a man who cusses when a dog bites him in the leg, even if the profanity is overheard by two tablesful of women at a bridge party. So Judge Edelman decided yesterday in Chicago avenue court. The dog's name is Cæsar and he is owned by Mrs. Marie Hager, 1717 Crilly court, who was the hostess at the bridge party and the complaining witness yesterday. The accused was Neal Dorland, 50 years old, who lives next door to Mrs. Hager. It was his leg that was bitten. Mr. Dorland was freed.

TRIAL OF FOLEY OPENS ON FAKE LOTTERY CHARGE

Seller of the Tickets Is First State Witness.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Max Goldman, William Goldman, Samuel Goldman, and Jacob Goldman, conspiracy, sentenced to 1 to 5 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph Sabath.

Leo H. Schoemer, a railroad employé, told Judge Joseph Sabath in the criminal court yesterday that he sold 430 tickets for a fake lottery on the Kentucky Derby, which the prosecution charges was operated by Matt Foley, who at the time was an assistant circulation manager of the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Schoemer, who is a codefendant with Foley and Hyman Goodman, turned state's evidence and testified for the prosecution at the opening of trial. He and Goodman have been granted separate trials.

Goodman will be the last state witness when Foley's trial before the judge—the jury having been waived in the case—is resumed this morning. According to Assistant State's Attorneys Walker Butler and Ross Lee Laird, Goodman will directly link Foley with the lottery.

Schoemer Tells of His Pay.

Schoemer said that he stopped selling tickets when he noticed that some of them had the same combinations, which should not have occurred, according to the prosecution, in a legitimate lottery. The witness said he was paid 15 cents for each ticket he sold.

Attorney Benedict J. Short, counsel for Foley, objected to the testimony showing the duplication of tickets on the ground that the tickets themselves should be produced in court.

"The tickets were given back to your client, Mr. Short, and I challenge you to produce them," said Prosecutor Butler. The tickets were not produced.

Sees Foley with Goodman.

"I saw Foley for the first time the Tuesday after the running of the Derby," said Schoemer. "Goodman got circulars from him showing the winners of the lottery. I saw Foley give Goodman the circulars, but did not hear the conversation between them."

Clyde M. Hoffman of St. Elmo, a former official of a railroad employes' union, was another prosecution witness. He told of going to the offices of the Herald and Examiner to try to get some satisfaction from Foley on the unpaid lottery tickets. He produced in court some 48 winner tickets, none of which were paid, he said. Most of his testimony was brought out by Attorney Short on cross examination.

"A delegation went to see Homer Guck, publisher of the Herald and Examiner," said Hoffman. "We told him about the tickets being sold. He said he would call in Foley and ask for an explanation. We had a date with Mr. Guck the next day, but he never showed up."

Tries to Shake Victims.

Attorney Short tried to show By Hoffman that it was not Mr. Guck but a man named Hartford to whom the delegation talked. Hoffman, however, persisted in his statement that the man at least posed as Mr. Guck and was so introduced to the delegation.

Hoffman said the delegation saw other officials of the Herald and Examiner. Among them were Roscoe C. Cornell, L. G. Edwardson, and a man named Trietz in the circulation department, according to the witness.

"Trietz told me that over 100,000 of these tickets were sold," testified Hoffman. "Cornell said we should take the $5 each as offered by Goodman."

CUSTOMS MEN SEIZE $1,000,000 WORTH OF MORPHINE AT DOCK

New York, Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Customs agents who had been sitting behind machine guns for a week waiting for some one to try to get 1,100 pounds of morphine brought into this country in cases labeled "furs," seized the shipment as contraband today, deciding that the men on the receiving end had taken alarm.

The morphine has a value, at illicit trade prices, of $1,000,000, and the seizure is one of the biggest ever made.

The customs men believed that the shippers are the same international drug ring members who attempted to bring $500,000 worth of morphine and heroin through the customs on March 4, but failed.

DEFICIT GHOST STALKS COUNTY IN REALTY CUT

Little Hope Offered for Lower Tax Bills.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The local tax situation became more complicated yesterday.

The plan announced by the board of review to make a reduction of from 10 to 50 per cent in the assessed valuation of realty—exclusive of buildings—stunned the chief officials of the city, county, school, drainage, and park boards.

The board of review announcement, made Monday afternoon, created uncertainty on how much tax revenue the tax spending bodies may expect, how much it is safe to appropriate, how much can be borrowed on tax anticipation warrants, whether outstanding warrants can be paid in full from tax receipts, and whether they will be able to borrow enough money next year to meet the payrolls for the full 12 months of 1931. The tax spenders had insufficient time and basic data yesterday on which to reckon approximate answers to these vital revenue questions.

County Forecasts Trouble.

Deputy County Controller M. J. O'Connor predicted a breakdown of the county's fiscal system next year, if the reviewers' plan is carried through. He foresaw the necessity to trim $5,000,000 from the county's corporate budget of $19,000,000.

School Auditor Harry H. Brackett said that the board of education budget, reckoned on the 1928 tax valuations, would finish 1931 with a deficit which might reach $10,000,000 if the board of review carries out its plan. On that basis the city's corporate shortage would be about two-thirds of the school board deficit. Others predict "chaos."

County Attorney Hayden Bell indicated in a statement his doubt of the board of review's authority to make the tax cut in the manner they indicate their intention to make it.

Upset on Revaluation.

Others contended that if the board of review reduces the land value 10 per cent on one township and 40 per cent on another, the real estate reassessment, just completed on a scientific basis, will be destroyed. The board of review says that reassessment cost $8,000,000. It has been in effect one year.

The reviewers propose to cut the land values for the tax year of 1929. Taxes for that year, still unpaid, have been anticipated by the local governments by the borrowing on tax warrants. This money has been spent. The taxes, when collected, have been relied upon to pay off the warrants. Officials pointed out that the reviewers may cut the taxes so they will be insufficient to pay off the warrants.

May Increase Rate.

To offset the proposed reduction in land tax values certain officials yesterday privately advocated an appeal to the state legislature next month to boost the tax rates so that tax collections would not be lowered. One official suggested that the first bill introduced should provide for the abolition of the board of review.

On top of all this comes a hearing this morning before the state tax commission on a petition of the association of real estate tax payers to compel a reassessment of all personal property. This association sent a letter yesterday to the finance committee of the city, school board, sanitary district, county board and park boards urging each to reduce expenditures in 1931.

Must Cut Expenses.

After reciting the tax situation, the letter to each local government says: "Some way must be found to cut operating costs from 35 to 50 per cent of expenditures of previous years. Adjusting your contemplated expenditures to a cut of these proportions may be difficult, but it must be done."

If the state tax commission orders a reassessment of all personal property for 1929, the tax situation will become more involved, and perhaps collections cannot be made on April 1.

Tax rates, applicable to the 1929 taxes, which are payable April 1 next, are about 20 per cent higher than the rates on which bills were paid last summer. Therefore, if there is no change in tax valuations, tax bills next April would average 20 per cent higher than this year's payments.

Bills to Be Higher.

The board of review's plan to decrease land values, excluding buildings, 10 to 50 per cent, will probably not make tax bills of property owners lower on April 1 than they were on July 10 last. The probabilities are that tax bills will be higher April 1, even if the board of review makes its cut of tax valuations on land.

Harry S. Cutmore, who directed the reassessment, supplied THE TRIBUNE yesterday with the tax value of all of the lands in Cook county exclusive of buildings. These lands are now on the tax books for $1,699,944,294. These comprise only 39.1 per cent of the total property in the books for taxing purposes.

Small Hope of Decrease.

Therefore if the board of review reduces land values an average of 10 per cent, or $169,944,429, it will thereby only reduce the average tax bill 3.92 per cent. But the new rates will boost the average tax bill 20 per cent. So with a 10 per cent reduction in land values, the average tax bill will be 16.08 per cent higher on April 1 next than it was on July 10 last.

If the board of review cuts land values 20 per cent, or $399,988,858, the reduction in the average tax bill will be only 7.84 per cent.

It is believed improbable that the reviewers will make an average cut of more than 30 per cent. If they stop at that point, then tax bills will be 8.34 per cent higher April 1 than on July 10, because of the 20 per cent increase in rates. Thus it is apparent that it is practically impossible for the reviewers to actually reduce the average tax bill by the program announced.

The board of review's cut in land valuations will be in charge of its land committee of three real estate experts, Perkins B. Bass, Thomas E. Sullivan, and John P. Hooker.

BANKERS OF GERMANY BACK GOVERNMENT IN POLITICAL ARENA

BERLIN, Dec. 16.—German bankers have pledged their support to the government, Dr. George Solmssen, new president of the German Bankers' association, said in his inaugural speech today.

Herr Eolmssen expressed the opinion that banking interests must henceforth take a more active part in the political arena.

Without mentioning any names he made it clear that the German banking world viewed Fascist aims with disfavor and distrust. The financial crisis after the recent elections, he said, was not caused by bankers arbitrarily cutting credit, but by dwindling political confidence.

Charge Manslaughter in Auto Accident Death

A Lake county coroner's jury last night recommended that Guy Callison, 32 years old, 2838 North 75th avenue, Elmwood Park, be held for manslaughter in connection with the death last Saturday of Carl Hayden, 26 years old, 2608 North 74th avenue, Elmwood Park. The two were going to Kenosha from Chicago when Callison drove into a ditch off Green Bay road, near Waukegan. Hayden's skull was fractured. Testimony yesterday at the inquest was that he had told a nurse before he died that Callison was intoxicated.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Fire tonight destroyed 100,000 bushels of wheat and caused extensive damage to an elevator here of the North Dakota-Montana Wheat Growers' association. The wheat was valued at approximately $75,000 and the elevator at $65,000, according to R. E. Storch, Minneapolis manager.

ONLY A WEEK IS LEFT TO ENROLL TO HELP SANTA

Join the Good Fellows to Cheer the Needy.

A week from tonight is Christmas eve, so there isn't much time left for you to join the Good Fellows who will enjoy the holiday doubly, knowing that they are helping families of the unemployed. There's a coupon on this page for your convenience in contributing to the fund to aid destitute families or in applying for the name of some family deserving of a Christmas basket of food and toys.

Every penny donated to the Good Fellow fund reaches some destitute family; THE TRIBUNE pays the cost of administrating the fund.

The Chicago Art Theater company tonight will present Hermann Sudermann's "Fires of St. John" at the Playhouse, 410 South Michigan avenue. Proceeds will go to the Good Fellow fund.

Club to Help Fund.

Tomorrow night the Illinois Women's Athletic club will have its Good Fellow benefit dance, supper and entertainment on the thirteenth and fourteenth floors of the club's building at 111 East Pearson street. Several stage artists will be guests, including Madge Kennedy, William Hodge, Ray Glon, Constant Nichols, Robert Gorham and Kitty Reis. Lawrence Salerno, baritone, and Allan Grant, pianist, of the W-G-N radio staff, will also help entertain.

Mrs. Thomas J. Houston, chairman of the women's club affair, announced that the following women are lending their support to the charity ball: Mrs. Hayden Harris, Mrs. Charles Deering, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Charles S. Peterson, Mrs. Bessie Bragg Pierson.

On Saturday night the South Side Old Time Dance club will hold a Good Fellow benefit in its ballroom at 6932 South Halsted street. Sally, Irene and Mary, W-G-N's singing trio, will attend.

Raise $950 at Dance.

REALTY DIVISION PASSES QUOTA IN RELIEF CAMPAIGN

Stockyards Reports on Progress.

The seventh team to go over the top in the $5,000,000 relief drive, the real estate and mortgage division of Philip R. Clarke's campaign committee reported total collections of $26,614 late yesterday, which exceeded the $25,000 quota.

This, combined with last minute subscriptions of $6,600 from the employes of the Marshall Field estate, raised the total pledged thus far to more than $2,250,000—almost the halfway mark.

A further encouraging report came to Mr. Clarke at noon when, with Samuel Insull Jr., vice chairman of the governor's relief commission, he attended a luncheon of the stockyards group at the Saddle and Sirloin club.

Tells Need of Quick Action.

There, they were told that the pay deduction plan had been almost unanimously adopted and that the general solicitation had resulted in the subscribing of about sixty per cent of the $350,000 quota. Mr. Clarke stressed the need for quick action and Mr. Insull outlined the general operations of the governor's commission. Both were given reason to expect the eventual collection of the full quota.

Those attending the luncheon included: F. Edson White, Thomas E. Wilson, Charles A. Wilson, E. A. Cudahy, Hugo F. Arnold, A. D. White, and W. H. Gausselin.

In the group race the men's clothing and insurance teams improved their positions and a few subscriptions in the "thousands" gave encouragement to Chairman Clarke.

The Salvation Army opened a new shelter yesterday afternoon at 712 West Monroe street, which was named "New Start lodge No. 2." The building space was donated to Commissioner W. A. McIntyre by Leon Hartman.

L. C. Fritch, chairman of the Rock Island lines' relief committee, said yesterday that in the sixty days the committee has been functioning, 431 cases had been cared for, all from subscriptions given by other Rock Island families.

REPORT REVOLT IN GUATEMALA; FIGHT IN STREETS

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Private radio advices from Guatemala City say that an armed movement broke out there at 4 o'clock this afternoon, with firing in the streets.

Guatemala had a change in executive power last week after it was announced that Gen. Lazaro Chacon, president of the republic, was seriously ill following a cerebral hemorrhage. The council of ministers appointed the second designate, Baudilio Palma, to assume the presidency temporarily.

A revolt against President Chacon was suppressed early in 1929 and a number of high officers were executed. The country was placed in a state of siege.

VALUE OF RYAN ESTATE PLACED AT 145 MILLION

$305,000 Church Claim Rejected by Heir.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 16.—[Special.]—The value of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan's estate was fixed at 145 millions today in an intermediate accounting filed with Surrogate James A. Foley and a dispute between the executor and two religious organizations was revealed.

Clendenin J. Ryan, son and executor, explained to Surrogate Foley that he had rejected the claim of the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament for $305,000 with interest as "excessive," and that he would endeavor to have the $12,000 annual bequest to the Mount Eymrad seminary at Suffern, N. Y., reduced for "the same reason."

Bequest to Seminary.

Thomas Fortune Ryan died on Nov. 23, 1928. In his will, in addition to the bequest to the seminary, he left a sum of $50,000 a year to the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament, whose church, St. Jean Baptiste, is on the upper east side and was erected by Mr. Ryan at a cost of $1,000,000.

The church priests, according to Clendenin Ryan, informed him that his father made an oral agreement in 1909 to pay them $305,000 and that they wanted the money and the interest now.

The visit from the church fathers was the first he had heard of the oral pledge, the Ryan heir told the surrogate, and asked whether the $50,000 bequest could not be applied against the larger sum.

When the Ryan will was probated it was stated in the document that he was making the $50,000 bequest to the Church of St. Jean Baptiste "in consideration for the spiritual benefits to be perpetually received by the parishioners."

In accounting the total gross value of the estate at 145 millions, it was revealed the estate had paid out $17,379,000 in state taxes and $4,382,000 to the federal government, leaving a net estate of about 123 millions.

DR. E. R. CAMPBELL, KIN OF DURANT, LEAVES $10,851,646 ESTATE

New York, Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Edwin R. Campbell, retired physician and son-in-law of William C. Durant, automobile magnate, left a gross estate of $10,851,646, and a net of $10,123,856, it was shown by a transfer tax appraisal filed today.

The entire estate goes to a son, a daughter, a brother, and a sister. Dr. Campbell, who lived with his children at the Hotel Plaza, died July 11, 1929, on the White Star liner Majestic en route for Europe.

CITY MUST FIGHT FOR GOOD TIMES, INSULL DECLARES

World's Fair Will Help, He Tells Realtors.

BY AL CHASE.

More than a thousand realtors at the 48th annual banquet of the Chicago Real Estate board last night at the Stevens hotel were given a message of cheer by Samuel Insull, in which he predicted that the coming world's fair will stir up every industry. At the same time he told his listeners that although depressions and bad times are only incidents in the march of progress, no miracle will put business back where it was two years ago; it must fight its way there.

Meanwhile Chicago transportation is coming out of the doldrums, he declared. The solution of the transportation program is in the actual process of accomplishment, and he predicted that before long the transportation service of the city will be in keeping with the other public services.

Sees Hope for Fairer Taxing.

Mr. Insull smilingly said he hoped that was good news to real estate men and added that the only better news he could think of would be a reduction of taxes. He was optimistic about the tax situation, however, declaring that out of the period of depression may come a study of taxation which will help bring about equitable distribution of the tax burden.

"Companies with which I am associated have a fixed capital investment in Chicago of upward of $700,000,000; the value of this investment fluctuates as the value of real estate fluctuates," said Mr. Insull.

"The value of that investment will go up as the city grows, either in extent or in its standards of life, just as the value of real estate does. And the spending of $20,000,000 a year for improvements and extensions of transportation will help the properties in which I am interested, just as that expenditure will help the properties in which you are interested.

Every Interest to Benefit.

"The spending of this money will help every interest in Chicago as much as it will help your enterprises or mine. The extension of rapid transportation service to new communities will help those communities. This money will encourage building, will aid merchandising, will give employment to labor, and aid in the growth and development of Chicago.

"The reason that I have made particular reference to what is going on in regard to the rehabilitation of our transportation system is that I wanted to give you a word of good cheer. I wanted to point out to you that although we may have depressions, or even panics, the world goes ahead, and that cities like Chicago go ahead. I wanted to emphasize what I have said many times in the last year: That depression and bad times are only incidents in the march of progress.

"Fight Back to Prosperity."

"We are not going to pull ourselves out of this depression overnight. Bad times came upon us almost unawares, although they came slowly and with fair warning—which we failed to heed. Good times will come back in the same way. No miracle will be wrought to put us back where we were two years ago. We must fight our way back."

Mr. Insull pointed out that the 1893 World's Fair brought good times to Chicago.

"It was followed almost immediately by a panic," he said, "but the money it brought to the city helped us weather not only that panic but the free silver agitation which came in the panic's wake.

"Preparations for that World's Fair brought about a great amount of industry in Chicago. So should preparations for our coming fair stir up every industry that we have today.

"The preparations we make for our coming fair also will show whether we have faith in our city and in ourselves. If we have faith, we will go ahead. And if we do go ahead, that will be another small indication of coming good times."

Mr. Insull was introduced by Brig. Gen. Abel Davis, toastmaster.

PRESIDENT BOWLER TO GET $8,000 AUTO FOR CANAL DUTIES

President Thomas J. Bowler of the sanitary district will soon have a new $8,000 automobile to use in a survey of the district. The automobile and a chauffeur, to be paid approximately $2,400 a year, are to be financed by the district.

Purchase of the car was revealed yesterday when Howard Elmore, former president and now the only Republican trustee, protested the action as "unprecedented and unnecessary."

"As president of the board, I used my own car and paid the operating expenses out of my own pocket," Mr. Elmore said. "A much less expensive machine would do."

"My automobile was smashed up three days before the election," Mr. Bowler declared. "Moreover, I came out of the city council without a cent in my pockets and I couldn't afford to buy my own car. I find that the duties of president will require first hand knowledge of the properties of the district. I intend to do my job thoroughly."

REPORT 2 MORE MEN INDICTED IN BOND INQUIRY

Carl Arbuckle and Kenneth D. Adams, colored, 6439 St. Lawrence avenue, a professional bondsman, were reported named in a conspiracy true bill voted yesterday by the grand jury. They are charged with having accepted a $200 fee to provide a bond for William Stanley, accused of operating a confidence game, and then not providing the bond or returning the money.

Several other persons already have been indicted as a result of the bond inquiry.

Assistant State's Attorney A. C. De Witt, who is in charge of the investigation, presented evidence to the grand jury showing that one professional bondsman was responsible for the forgery of many bonds in the Municipal courts.

STUDY CHANGES IN SUBWAY PLAN TO AVOID DELAY

'Favorable' Utility Space Crux of Protest.

While State street property owners yesterday were surveying the situation created by the passage in the city council of the ordinance for the State street subway, several members of the board of advisory subway engineers were considering the possibility of making changes in the plans to meet objections.

A committee of State street property owners petitioned the council for a change before the ordinance was passed to make the subway "suitable to the public needs." Generally speaking the committee desired changes to reduce the cost, to make the concourse longer, and to raise the bore three feet.

See Chance to Alter Plans.

The engineers fear that subway construction may be delayed a year if a majority of the property owners file a protest petition. It is conceived by some of the engineers that the objections can be eliminated, allowing the improvement to proceed.

The argument of the engineers that changes can be made to advantage in the plans, in a manner that will not change the nature of the subway as a whole nor imperil the special assessment proceedings, to meet the objections of the property owners hinges mostly around the "favorable" space allotted to the public utilities for their equipment between the street level and the ceiling of the concourse floor.

"Something can be done," remarked one engineer, "and I think that there is a good chance of doing it. Certain members of the advisory engineering board believe that the public utilities have a favorable amount of space and that a change can be made there without doing the utilities any particular harm.

Might Move Utilities.

"By using silica steel the concourse ceiling can be raised one and one-half feet and the utilities would have the same amount of space that they have now. Then the space for the utilities could be cut down by moving some of them to the sides and leaving only a few of them above the ceiling by which, perhaps, the subway would be raised the three feet desired by the property owners."

Locating some of the utilities along the sides, according to another engineer, is desirable. He said that it would eliminate constant opening of streets for repairs to cables and mains, and agreed that the subway could be raised in this way.

In making the protest the property owners commented on the arrangements for the utilities "with the belief that much more space can be saved than has heretofore been agreed upon."

"We believe," the committee stated, "that this can be accomplished within a comparatively short time, and that the result will be the raising of the entire subway by about three feet or the raising of the subway about two feet and increasing the height of the concourse floor from nine to ten feet.

"In this connection we call attention to the fact that the public utilities were originally satisfied with the plans which allowed them to occupy spaces beside the railroad tracks in the public streets which were then possible because train platforms were then planned as eighteen feet in width instead of as twenty-two feet as at present. This space beside the tracks so provided was far less in area than what can be provided above the concourse floor if the subway is raised as we propose."

A petition to confirm the subway ordinance as passed by the council was filed in the Superior court by Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, and was assigned to Judge E. M. Mangan. The filing, it was explained, is the first legal step to be taken in the courts preparatory to spreading a special assessment among the property owners, who will be asked to pay 65 per cent of the $44,500,000 cost.

TWO YEARS' RECESS ON IMMIGRATION IS ADVANCED BY HOUSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Drastic restriction of immigration at this session of congress as a means of aiding the unemployment situation became increasingly probable today.

The house committee on immigration approved a resolution for a two year suspension of immigration from both quota and nonquota countries. Besides classes admitted as visitors and others exempted by the present law, the only immigrants during the two year period ending July 1, 1933, would be fathers, mothers, and husbands of American citizens and wives and children of legally domiciled aliens. These relatives coming from European countries would be admitted up to maximum equal to 50 per cent of the present national origin quotas.

The bill hits at immigration from countries of the western hemisphere, including Mexico and Canada, which are not at present under the quota system. During the two year period immigration from these countries would be restricted to the exempted classes.

CHINA TO ACCEPT U. S. TERMS FOR SPECIAL COURTS

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 16.—The Chinese government will dispatch to America before the end of the year what is described as China's final proposal for a settlement of the long existing deadlock respecting extraterritoriality. The exact text is not yet available, but, according to a report given at Nanking, China is prepared to accept the major portion of America's proposal for the establishment of special district courts at Shanghai, Tientsin, Hankow, and Canton, where cases involving Americans, or American interests, are to be tried, following the withdrawal of the United States court as well as the consular courts.

To Employ U. S. Experts.

China is also willing to employ American judicial experts in an advisory capacity. They will be attached to special courts, but with authority of advisers and limited to offering their opinions and suggestions. They will not be permitted to interfere in the court's jurisdiction.

In cases where both litigants are American citizens, American law will be used, but where either the plaintiff or the defendant is a Chinese citizen, then the law of China will be applied.

It is stated that China is not willing to accept the American proposal requiring that American consuls' signatures be attached to warrants for arrest of American citizens, but China is willing to permit consular intervention in cases of inquests, or in the settlement of estates of deceased Americans.

Fix End for 1930.

The so-called final draft of China's extraterritoriality proposal is under the consideration of Foreign Minister C. T. Wang and Minister of Justice Wang Chung-hui, and while further negotiation is possible, the Chinese newspapers declare that 1930 will mark the end of foreign judicial authority on China's soil.

The Chinese-American treaty, which provides that the estates of Americans, who are subject to their own laws in China, shall be administered by a United States court here, is scheduled to expire in 1932.

INQUIRY STARTED ON FITNESS OF ONE MAN BUSES

Coach Company Explains Reasons for Use.

In view of recent criticisms of the one man, double deck buses operated by the Chicago Motor Coach company, the Illinois commerce commission has instituted an investigation of the degree of safety and convenience afforded the public by this type of vehicle.

Announcement of the investigation was made yesterday by Charles W. Hadley, chairman of the commission. Mr. Hadley expects the commission's engineers to submit a report early next week, whereupon, if the criticisms prove valid, the coach company may be required to show cause why the one man system should not be abandoned.

A Measure of Economy.

The one man system, always in use on the single deck buses, was introduced on the double deckers last March as a measure of economy, according to James A. Ritchie, president of the coach company. An average of 84 buses of this type is now in daily use, and the company expects eventually to convert all its buses to this type, Mr. Ritchie said. Under the one man system of operation passengers board and leave by the front door, the driver acting also as conductor.

The criticisms, addressed principally to the commerce commission, the newspapers and the coach company, have called attention to the trouble experienced by passengers when, in alighting during rush hours, they are compelled to elbow through the crowded lower aisle to the front door. There have been complaints also that the lack of an automatic rear door constitutes a peril to riders in case of accident or panic; that the low ceilings compel tall passengers to stand with heads painfully crooked when the seats are full, and that the ventilation is insufficient.

Corrections Are Promised.

Admitting the validity of some of these complaints, Mr. Ritchie said the company engineers are taking steps to correct the conditions complained of. Generally speaking, he said, the one man bus is a safer and more efficient vehicle than the two man type. Accidents, he averred, are 49 per cent fewer on the one man bus, where the operator has full control and with divided responsibility eliminated.

Briefly sketching the history of the company since 1922 when the principal stockholder, John Hertz, had invited him here from New York as president, Mr. Ritchie cited the company's record to show that a consistent effort had been made to satisfy the public, despite obstacles which are peculiar to Chicago.

At the outset, Mr. Ritchie recalled, the company was compelled to scrap the troublesome front drive buses operated by the predecessor company and retire a $1,400,000 bond issue to insure financial stability. Operating single deck buses on short trips and double decked, open top buses on long hauls, the company gained increasing patronage until about 1926 when the trend towards enclosed private automobiles compelled the management to design a fully enclosed double deck bus to meet the demand of patrons.

Therein the company, Mr. Ritchie said, was confronted with the most perplexing problem of its career—how to develop an enclosed double deck bus sufficiently high to provide head room for standing passengers and still go under the railroad viaducts, some of them affording less than 13 feet clearance and described as the lowest of any city in the country. He said experiments on bus types and with pneumatic tires cost the company $1,615,646, including the purchase of 133 new single deck coaches.

Due to the current business depression and the loss of 33 miles of lines on the northwest side to the Chicago surface lines in the feeder bus controversy, the coach company suffered a revenue loss of 16 per cent this year, necessitating the installation of the one man buses to reduce expenses and assure a revenue large enough to attract the new capital needed if the company is to undertake the expansion necessary for the Century of Progress exposition.

To eliminate the crowded aisles, Mr. Ritchie said, the company engineers are removing the single row of seats at the right hand side of the bus for an experiment.

The engineers, he added, are now developing a new model bus with a special underslung chassis, a center aisle, hot water heat, and with front and rear doors, and pneumatic tires.

G. O. P. Is Called to Unite on a Candidate for Mayor

ing with you not more than three of the ablest and strongest advisers in your group to aid in bringing about a harmonious effort to secure a Republican candidate for mayor who can receive the support of all groups and who will meet Chicago's aspirations for a proper civic administration.

"As an individual I would not venture to issue such a call, but as the nominal head of the official Republican organization I regard it as my duty to exhaust every possibility of securing united support for a candidate for mayor representing the highest possible type of ability, character and experience available in the Republican party."

Barrett Assails Thompson.

Barrett's anti-Thompson speech was delivered at a luncheon of his supporters at the Hotel Sherman. He said that he had waited three weeks since his acceptance of Thompson's challenge to ask for the name of the "loop bank director" who, it was charged, had cast reflection on his record on the board of review.

"He has been tongue tied since I challenged him to name the banker as he publicly stated he would do if I asked for the name," Barrett said.

"That was three weeks ago. One of his cabinet officers called a friend of mine and said: 'Do you know whom the mayor had in mind? He meant you.' My friend replied, 'Tell him if he mentions my name I'll call him a liar publicly and add that he's crazy.'

"I have purposely waited to show that he is a liar by his own lips. From now on I shall pay very little attention to anything he says. I shall confine myself to the real issues in this campaign."

Barrett charged that "the present incumbent of the city hall has demonstrated repeatedly that he is not a Republican and that he has forfeited his right to any consideration by the party." He also spoke of Dwight Morrow as the outstanding candidate for President in 1932 and expressed his opposition to the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act.

Trend to Cermak Disclosed.

The Democratic developments were less heated but were pronounced more definite than the Republican. Although Cermak has not said publicly that he will become a candidate for mayor under any circumstances, his supporters whispered it around that they had begun to sign up ward committeemen who consider Cermak their first choice and that they have been more than surprised by the results.

"Apparently," said one of these friends, "there will be forty or more out of the fifty committeemen who consider Cermak the strongest man we have. But that is not so surprising as the fact that members of the county committee who were listed by other candidates as among their supporters really prefer Cermak.

"This applies to the candidacy of Ald. John S. Clark, Clayton Smith, and others who have been mentioned during the last few weeks. We hear that State Representative Igoe, who has been discussed as a possible candidate, will be with Cermak if there is a showdown. In other words, it's all Cermak right now."

ALDERMEN PUT KIBOSH ON WOLFE AS LITERARY MAN

Turn Down His Ventures in Authorship.

The literary ventures of Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, last night ran the gauntlet of the critics. Those who passed upon his authorship were ten members of the council finance committee. They cut from Wolfe's appropriations an item of $2,500 for the printing of pamphlets and circulars.

Once Mr. Wolfe wrote a pamphlet which he titled "How I Saved $60,000,000." At the time of its publication the aldermen were puzzled, as the alleged saving was an amount several times as large as Wolfe's appropriations.

Another Literary Venture.

Another year Wolfe put himself to the task of rewriting a book that had been published under another commissioner of public works. The book detailed the negotiations under the late Mayor Dever that led up to the beginning of the river straightening project.

When Wolfe got through with it the book gave him and Mayor Thompson credit for the lion's share in the river negotiations. Their pictures appeared on the frontispiece and details of the project were relegated to the back pages.

Copies of the book were sent to administration friends with Wolfe's compliments. The bill, totaling $2,700, went to the finance committee. There it has been for a year. Congressman James T. Igoe, the printer, recently made a personal appearance to collect, but without success.

One Boss for One Workman.

Besides the refusal to allow Wolfe $2,500 for this year's literary output, he suffered other setbacks in the committee. The aldermen found that he had employed one painter at $14 a day and a painter foreman at $15 a day to watch the painter. They found that revolving doors had not been installed at the La Salle street entrance to the city hall although Wolfe was authorized to do so six weeks ago.

"The new doors should be in before the winter is over," said Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], acting chairman, and ordered the staff to get in touch with Wolfe.

After getting through with Wolfe the committee fixed tentative estimates for a number of city departments adding a total of $150,000 to the 1930 budget figures. So far the aldermen have added nearly $1,000,000 to the amount appropriated in 1930, although to make a budget within the estimates they will have to cut the 1931 figures $1,000,000 below the 1930 appropriations.

Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th] suggested that the city could save money by renovating the old Criminal Courts building and moving the Municipal courts into it and give the city hall space vacated by the courts to city departments which now occupy outside space.

HELPED HER DIGESTION MORE THAN ANYTHING ELSE

"Suffered over thirty years with acid indigestion. ACIDINE has helped me more than anything I have ever taken," says Mrs. Emma Green, of Detroit, Mich.

Just another of thousands who are astonished at the way this new prescription ACIDINE succeeds, when others known remedies fail. The reason is it is different from other medicines. ACIDINE contains laptase, which, in laboratory tests, digested 800 times its own weight of certain heavy starchy foods. ACIDINE neutralizes burning acid, soothes irritated stomach and intestinal linings, helps end acidosis.

Eat, drink all you want. When sour stomach, gas, pain, heartburn, bad taste, heavy feeling, short breath, dizziness, belching, nervousness, colds, gassy headaches and sleeplessness trouble you, take ACIDINE. Results guaranteed. If not delighted, maker refunds money.

BANDIT KILLS PAL AND SELF WHEN CORNERED

Caught After Robbing Indiana Bank.

time they commandeered a Ford car belonging to a man named Williams and they were away toward Fairmont, Ill. One pursuing airplane had sighted them and kept hovering over them to guide the pursuers if they should chance to lose sight of their quarry.

A few miles further on the bandits had their fourth breakdown. They leaped out of the car and were off on foot. They stopped at the farm house of Leo Moody and tried to take Moody's machine. He said the keys for it were in the house and he sent his wife in for them, giving her a signal to call on the telephone for help. She did, but by that time a hundred or more motorists were swinging around nearby roads keeping the five men in sight.

Chief Helm's party, the closest, pulled up close to the Moody farmhouse. The robbers ran inside, then out the back door past some sheds and cribs. The posse, on foot, was closing in.

Cornered, One Kills Self.

Two robbers threw up their hands in token of surrender and were seized. Landley and Bell were trying to hide behind a pile of cornstalks. As soon as they realized their capture was certain a shot was heard. Then the Indiana policemen, creeping closer, saw Landley turn his pistol toward his own head and fire. He fell over dead. They assumed he killed Bell first.

After considerable search, Hunter, the fifth bandit, was found in a hog pen. He was too badly wounded to offer resistance.

The possemen found most of the money, something over $11,000, in Moody's yard. Hunter had $625 in his pocket. A search of the others and the recovery of the gold given to Frisk completed the return of all the money to the bank.

Finger prints of both dead and living robbers were rushed to Indianapolis, Danville, and Chicago. It was considered certain these men were old time bank robbers responsible for many of the successful onslaughts on small town banks. Last night their criminal records were being traced and their photographs sent to many recently robbed Indiana and southern Illinois banks.

One report from Terre Haute last night was that Deputy Walker was dead, but later this was said to be a mistake. Little hope was held for his recovery, however.

The Final Battle.

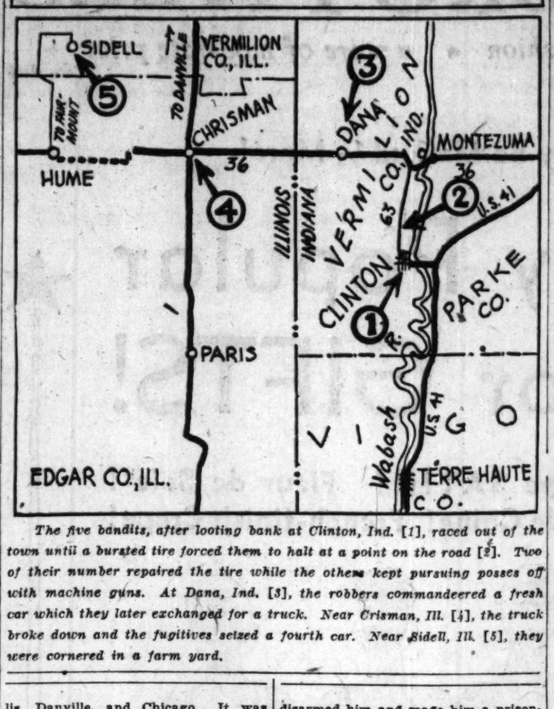
"The bandits ran into and through a farmhouse and out back of a corn crib. We were not far behind them. Carloads of citizens had taken up the chase to help us and they drove around in a circle, keeping the men within the circle. We came upon one of the men, wounded. We quickly disarmed him and made him a prisoner. Two of the robbers kept together and continued firing at us.

"The two apparently abandoned hope of escape. I saw one of them turn his pistol toward his own head. Immediately he crumpled and we found the two dead. There was about $2,000 in currency on the dead and living bandits. They had thrown away nearly $11,000, which we recovered later."

BANDITS RUN TO EARTH



The five bandits, after looting bank at Clinton, Ind. [1], raced out of the town until a burated tire forced them to halt at a point on the road [2]. Two of their number repaired the tire while the others kept pursuing posses off with machine guns. At Dana, Ind. [3], the robbers commandeered a fresh car which they later exchanged for a truck. Near Crisman, Ill. [4], the truck broke down and the fugitives seized a fourth car. Near Sidell, Ill. [5], they were cornered in a farm yard.

THIRD HOLDUP IN 10 DAYS OF BANK IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Three robbers today held up the Manchester Savings Bank and Trust company, a north side bank, from which they obtained $50,000, and escaped.

The robbery was the third bank holdup in the district in ten days, and, with the regular police apparently unable to cope with the situation, many banks are adding private police as a precautionary measure.

Bank officials, including President G. C. Gerwig, employés and customers—fifteen persons in all—were herded in the main banking room soon after the doors were opened this morning. Cowed by guns, they watched while the robbers forced the assistant treasurer to open the vault containing the money.

Threatening death to those who might attempt to frustrate them, the bandits seized many packages of currency and loose bills from the vault.

WIFE VICTIM OF BOOZE AND DOPE, SHEPARD SOBS

Takes Witness Stand in Fight for Life.

Kansas City, Kas., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Testifying that his wife, with whose murder he is charged, was a liquor and narcotic addict whose habits wrecked her health and cast a shadow over their married life, Maj. Charles A. Shepard told the jury in his murder trial today that he became interested in Miss Grace Brandon, blonde stenographer, because she was the first woman in years to treat him sympathetically.

Defense counsel led Shepard into a narration of his association with the San Antonio, Tex., girl, for the love of whom, the prosecution alleges, he poisoned his wife, after the army medical officer had testified at length as to his married life and details of Mrs. Shepard's fatal illness at Fort Riley, Kas., in 1929.

"What were your feelings toward Miss Brandon after going with her?" he was asked.

"She Was Kind to Me."

"I admired her very much. She was kind, sympathetic and the first woman in years who had taken any interest in me."

Q.—Did you make love to Miss Brandon? Did you caress her? A.—I did not.

Maj. Shepard said that after returning to Fort Riley, where his wife was, about Dec. 17, 1929, he corresponded with Miss Brandon and sent her flowers and candy but in reply to a question as to whether there was any engagement between them prior to his wife's death, replied:

"There was absolutely no engagement of any kind."

He added that they became engaged late in October or early in November, 1929, four or five months after the death of Mrs. Shepard.

Replying to a question by District Attorney Sardius Brewster as to the spirit which prompted him to write a letter with an endearing salutation to Miss Brandon the day Mrs. Shepard died, the defendant said:

"I loved my wife. She did not love me. We had not lived together as man and wife for six years. She told me several times she did not love me."

Contradicts Girl's Story.

Brewster asked the defendant if he had heard Miss Brandon testify that he proposed to her in July, 1929, the month following the death of Mrs. Shepard. "Is that correct?" Brewster demanded.

"It is not," Sherpard replied.

The district attorney attempted to draw an admission that Shepard had written a letter to the girl before Mrs. Shepard's death discussing the possibility of a divorce. Miss Brandon had testified to receiving such a letter.

"There is nothing in any letter regarding divorce," Shepard replied. "If you have such a letter I'd like to see it."

"I'm asking you," Brewster retorted. He did not produce the letter.

Shepard testified to a visit to San Antonio in November of 1929 during which he traded in his motor car on a new coupe for Miss Brandon.

"Were there any differences of opinion as to the motor car?"

"Yes. She said she would like a Packard. I said I couldn't afford it."

Brewster entered a letter written March 13, 1930, by Shepard in which he told Miss Brandon:

"It will be two years in November, dear, do you remember when and where we plighted our first troth? Do you remember those sweet kisses?"

Shepard said he and Miss Brandon considered the "plighting of the troth" at that time as a joke and that it was not until later that they first kissed.

His Married Life.

In opening his testimony Maj. Shepard testified that Mrs. Shepard's mother became "violently insane," and said his wife had expressed fear that "she was going to be like her mother." These fits of despondency occurred, he said, at times when she was drinking.

Tears came to the eyes of the defendant as he related he discovered his wife was a drinker after their marriage in Los Angeles in 1916.

At the time of their marriage Shepard said his wife was a nurse in a Los Angeles sanitarium with which he was connected.

Shepard said they drove to San Diego on the honeymoon and there he smelled liquor on his bride's breath.

"She was drinking at times, but at times would go for weeks without taking liquor," Shepard testified. "I scolded her, but she said she couldn't help it."

Shepard testified that he discovered a few months before Mrs. Shepard's death that she was using narcotics.

"My kit was on the icebox where I had laid it," he testified. "Mrs. Shepard was preparing something there and I asked her about it. She said she was taking a dose of morphine.

"I asked her how long she had used narcotics. She said, 'For some time.' She said she suffered so much pain she had to take it. I told her no one using that amount of alcohol could do that [take narcotics] and live."

Her Last Illness.

Tears welled again to the eyes of Maj. Shepard and his voice broke when he told of events on May 15, 1929, when Mrs. Shepard was stricken with the fatal illness.

On that day, he said, Mrs. Shepard was under the influence of alcohol before her collapse.

Mrs. Shepard, he went on, had access to his medical kit, which contained liquor, narcotics, stimulants, sedatives and antiseptics, including mercury for "disinfecting my hands." The government alleges Mrs. Shepard died of mercury poisoning.

He testified that Maj. Paul R. Hawley, a government witness, attended Mrs. Shepard in her last illness and so far as he knew Hawley's instructions were carried out.

He also told of ministrations by Maj. M. A. Rose, a dentist, who testified yesterday he prescribed a solution of bichloride of mercury as a mouth wash for Mrs. Shepard, which another defense expert testified could have caused death if absorbed by the gums or swallowed.

Shepard testified that he submitted to a blood trasfusion the day of his wife's death in an effort to save her life.

ALL EAST BUTTONS UP ITS OVERCOAT AND SHIVERS IN ZERO WAVE

New York, Dec. 16.—[Special.]—The cold wave which blew into town yesterday got colder today and achieved a low of 9 degrees at its worst.

All the eastern seaboard down to South Carolina suffered. New England had sub-zero weather, and in the Canadian maritime provinces and Newfoundland there was a twelve hour blizzard that killed four seamen and scattered shipping.

This morning White River Junction, Vt., was shivering at 15 below zero and in Berlin, N. H., the thermometer read 10 below. In Boston it was 4 above zero and at Portland, Me., 2 above.

SOVIET PREMIER MAY LOSE JOB IN A NEW SHAKEUP

Rykov Is Slated to Go by Communist Chiefs.

MOSCOW, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The exigencies of soviet politics today indicated the prospect of another shakeup in administrative posts in the government which may reach even as high as Alexis Rykov, president of the council of peoples' commissars. This post corresponds to that of premier in other countries.

Because of severe criticism by various organizations throughout the union of his former "right wing" activities, Rykov may soon request the central executive committee to relieve him of his position.

If this plan has been decided upon it is considered likely that the new identity is held in the greatest secrecy. The only other man to hold the post of soviet premier was Lenin, Rykov having been appointed after Lenin's death.

For some time it has been felt that the premier's days were numbered as a powerful party figure. Last spring Rykov with Michael P. Tomsky, and N. A. Uglanov, appeared before the all-union congress of the Communist party and "confessed" their sins as members of the right wing, promising to support the party policies in the future.

Uglanov, notwithstanding his protestations, was dropped as commissar of labor and Tomsky was ousted as head of the soviet trade union but Rykov managed to retain his posts.

Reports today were that the Communist administration now intends to eliminate any sign of opposition because it is felt that an absolutely united party front must be maintained if the five year industrialization plan is to be carried out. Rykov was mentioned as one of the conspirators of an alleged plot to oust Dictator Stalin as head of the Communist party.

Knox Resigns as Manager for Hearst's Newspapers

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Col. Frank Knox tonight announced his resignation as general manager of the Hearst newspapers.

"I have today tendered my resignation as the general manager of the Hearst newspapers," Col. Knox said. "W. R. Hearst and I had reached a divergence of opinion as to methods of business management, and since our differences could not be reconciled my withdrawal was the appropriate remedy for the situation."

Col. Knox has been associated with the Hearst newspapers four years, beginning as publisher of the Boston American. At the end of the first year, Hearst appointed him general manager of all his papers.

When the day's work was done there was a cheerful pile of gifts all done up in Christmas paper and ribbon. These will be given to the children of ex-service men who are in hospitals.

LANDLORD KILLS FARMER AND SON IN ROW OVER HAY

Robinson, Ill., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—In a dispute over possession of a dozen bales of hay a tenant farmer and his son were shot to death near here today by their former landlord.

The victims were Annice Miller, 50, and his son, John, 22. The slayer, Richard Hargis, 35, a disabled war veteran and the father of four children, was arrested at a neighbor's home. He is in the county jail here.

The shooting occurred on the Hargis farm, 14 miles north of Robinson. There was one witness, a youthful companion of the younger Miller.

THE ONLY WAY TO REDUCE TAXES.

The board of review has announced its intention of reducing all the assessments on land fixed by the board of assessors for 1929. In normal course the taxes based on these assessments would have been paid in April, 1930, but because of the delays resulting from the 1928 reassessment the 1929 taxes will not fall due until next April.

Meanwhile all the local governments with unimportant exceptions have issued tax anticipation warrants against the revenues which the 1929 assessment will yield, and this money, again with unimportant exceptions, has all been spent. To the extent that the board of review's intention to reduce assessments may yield a smaller revenue than was anticipated, deficits will be created similar to those which forced a special session of the legislature this year for the enactment of the Strawn relief bills. Sooner or later these deficits will also have to be met in the only way they can be met—from taxes.

The board of review states that its policy is intended to reduce taxes. We do not believe that a reduction in 1929 assessments on land of itself can achieve that objective. There is only one certain way to bring about tax reduction and that way is to reduce expenditures. There is only one way to reduce expenditures and that is to hold the budgets of the local governments within safe limits. Indirect pressure from the board of review might be helpful, but it will not be decisive. The enemy of the taxpayer is not primarily the assessor. The enemy is the public official who profits personally or politically from extravagant, dishonest, and wasteful spending of public funds; the friend of the taxpayer is the conscientious official who provides a dollar's worth of public service for every dollar spent under his direction.

Property owners who have learned to keep their eye on the ball know this. Once the money has been appropriated, all that the assessors and reviewers together can do is apportion the burden among the property owners. They cannot keep taxes down. That can be done only by the tax appropriating and tax spending officials.

Every one who has looked carefully and impartially into the situation is now agreed that unless appropriations for next year are reduced far below the figures which the budget makers are contemplating our local governments will find themselves in only a few months in precisely the same hole from which they were rescued only a few months ago. Mr. Strawn then saved the situation by obtaining authority for the issuance of bonds. That means of escape is no longer open, for the local governments, for the most part, are bonded almost to the constitutional limit.

Meanwhile the budget makers are going about their work with no proper realization of the responsibility which rests upon them. We suggest that the Association of Commerce is the organization which is best placed to bring the budget makers to their senses. The association has done valiant work in seeking to clean up the politico-criminal alliance which has ruled Chicago and ruined its reputation before the world. It is not only likely, it is certain, that Chicago's bankruptcy will again be heralded all over the globe unless the appropriations are sharply restricted. Within a few weeks all that the association has helped to accomplish in rehabilitating the city's reputation and credit can be destroyed by the budget makers. The pressure of facts and influence can be brought to bear by the association upon the wasters. We hope the officers of the association will rise to their opportunity.

BEST SERVICE FOR THE GREATEST NUMBER.

As a result of the applications of THE TRIBUNE and other principal broadcasters, Chief Examiner Ellis A. Yost has recommended to the federal radio commission that all cleared channel stations be authorized to use the maximum 50,000 watts power. In so doing Mr. Yost has obviously followed the principle of maximum public interest, for the result of such a ruling by the commission would directly and widely affect the greatest number of the radio public, making it possible for remote listeners to hear the highest class of programs.

There is and will be pressure to defeat the enlargement of highest grade broadcasting which this ruling will permit, but if the interest of the public in all parts of the country is, as it should be, the decisive test, Examiner Yost's recommendation will be approved by the commission. He is certainly right when he says that the American people—and this includes our fellow Americans living far from the resources of the great centers of population—are entitled to the greatly improved and additional broadcasting reception which would inevitably result from permitting the cleared channel stations to use 50 kilowatts. As a social and educational resource the radio is only beginning its great service, but it should be the policy of the national commission to clear its way and encourage the highest accomplishment, not for the few and fortunate, but for all our people.

Examiner Yost has shown a fine courage and a grasp of the broad principles of public service for which the American public will be grateful.

So far as W-G-N is concerned, it is estimated that with 50,000 watts W-G-N could extend its field satisfactorily to serve an area of from 300 to 400 square miles at night, giving its programs to a population of approximately 8,000,000. It is self-evident that programs of satisfactory variety and worth must originate in the large cities of the country. It is only in a metropolitan area that radio talent can be assembled. If the smaller towns and the countryside are to have the full benefits of radio the core of it must be in the centers of population where the programs can be produced. Without the radio the people of the outlying regions, near or far, must rely upon their visits to the city. With the radio brought to them part of the city follows it.

THE DOWNFALL OF SPAIN.

The military revolt starting from the fortress of Jaca in the mountains was quickly made a tragic futility with the execution of the young Spanish army officers who assumed responsibility for it. In any army so overt an act against the government would have exposed the responsible leaders to such a penalty, but the summary punishment in this case seemed to echo back into the history of an empire whose own cruel and intolerant hands tore it down almost as soon as it had been so marvelously created.

The other countries in Europe which Spain possessed or had cowed or apprehensive in 1555 are now steadier on their feet than is the nucleus of this one minute empire which had done so much to deserve its commanding position and which did so much so quickly to lose it. The British empire as an empire may be shaking, but the British islanders had a secret the Spanish Hapsburgs did not, that empire is sustained by conspicuous and uncostly tolerance.

The Spanish produced an invincible soldiery in religious enthusiasms well balanced by self-interest. It gained headway and proficiency in profitable fighting to remove the vestiges of Arab conquest of Spanish lands, the end of the next to the last great effort to keep Europe out of the hands of the African and Asiatic. A Spanish leader also broke the sea power of the Turks, the last of the great invaders to disturb the peoples of Europe.

Discovery gave the Spanish the new world in the flush of their renaissance and their soldiers in small bands overran large areas of two continents rich in precious metals. Gold poured into the Spanish coffers from the new world when Spanish steel was asserting dominance over the old. Strength and wealth were combined with good fortune and successful politics. Marriage had given the Hapsburgs the Netherlands, a country as rich from the products of commerce as the new world was from the take from mines. These two great sources of revenue were available to any power which would know how to govern without destroying. Spain did not.

Election made the king of Spain Charles V. of the Roman empire. France was feeble under the Valois and England was believably conquerable. The old and the new world belonged to Philip II. when marriage gave him Mary of England and when the headsman cowed the aristocracy of the Netherlands and the inquisition destroyed its middle class. The subsequent decadence was the most rapid the world has ever recorded. Its course had now and then a temporary check, but nothing which could overcome or remove the force which was tearing to pieces the structure which has been erected so brilliantly.

A monarchical institution diseased with fanaticism exposed itself to destruction and even pygmy forces eventually picked it to bits. Now it seems on the edge of collapse. The wild little military rebellion at Jaca was quickly stopped, but that only gave a glimpse into the spirit which pervades the discontented regions of a country which has not known how to govern since the days when it destroyed its medieval democracy and went under the control of intolerant absolutism.

A NEW FLORIDA EGG.

A dispatch from Jacksonville, Fla., reports that a dinosaur egg has been found in a phosphate pit near Dunnellon in Marion county. It is estimated to be at least 2,000,000 years old, which would take it back approximately to the time of the Florida real estate boom as that period is now observed by the local citizenry. That being the case there is some question as to the authenticity of the egg. It may have been laid by one of the promotion companies. If it is a dinosaur's it will add another specimen to the collection of Florida eggs which already is the admiration of the country.

Any observation of types on the sands at Palm Beach and Miami will show that 2,000,000 years is nothing in the calendar of hopeful youth. The egg if put in the sunlight will probably hatch and with a shot or two of bicardi rum turn into something useful. If a little too conservative for Florida it might make a good governor for Texas.

INCREASE BUTTER TARIFF.

[Wisconsin State Journal.]

Gov. Kohler took a step in aid of Wisconsin farmers when he petitioned President Hoover to take executive action for an increase in the tariff duties on foreign butter.

The federal tariff commission has already submitted figures intimating the butter tariff was not high enough to insure protection to the American producers, and while, perhaps, President Hoover will desire further inquiry by that body, prompt action should be taken by the commission to place before the President the necessity of immediate action.

Congressman Merlin Hull warned congress that just such a situation as is now occurring was likely to happen. Australia with a large surplus of butter upon its hands has dumped 10,000,000 pounds of Australian butter on the New York market, some of which is being sold as low as 20 cents a pound. This competition, if carried on long, means heavy losses to the butter producers of the United States.

The federal officials should take cognizance of the situation and provide a sufficient tariff increase to prevent Australian and New Zealand butter being placed on the American market at a lower price than butter can be produced in this country.

Wisconsin dairy farmers are already profiting through the increased schedules accorded by congress in the recent tariff law on many dairy products. There is a market for Wisconsin fluid milk products in the east because under the new tariff barriers it cannot be undersold by milk from Canada.

Dairymen asked higher schedules on butter than are accorded in the tariff law. They were told the tariff commission could, if an emergency arose, recommend more protection. Seemingly that situation now exists.

HAT MAKERS' POISON.

THERE is a very considerable prevalence of chronic gas poisoning among those who work at a hat making job. The New York bureau of industrial hygiene wants those who work in hat making establishments to get the following information about gas leaks:

"Injury to health may result either from leaking gas or the production of carbon monoxide by poorly designed or ill kept equipment.

"Small leaks, incapable of lighting when a match is applied, are just as important as the larger ones. The fact that no one smells a leak is of no significance, because it is easy to become accustomed to the odor. Improvised patches on gas leaks are no remedy. They must be properly repaired.

"Appliances must be kept clean and free from soot in order to prevent unnecessary production of carbon monoxide poisoning in their operation.

"A yellow flame, or one which appears to spread or float, is dangerous.

"If the weather is cold and the presses are very cold, a dangerous amount of carbon monoxide gas may be produced when the flame under them is started. A gas flame impinging on a very cold surface will produce considerable carbon monoxide gas. It is well to start the gas going some time before the workshop opens, so that the room may be thoroughly ventilated before workers are permitted to enter. Such a situation on Monday morning, combined with inadequate gas pressure and dirty appliances, recently caused a critical situation in one of the New York hat factories."

Among recommendations other than education of the employés made by the bureau are the following:

The compulsory use of only such gas equipment as has been tested and approved as safe by the laboratories of the American Gas association.

Periodic inspection of gas-heated appliances and their connections.

Substitution of standard, flexible tubing approved by the American Gas association for that in use at the present time.

Improvement of gas pressure in the hat district.

That the American Gas association has standards for gas burning apparatus and for rubber tubes and connections will be welcome news to some.

DID NOT HURT BUMP.

Mrs. A. M. writes: A lady inquires how to reduce a large bump formed by blood clots caused by a severe bump in falling. Very recently I had the same to contend with, caused by being thrown through a windshield. I did not start the following treatment until two weeks after the accident.

Apply hot boric acid packs continually. Lump will disappear in about ten days. Massage gently. Protect lump from burns by placing a fine piece of gauze over side of face and sticking a few pieces of adhesive tape on gauze directly over bump. As the lump sticks out from the face, if this is not done to protect it, it becomes very sore and irritated when one has scarcely commenced treatment. I did this for 10 days, six to eight times daily. The lump recedes slowly and the bruised, black appearance also. My bump was as big as a very large walnut, and was as hard as a rock.

REPLY.

Bumps and discolorations generally disappear in three weeks or less without treatment. Your efforts entertained you and you did not hurt the bump.

CANKER SORES.

Mrs. J. D. writes: Can you tell me of some method to heal canker sores in the mouth? I have them real often and they get to be awfully large. Different people have advised turpentine, iodine, powdered alum, and camphor. I have tried them all, but nothing seems to help. They last from one to two months.

REPLY.

To cure a canker, touch once or twice with a caustic, such as dilute sulphuric acid, nitrate of silver, or lunar caustic. In most cases one application suffices. To prevent, change the diet, eating habits, or bowel habits as may be indicated.

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Please let me know if it is possible for a presidential candidate to receive the popular vote and than be beaten? M. J. B.

Yes, it is. One reason is that the electors are apportioned according to representation in congress, including the two senators. This means that the less populous states have a slightly disproportionate voice in the selection of the President.

EASY TRAFFIC SIGNALS FOR PEDESTRIANS.

In England they've adopted a new code of arm signals for pedestrians as well as for the drivers of automobiles. That wouldn't be a bad idea over here in the U. S. A. Before crossing the street the pedestrian might make use of the following signs:

(1) Both arms extended upward means: "I intend to cross the street; may God have mercy on me."

(2) One arm extended straight in front and the other straight down means: "Knock me down, you big slanthead, if you will, but I have friends who will avenge my death."

(3) One arm stuck straight out in front, the other held in opposite direction, means: "I have nine sticks of dynamite in my left hand pocket; go ahead, hit me, you poor sap; go ahead and hit me!"

(4) Left hand held obliquely downward, right hand pressed to forehead, means: "I am going to cross the street in a couple of hours or so; wait 'til I get good and ready!"

WHAT DO I WANT FOR CHRISTMAS?

What do I want for Christmas?
Last summer's moon would do,
Stars we have plucked together,
Maybe a kiss or two.

Rain on my cheek in autumn
When all the trees are bare,
Brush of your lips against my cheek,
Wind blowing through my hair.

Tape for the hurt of broken rhymes,
Pink lemonade with straws,
Maybe another date with you . . .
Is there a Santa Claus?

HELEN WELSHIMER.

THEY TRIED OUT a new kind of airplane in Philadelphia Sunday that is described as being able to go straight up. We aren't so much interested in an airplane going straight up; what is still worrying us is the frequency with which airplanes so often come straight down.

AGAIN COMES the season when we have to suffer in silence while people who really ought to know much better write it "Xmas." And they even have the brazen effrontery to say on their Christmas cards, "Merry Xmas to you." It's a horrible thing and it simply takes all the cheer out of Christmas time as far as we are concerned.

CONGRESSWOMAN RUTH OWEN dramatized her speech before a congressional committee in Washington yesterday in regard to making the Everglades into a national park by appearing with a five foot king snake wrapped around her neck. Bet lots of the statesmen looked madly at the chandelier to see if there was a green and polka dot elephant up there swinging by his hind legs.

MAKE THIS TEST YOURSELF!

Is the Linebook Equal to Shakespeare?
HERE'S HOW TO FIND OUT!

Take a page from any of your Shakespearean sets—Hamlet, Merry Wives, or Romeo and Juliet. We should worry; they're not our sets. Take it from a set bound in morocco, half calf, or sealskin, hand-tooled or turned on a lathe. It's all the same to us. Tear the page out from its rich binding; we don't care, it's your book, and put it on the scales and weigh it.

IT WILL WEIGH THE SAME AS A PAGE TAKEN FROM THE LINEBOOK OF 1930.

We do not ask you to take our word for this. Make this test for yourself. You'll find that other things being equal, the Linebook of 1930 weighs as much as Shakespeare. The Linebook of 1930. Ten cents over the counter, 12 cents by mail.

MUSSOLINI has sent out an order telling people to lay off sending him Christmas greetings. It's highly probable that the Duce has been getting those "Wishing You a Merry Xmas" things. That darned thing is simply going to make a bum out of Christmas if people don't quit it.

CLANG! CLANG! CLANG! All friends, business associates, fellow Rotarians, relations, everybody! Look out for one Harrison B. McKee, Export Dept. Harrison B. McKee, Export Dept., sent us eighteen cents for an autographed Linebook (when they're autographed they have to be sent in a sealed envelope and the postage costs eight cents). We sent said Harrison B. McKee, Export Dept., a Linebook, and yesterday it came back marked "Returned for Better Address," "Unclaimed," "Not Called For," "Too Late to Classify," "Give Street and Number," "Never Heard of Him," "Your Party Does Not Answer," and a lot more things. But if postoffice people can't find him, we will! So up, scouts, and get him!

THE SINGING HEART.

Beneath the moulding leaves and grass
I hear the voice of Spring;
Within my garden desolate
Are lilies burgeoning,
And in the garden of my dreams
The birds forever sing.

For why should I, who never knew
The bonds of dark despair,
Surrender to the Winter winds?
In gardens free and fair
My fancy soars on Summer wings

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 17, 1914.

LONDON.—A powerful German fleet slipped through the cordon of naval defense which has made the coast of England inviolable for centuries, bombarded the cities of Scarborough, Hartlepool, and Whitby on the Yorkshire coast, 365 miles from Helgoland, killed probably 150 civilians and soldiers, wounded 200 persons and destroyed an immense lot of property. The squadron which shelled Hartlepool was composed of two battle cruisers and an armored cruiser, while from four to six light cruisers attacked Scarborough and Whitby. The German squadron escaped practically unharmed. The organized pursuit that drew England's great ships from their stations at sea could not catch up with the fast raiders.

LONDON.—In view of the possibilities of an invasion London is to have a defense corps under the title "The National Guard," which is being raised under the presidency of the lord mayor. The Daily Telegraph in an editorial says concerning the bombarding of the coast: "The moral of the bombardment is that Germany has her back to the wall and cares not what the world may think of her manner of making war."

Other War News.—Vienna admits that 100,000 Austrians fell during the retreat from Servia. The allies, aided by the British and French warships, have pushed back the Germans in Belgium and have progressed as far as the sea to the northeast of Nieuport. They also have gained to the southeast of Ypres and along the railroad in the direction of La Bassee. Big German forces are massing on the Vistula for a third attempt to capture Warsaw.

DECEMBER 17, 1900.

LONDON.—A force of Boers recently surrounded a party of Brabant's Horse in the Zastron district and compelled 120 of them to surrender. Three of the British force were killed and fourteen wounded. Lord Kitchener is reported to have sent an urgent request to the government to send every available mounted man to South Africa. A shakeup in the war department as a result of the recent reverses is expected at once.

MALAGA. — The German man of war Gneisau, used as a training ship, was capsized and, wrecked while running into the harbor to escape a furious hurricane. From 100 to 150 members of the crew were drowned.

ROCKPORT, Ind. — Bud Rowland and Jim Henderson, two Negroes accused of murdering Hollie Simons, a barber, were lynched by a mob here.

CHICAGO.—While the family was at dinner porch climbers entered the upstairs bedrooms at the home of Mrs. Jane I. Tamblyn, 4136 Michigan avenue, and took jewelry and clothing to the value of more than $700. At the home of Dr. Lyman Ware, 4424 Drexel boulevard, while the family was at supper, burglars carried away jewelry valued at $300.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 17, 1880.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The American Woman's Suffrage association in convention here received encouraging reports from seventeen state societies. A resolution was adopted commemorative of the services of Lucretia Mott, Lydia Maria Child and Nathanial White. These officers were elected: President, Dr. Mary A. Thomas of Indiana, and chairman of the executive committee, Lucy Stone.

LONDON.—It is stated that there was a painful scene between Queen Victoria and Mr. Gladstone at Windsor over the Irish question, her majesty urging the premier very decidedly to resort at once to force and crush the disorder in Ireland.

CHICAGO.—The seventeenth anniversary meeting of the inmates, graduates and friends of the Washingtonian Home was held at the institution, with about 450 persons present. With Superintendent Wilkins on the platform were the Rev. Mr. Collins of Geneseo, Ill.; George M. Case, Esq.; Emery A. Storrs, the Hon. A. L. Morrison, and E. B. Sherman. George Vincent, a graduate of the home, delivered an address of welcome. During the year 477 persons were admitted. The average time of the inmates in the home was 48½ days and their ages ranged from 18 to 70.

PRESERVE THE LAKE FRONT.

Gary, Ind., Dec. 15.—I am a Hoosier by environment, a woman, also a young one; so perhaps I am not quite qualified to speak. But by birth I am a Chicagoan, and even if I were not, that strange Chicago patriotism that millions of us of the Chicago region feel, would stir me to rebellion against the proposed plan of filling in the lake front.

Hundreds of times I have driven north toward that magic skyline looming up almost from the water's edge, and I have never yet failed to experience the "outer drive" thrill. To fill in the baylike curve of the lake between the Shedd aquarium and the river that gives Chicago that rare distinction which all cities above which are built on great waters would be to put us in a class with the inland cities.

In summer the blueness of that bend of the lake rivals in color the tropical waters of the West Indies, and with the picturesque yachts anchored there Chicago is even more akin to the port cities of the world. But with her boundless horizon she may claim that kinship above all others.

Let there be more extensive parks in other areas where they will benefit the overcrowded districts. Chicago's front yard is perfect. Now start on the back yard. M. V.

BRIEF FOR THE DEFENSE.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—More than once have I noticed the articles on the disorder of Tilden boys. I think it is unfair to we Tildenites and our mothers, to think that she sends us to school only to be criticized by pessimistic people. If these pessimist wish to see Tilden boys act perfectly, come to 47th street at Union avenue at 3 o'clock. Tilden High school has the best street car loading system in the city. It is lead by the R. O. T. C. officers of the school.

Compare Tilden Tech with other technical schools, for instance, Lucy Flower. Everywhere you go you will find some discourteous people. So, therefore I don't think it is fair to blame over 3,500 boys for the actions of two or three. —HAROLD SMITH.

ENTANGLEMENTS.

Oconomowoc, Wis., Dec. 14. — It is amazing to see how those who oppose having the United States join the world court keep on quoting Washington's address where he refers to foreign entanglements. Don't they know that the world has changed since 1797? The United States has closer business and social relations with every nation in that court than New Hampshire had with North Carolina when that address was written. Florida, Texas, and every state west of the Mississippi were then "foreign." If you go back to Washington's time you should beware of "entanglements" with them. This is 1930. H. H. PARKER.

OPERA IN ENGLISH.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—What a farce was in the opera house on Wednesday night last. Imagine an American opera, "Camille," sung in French! How utterly preposterous! Now musical Europe will know decidedly that Americans are a people who are easily satisfied and fooled. I am positive if Samuel Insull would discard his ideas about opera in the vernacular, and give operas like "Otello," "Aida," etc., in English, the new patrons gained would be great in number. J. BALKIN.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHING.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—I have a daughter in one of the prominent high schools of this city. I am amazed and worried at what I hear from her and her friends of the methods employed and type of scholarship represented by the teachers. This is not written in any spiteful vein, as I have had no encounter with any of them.

Is it the province of a public school teacher, for instance, to spend practically half of the period allotted for a definite subject in propaganda for a spiritualistic cult in which she believes? Is such a so-called instructor of the young to interpret a knock in the radiator as some one in the spirit world calling to her or some pupil in the room? Another teacher spends most of the class time relating her family history, her likes or dislikes of this, that and the other thing.

In another classroom the children are invited at times to ask questions. Upon making such inquiries something like this always happens, Teacher, loudly: "Why, any dunce would know that. Children, tell this silly boy so and so. I'm sure you are none of you as stupid as to ask such a question." This happened to the son of one of my friends, a very inquisitive and promising boy.

There are many other instances which could be cited from this school showing how our children's minds are mangled, insulted, and their most precious time worse than wasted. Many of these teachers, it is true, are worn out with long years of teaching and should be on the retired list. Many of them should never have become teachers, having absolutely no insight into the psychology of children. Hardly any of the women seem to realize what an effect personal appearance has on children, and that a new dress occasionally and an up-to-date headdress and hat helps to create atmosphere. Is there any teacher so poorly paid that she must wear the same dress season after season?

PARENT.

THE JOYS OF THE FREE FLOP.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—No sane man with a job and room is going to buck the breadlines and free flops, as suggested by your correspondent, unless necessary. Go through the red tape, get out at 5 a. m. to roam the streets all day, likewise Sundays? It isn't reasonable.

Now, I am not a resident of the west side, nor ever have I been, but I do happen to know a little of the conditions of which I speak.

MRS. WILLIAM K. BARROW.

STADIUM ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—I have been attending sporting events at the Chicago Stadium for the last year and a half, but have yet to attend an event at which the announcements made over the public address system now installed can be distinctly heard by the audience. It is nothing more than a pain in the ears to sit, listen, and attempt to determine what the announcer is trying to convey to his paying public. T. B. COMAS.

THE BIG LOOP BANK DIRECTOR.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—What has become of the big loop bank director whom Major Thompson offered to name as Charles V. Barrett's accuser? Mr. Barrett very properly asked for the name. Like many another innocent bystander I have been waiting several weeks for Big Bill to make good. Not only Mr. Barrett but the public is entitled to a showdown.

SPANISH GUARDS SHOOT CHILDREN IN REVOLT ZONE

Tribune Writer Describes Cruelty He Witnessed.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.
[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BARCELONA, Spain, Dec. 16.—I have just traversed the whole zone involved in the Jaca uprising of last week, motoring straight across the country through the province of Aragon from San Sebastion by way of Pamplona to Saragossa and Juesca and thence here.

I visited the point on the main road between Jaca and Huesca where the battle was fought between the rebels and loyalist troops, and also the scene of the execution of two insurgent officers, Capt. Fernyn Galan and Capt. Garcia Hernandez, by a firing squad from the Saragossa garrison.

The bodies of the two officers were still lying beside the road, covered by army cloaks, awaiting burial as I passed.

Guards Kill Two Children.

Squads of mounted civil guards patrolled the roads, ordering wandering peasants attracted by the shooting back to their farms. I saw a girl of about 16 and a lad of 17 trudging along the road. Civil guards ordered them home and they, terror stricken, misunderstood. I saw the gendarmes whip out their carbines from long holsters beside their saddles and open fire point blank. The two children fell dead.

I asked my Spanish companion how they could get away with that, and he explained that they would merely indicate that they fired in self-defense.

An hour later a couple of other civil guards shot down two peasants a little the worse off from red wine, who insisted on plodding along the road toward Huesca instead of returning to their fields as ordered. The bodies were left along the roadside, the gendarmes merely notifying the town officials in the next community ahead as they rode northward.

Ride Into Village Crowds.

The squads of mounted civil guards, who did the real work of suppressing the uprising, rode squarely into the villagers like a charge of cavalry whenever they reached a community where the townspeople had assembled to see the excitement, and I just escaped being trampled down a couple of times by ducking into doorways. The less active populace was ridden down and badly injured. There were screams of pain and fright as the troopers dashed by.

The civil guards surprised several demonstrations in villages near Jaca where the townspeople were celebrating what they believed to be the victory of the revolution and the overturning of the monarchy. They thought everything had been fixed when the little insurgent column passed them going southward from Jaca.

Celebrate with Bonfires.

Big bonfires had been lit by the peasants to commemorate the victory. The mounted police rode in and scattered them right and left, making many arrests.

The loyalist troops did not participate in putting down the uprising after defeating the Jaca insurgents, leaving the mopping up and dirty work to the professional national police, who are renowned as "tough guys."

It was explained that the regular army has no stomach for this sort of thing and refuses to avenge itself on the civilian population. It was pointed out that it was necessary for the civil guards to strike terror into the hearts of the peasants if they wished to hold them in subjection through fear.

Franco Tells His Story.

[Copyright: 1930: By the Associated Press.]

MAFRA, Portugal, Dec. 16.—Ramon Franco, Spain's tempestuous young trans-Atlantic aviator, came into Portugal on the run with shrapnel bursting about him and a squadron of army planes on his tail, but he left behind none of the blazing emotion which led him yesterday into a brief revolt against the Spanish throne.

Today he sat in the officers' quarters of the Alverca airdrome, his fervor unabated and his round face grave, talking about what led up to the Spanish revolution and explaining why it failed.

Calls Self a Patriot.

"They probably think of me," he said, waving his cigaret in the general direction of Spain, "as an exiled rebel. I tell you I am a patriot, fighting for the freedom of my country. Who says the revolt in Spain is something started by the communists is lying.

"If Spain could be free under King Alfonso tomorrow I would be a monarchist. We are not fighting against the king. We are fighting for the freedom of Spain.

"If things had gone on schedule I would not be here now. I am not the only one in Spain who will fight tyranny. There are others who make it a point of life and death to rid the Spanish people of cruel oppression, of the aristocracy, of the clergy, of the capitalists, who ride the nation now.

RIOTS GRIP SPAIN; TROOPS BATTLE MOBS OF REBELS

Guns Guard Main Streets in Big Cities.

naires are termed, has aroused the regular army men, who consider their loyalty and honor impugned. Two units of legionnaires arrived in Valencia tonight.

The government, however, believes that the legionnaires, recruited from the criminal classes and the scum of the Mediterranean ports, are dependable to execute orders and fire on civilians if trouble breaks out, whereas regular Spanish soldiers might refuse to aim at their countrymen.

According to information reaching Peripignan it seems that the revolutionary movement has spread to the Balearic islands, where heavy forces of police were called out to suppress a Socialist meeting at Palma. A Republican meeting was also called off at Tarragon. Martial law was proclaimed throughout the islands.

French authorities here tonight declared that special measures are being taken in case King Alfonso is forced to take refuge in France. Several platoons of French gendarmes are massed along the frontier to disarm revolutionists attempting to cross the border into French territory.

General Strike Spreading.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Dec. 16.—Innumerable troops and civil guardsmen patrolled the streets of Madrid today, but otherwise the capital had returned to normal after yesterday's aerial revolt.

With the country in the iron grip of martial law, the situation caused by the general strikes, however, is still disquieting. The provinces in the capitals of which there are general strikes, according to an official note, are Coruna, Huelva, Jaen, Logrono, Navarro, Santander, Viscaya and Zaragosela. There are strikes, which are not general, in the provinces of Cordoba, Granada, Lerida and Seville. On the other hand, workers have returned to their jobs in Leon, Salamanca and Zamora.

There are reports of disturbances at the Rio Ainto mines, where a general strike is in progress.

No One Allowed to Leave City.

No one is allowed to leave any city in Spain without police permission, and crowds of Spaniards waited outside the police commissioner's office here all day trying to get permits. Foreigners bearing valid passports experience no difficulty if they leave by train, but secret agents on the cars are keeping sharp lookout for agitators.

A court martial has been named at Cuatro Vientos air field, where Maj. Ramon Franco led his airplane revolt yesterday. The court will try those captured in the attempt and the death penalty will be sought for some.

A mob at Gijon yesterday attacked a church, smashing windows, images and confessional boxes. One rioter was killed.

Premier Berenguer went to bed today with tonsilitis, fever and exhaustion due to days and nights of unremitting work. His physicians announced tonight that he had a temperature of 102.5.

Hectic Days.. Sleepless Nights..

"NERVES" All Tired Out

Today, the pace of modern life is so fast, we all live under a greater strain than in years gone by. The result is we are frequently afflicted with attacks of "NERVES"—jumpy, jangled "NERVES." Each hectic day—each sleepless night adds another "jump" to our overtaxed nervous systems.

No wonder Dr. Miles' Effervescent NERVINE Tablets are being used by thousands of nervous people. You drop one of these harmless tablets into a glass of water and watch it bubble up. Then take the sparkling drink, and you soon feel the soothing, quieting relief it brings to overwrought "NERVES."

Does Your Automobile Insurance Policy Say What YOU Think it Does?

Most motorists believe that if their car should be burned or stolen, their insurance company will pay them the amount stated in the policy. The fact is, however, that the amount named in the policy is a valuation used to determine the cost of the insurance, the rate for fire and theft insurance being a certain price per hundred dollars of valuation.

The policy says that in the event of a total loss you will receive an amount not to exceed the actual loss sustained, the settlement to be agreed upon by you and the adjuster for the insurance company. If you fail to agree, the claim will be arbitrated. This is the usual policy, which is known in the insurance world as the "non valued" form.

Then there is the "valued form" policy. Under the terms of this policy you are paid the face value of the policy, the amount on which you have paid premium, should you suffer a total loss.

The Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Chicago Motor Club issues a VALUED FORM POLICY.

This policy also covers loss of spare tires and accessories, without additional charge.

Subscribers who have claims deal directly with the home office. There is no delay in waiting for authorization for payment of a claim. Red tape forms no part of the organization. It is not necessary for the motorist insured with the "exchange" to wait for the decision of a "higher up" in a far distant city. Home office service makes for speedy settlements.

During 1929 the Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Chicago Motor Club sold automobile insurance amounting to $3,894,706.04, which is more than any other company, stock, mutual or reciprocal, writes in Illinois. During the year the "exchange" returned cash savings to subscribers amounting to $711,332.11. This service, as well as other services rendered, is available only to members of the club. The policy issued covers you anywhere in the United States or Canada.

Other services of the club are: Free mechanical first aid and towing service at any hour of the day or night, home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed; accident prevention work which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children, by means of safety posters and by fostering schoolboy patrols; travel service, which provides you with maps, logs and the most complete and up to the minute advice on road conditions; and bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of one hundred dollars is demanded.

11 MORE BANKS CLOSE DOORS IN NORTH CAROLINA

Two More Shutdowns in Rural Illinois.

Four banks in Gaston county, four in the Asheville area of western North Carolina, one in Cleveland county, one in Johnston county, and one in Bertie county shut their doors.

The First National bank of Gastonia was the largest of the 11, with deposits of $3,066,072 on Sept. 24.

The Peoples bank of Waco, in Cleveland county, with a capital of $5,000 and resources of $111,338, shut its doors.

The Bank of Aulander in Bertie county, with capital of $80,125 and resources of $385,896.95, also did not open.

Three Small Banks Close.

The other three Gaston banks, the Gaston Loan and Trust company of Gastonia, the Bank of Dallas, and the Peoples bank of West Gastonia were comparatively small institutions. The combined deposits totaled $270,052.84.

Closing of the Bank of Franklin, in Macon county, left that town without a financial institution. The bank's deposits were listed at $416,800. The Citizens' bank, which merged with the Franklin last month, had deposits of $125,000.

The Bank of Swannanoa, with deposits of $182,000, and the Bank of Clyde, with deposits of $105,000, failed to open after withstanding runs yesterday.

The Bank of Fletcher, in Henderson county, closed in the face of heavy withdrawals after remaining open an hour and a half. Its deposits were listed at $103,500.

Two in South Carolina.

York, S. C., Dec. 16.—(AP)—The Bank of Clover, York county, closed its doors today.

J. Lee Robinson, president of the First National bank of Gastonia, which failed to open this morning, is also president of the Clover institution. The bank had resources of about $650,000.

Golconda Bank Closes.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Closing of the Pope County State bank at Golconda for examination and adjustment was announced today by State Auditor Oscar Nelson. The bank was capitalized at $50,000. The first of this year the bank had total deposits of $314,216.41. Loans totaled $244,286.79.

Another Illinois Bank.

Paris, Ill., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Following a heavy run last week the First National bank of Kansas, Ill., this morning failed to open its doors for business. The bank was capitalized at $50,000.

Kentucky Bank Reopens.

Fulton, Ky., Dec. 16.—(AP)—The Farmers bank, which closed here Nov. 26 because of heavy withdrawals, reopened today with approval of the state banking department. Depositors have agreed to a deferred payment plan to conserve assets but Ghristmas savings will be distributed immediately. The bank has deposits of $395,000.

W. Virginia Bank Closes.

Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 16.—(AP)—The state department of banking today announced the closing of the Bank of Hillsboro, in Pocahontas county. The bank on Sept. 24 had capital stock of $25,000. Its resources were $205,748.72 and its deposits totaled $127,746.

And Another.

Fairmount, W. Va., Dec. 16.—(AP)—The Union National Bank of Fairmount closed its doors today. Inability to liquidate assets rapidly enough to meet demands for withdrawals was given as the cause for the closing.

One in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 16.—(AP)—The closing of the State Bank of Niobrara, at Niobrara, Neb., today was announced here by the state department of trade and commerce. The bank had deposits of approximately $275,000.

One in Salt Lake.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The Columbia Trust company of this city was placed in the hands of the state banking department today. Frank B. Cook, said:

"The bank is not insolvent, having 20 per cent reserve at the close of business Monday, and it is the opinion of the board that every depositor will be paid in full. Total deposits are $718,544.24. Total assets are $1,175,590.98."

SAVED FROM DEATH BY ROBBER.

James Dillon, 32 years old, 2950 North Lyndale avenue, was saved from death yesterday by a robber. Dillon, attendant at a filling station at 4254 South Western avenue, was kidnaped by two men. After robbing him of $67, one of them, drunk, was about to shoot Dillon when the other wrenched the pistol away from him.

SONS WHO LEFT FATHER IN JAIL GET 1 TO 5 YEARS

Hyman Goldman, 68 years old, has spent the last four months a prisoner in the county jail while his four sons indicted with him on charges of swindling clients by means of fake mortgage deals, have been at liberty on bonds. Judge Joseph Sabath in the Criminal court yesterday took this into consideration, he said, when he sentenced the father to one day in the Bridewell and a fine of $1,500 and sentenced the four sons to an indeterminate term of one to five years each in the penitentiary.

The Goldmans operated the Goldman Bond and Mortgage company, 3222 West Roosevelt road. Assistant State's Attorneys George Lavin and Wilkie Ham charge that they obtained more than $250,000 by the fake mortgage system.

HINDU, MOSLEM CHIEFS MEET TO SEEK PEACE PACT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Renewed hope of agreement between the Hindus and the Moslems attending the round table conference on India was aroused today through the resumption of negotiations between the communal leaders, while all the delegates, sitting as a committee of the whole, took up the reports of three sub-committees on Burma, provincial constitutions, and federal structure.

Prime Minister MacDonald, who presided at the session, emphasized that the reports were not final decisions of the conference, but only represented a part of the raw material which will be used in the final construction of India's constitution.

Burmese Fight Separation.

Burmese opposition to a separation of Burma from India is arising unexpectedly, but telegrams of protest to the delegates are discredited by a majority of them as the voice of the extremist minority. The main theme of the committee was that it did not want anything inferior to the status ultimately granted India itself.

The business committee meeting tomorrow is expected to set up sub-committees on the northwest frontier province, on franchise for both men and women, and on defense, which will concern chiefly the Indianization of the army.

Special Committee Necessary.

A special sub-committee for the North West Frontier province is necessary due to the peculiar political conditions of these territories in relation to the defense of India. For this reason the committee will meet jointly with that assigned to study national defense.

The Arab is important on a can

of Hills Bros Coffee

Chocolates dipped by bulk methods can't compare with those dipped one at a time. And bulk-roasted coffee can never compare with Hills Bros. Coffee roasted a few pounds at a time.

FRESH from the original vacuum pack. EASILY opened with the key. LOOK for the Arab on the can.

IF YOU see the Arab on a can of coffee, it's Hills Bros. Coffee. And that's the coffee to buy. For it is roasted a few pounds at a time—never in bulk—by Hills Bros.' patented, continuous process — Controlled Roasting. No other roasting method can produce such delicious, abundant flavor.

When you open a can of Hills Bros. Coffee it is just as fresh as when it came from the roasters. The vacuum can in which Hills Bros. Coffee is sold has all the air removed at the time of packing. By such complete exclusion of air, there is no chance for the rare flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee to be changed. No ordinary air-tight tin will keep coffee fresh.

Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

MEDICAL SOCIETY SEEKS FACTS ON NEW CLINIC PLAN

Dr. N. S. Davis, secretary of the Chicago Medical society, stated yesterday that Dr. Charles R. Wiley, president of the newly formed United Medical Service corporation, will be invited to appear before the public relations committee of the society to explain the plan of his group to reduce medical fees through the formation of a clinic to serve persons of moderate means.

Dr. Davis' comment indicated that the attitude of the society would be one of watchful waiting, that the society would not express an opinion until it had had opportunity to watch the new clinic in operation.

"If the new group goes into the cut rate business we probably won't object so long as it is conducted ethically," said Dr. Davis. "I think this group has been listening to a glib salesman, but I don't think the salesman has anything to sell.

"If you read the articles of incorporation for the Illinois Public Health institute you will find that they sound like the articles of incorporation for the new group."

"Does that indicate that the society's attitude toward the United Medical Service will be the same as the attitude it has maintained toward the Public Health institute?" Dr. Davis was asked.

"Well, we probably won't object unless they advertise," he replied.

Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, president of the Illinois Social Hygiene league and leader in the movement for low cost medical care, hailed the new plan as the first step toward bringing the best of medical service within the reach of every one.

POINCARE RESTS EASIER; FRIENDS CALL AT HOME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 16.—Physicians late tonight officially announced that the condition of Raymond Poincare, former president and premier, was "slightly improved." Dr. Louis Boidin, the aged statesman's personal physician and companion, declared that he has no fever and that his pulse is normal.

All day long a procession of notables of the political, diplomatic, and social worlds called at the Poincare home to pay their respects. They left cards and inscribed their names in a big book placed in the vestibule for that purpose. M. Poincare occupies a bedroom in the rear of the house facing a small garden, and only Dr. Boidin, his wife, and a veteran man servant are allowed to see him.

The announcement of the serious illness of Marshal Joffre, who resides in a suburb, was made today.

Attorney Cornelius J. Harrington, counsel for Mrs. Lingle, was engaged in the trial of a case in court and was unable to proceed. PRESIDENT OF DEFUNCT BOND HOUSE QUIZZED

Albert W. Cohn, president of the defunct Robert S. Strauss & Co. investment house at 105 West Monroe street, returned to Chicago yesterday from New York City, where he was found by Attorneys Michael Gesas and Louis Cohen, representing Sam Howard, receiver in bankruptcy.

Cohn was questioned before Referee in Bankruptcy Garfield Charles about the financial activities of his concern, in which hundreds of investors allegedly lost more than $2,000,000. He declared he put $400,000 of his personal fortune into the company, trying to save it. He promised to return $5,000 withdrawn from the company at the time involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were begun.

Cohn said he went to New York to earn a living and had intended to return here voluntarily to reorganize the investment concern. Worthless "gold notes" of the company were exchanged for first mortgage real estate bonds and $1,000,000 worth of stock was sold without authorization of the secretary of state, according to the receiver.

Charles Collins' News and Reviews of the Theater

By Royal Command

BY DORNFORD YATES

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife, Leonie, former grand duchess of Reichtenburg, are visitor at their estate near Littal, in Austria, by George Hanbury. A telegram arrives from Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, stating that she dare not come. Prince Paul, ruler of Reichtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and was incensed at her marriage to Chandos. Fearing for Marya's safety, because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants, Bell and Rowley, depart for Virgil, capital city of Reichtenburg, where Marya resides. Because of the enmity of the prince they must enter the country in stealth. They drive to the frontier and leave Rowley with the car at a farm and proceed by foot. A peasant, named Ramon, whom they befriend, leads them over the border by a secret path. They reach the home of Marya unseen, and learn from her that she sent no message and that she plans to drive to Austria that night. Realizing the telegram was a ruse to lure them within the prince's domain, they are preparing to flee with Marya, when the prince arrives. The men hold the prince and his servants at point of gun and escape in the royal car. They find the border so closely guarded that hope of crossing is abandoned.

Chandos remembers Ramon, who lives in the nearby town of Gola. They seek him for aid. He agrees to hide Marya and Carol, her trusted servant, in his house. Chandos and Hanbury join a traveling circus, where they feel fairly safe from discovery. They are planning to desert the circus and return to Gola, when Carol reaches them with a car to take them to Bariche, across the border, where he says Marya is waiting. They recognize the car as Grieg's, the chief of police. Arrived at the inn in Bariche they receive another message from Marya, stating that she is to be pardoned, on condition that she remain in Reichtenburg, and that she does not communicate with them, and that theey must never enter the country again.

Realizing that Marya, endeavoring to save them, has made an arrangement with Grieg, by which they could never consent, they return and attempt to cross the border at a different point. Hanbury and Rowley pass, but Chandos is apprehended and taken to jail. Chandos identifies himself to the inspector and proves that Grieg has betrayed his trust. Grieg, who has learned of the arrest, arrives. He orders two detectives from Virgil back to prepare a cell for Chandos and takes his prisoner alone in his car.

Chandos realizes Grieg intends to kill him and, although handcuffed, manages to reach his own gun and prevents Grieg from carrying out his intent. Hanbury and Rowley, hearing their friend's plight, post themselves along the road and hold up the chief's car and capture it. Hanbury relates to Chandos how they managed the rescue.

INSTALLMENT XXI.
CAPTOR MADE CAPTIVE.

"Well, we got the wagon out of the way. As we collapsed, Grieg's car went by—a blue streak. As soon as I recovered consciousness I perceived the miracle. How was it we had been able to move the wagon in time? There was only one explanation. Between the time when we had first heard Grieg's car and the moment at which it went by, that car must have stopped on the road. Must.

"We mounted and rode on slowly. I didn't care if I never saw the wagon again. Two minutes later we found the level crossing.

"After that it was easy enough. We let the detectives go by and waited for Grieg. There was a sack all ready by the side of the gate. We made it into a sandbag, and then, one after the other, we knocked the chauffeurs out. I'd no idea what a nice clean job you can do with a couple of pounds of grit. Rowley seemed to know all about it. You've only got to find your length."

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

"Up to now they've looked for three men; very soon they will be looking for four. I think that's indisputable. Nobody—not even a prince—likes being double crossed. I imagine, therefore, that if you could have your way you'd put yourself over the border as quick as you could. Very well. Help us to what we want and we'll do our best to get you out with us."

Grieg laughed an unpleasant laugh.

"What's the alternative?" he said.

"We see that you don't get out. No leaving you here."

For a moment Grieg said nothing, but sat with his eyes on the road and his underlip caught in his teeth. Then:

"I suppose I can trust you," he said.

"I suppose so," said I.

The fellow protested, of course, and when we proposed to gag him he fought like a beast.

"All right," said Grieg. "Carry on."

"Where's Mme. Dresden?" said I.

"At the Lessing Strasse," said Grieg.

"Why d'you say that?"

"Is she under arrest?" said George.

"No."

"But confined to her house?"

"No. The police are withdrawn."

"Why?"

Grieg shrugged his shoulders.

"She told you she was to be pardoned. It was perfectly true. And the moment that she was pardoned the police were withdrawn."

"Why was she pardoned?"

Grieg laughed again.

"It's very simple," he said. "I found her on Saturday morning, a day and a half ago. I had authority to offer her a free pardon if she would say where you were. At first she didn't see her way to—to disclosure; but after twenty-four hours we came to terms. She said you were with the circus, and when the police saw Reubens they found she had spoken the truth. By the time they got there, of course, the birds had flown. But that wasn't my baby's fault. She'd done her half of the bargain, and so her pardon holds."

"You've deliberately represented that, in order to save herself, the countess betrayed her friends," said George thickly.

"Naturally," said Grieg, yawning.

"When all the time the truth is that, in order to save her friends, she betrayed herself."

"Of course," Grieg said, "you can put it however you please."

I heard George draw in his breath. When he spoke again his voice was a little unsteady—a very rare thing.

"You said that you 'came to terms.' What were those filthy terms?"

"O, go to hell," said Grieg shortly. "You asked where she was and I've told you and I've given chapter and verse for all that I've said. If you want to get out of the country I shouldn't stand slobbering there."

George Hanbury stood very still.

"The temptation to kill you," he said, "is almost too strong. I know we've passed our word, but I shouldn't try us too far. We're only human, you know, and I've known a rope that was warranted snap in two."

Grieg laughed again, and since the man's demeanor was not to be borne, I laid hold of George's arm and we turned away.

We found no tools in the car with which my wrists could be freed, but there was a hank of cord with which to bind those of Grieg.

The fellow protested, of course, and when we proposed to gag him, he fought like a beast. This, I confess, to our liking, for we had been itching for an excuse for violence and took a grim delight in subduing his energy.

When it was done——

"It isn't that we don't trust you," said George, "but from what we know of you we think that you might forget. You see, if you were the means of getting us caught in Vigil, they might write off your shortcomings; and that wouldn't suit our book. And now will you enter the carriage? Or shall we kick you in?"

A moment later we were once more aboard the car, which Rowley was fairly hitting over the crest of a hill.

George sat in front with Rowley, and because of my handcuffs I sat with him, with Grieg.

We went so fast that though we did not pass the detectives, by the time we came to Vigil we must have been close on their heels and as we turned into the peaceful Lessing Strasse I heard some clock striking one.

The street was dimly lighted, for though there were lamps enough, the pleasant burden of the lime trees obscured their light, and though the place seemed to be empty it might have been hiding a regiment.

As the car came to rest before Mme. Dresden's house three men stepped out of the shadows and touched their hats.

For the tenth of a second I think my heart stood still.

Then Grieg flung himself forward, making a rattling noise.

I had him by the throat in an instant and must near have broken his back, for I forced his head into the corner from which he had sprung and threw myself on his body to keep him from using his feet.

I heard George whispering hoarsely.

"Governor's asleep," he said. "I believe he's come for the countess."

"Let her go, Rowley," says George, as cool as you please.

He spoke in English, for Rowley knew no German; but the change of tone was so obvious that nothing was left, I fancy, for speech to betray. Still, it was obvious, it was swift.

As the car leaped forward one of the police gave a cry, but, if he had smelt the truth, he had smelt it too late, and the chance was gone before his suspicions had set.

We swept up the street like a squall, and if they took any action I do not know what it was. Indeed, the whole matter was like an "in and out" jump. And had it been midnight instead of one o'clock, the clock which we had heard striking as we came into the street might well have been still striking as we went out.

I MEASURED UP THE GATE, SKEEZIX, AN' MISTER AVERY WAS RIGHT. OUR HOUSE WAS TOO WIDE TO GO OUT.
LET ME THINK.
LOOK HERE, SPUD. THE TWO-BY-FOUR STRINGERS RUN PAST THIS POST TO THE POSTS ON EACH SIDE. ALL WE'VE GOT TO DO IS LOOSEN THIS FROM THE FENCE AN' LOOSEN IT IN THE GROUND.
WE'LL UNFASTEN A COUPLE NAILS IN EACH END OF THE STRINGERS AN' SWING THIS PIECE O' FENCE RIGHT AROUND.
THEN WE'LL PULL UP THE POST AN' MOVE OUT. WE'LL GET EVERYTHING ALL SET AN' CAN DO IT AN' HAVE IT FIXED AGAIN IN A JIFFY.

Good Morning!

KIND—Farce comedy.

DIRECTION—Average.

PHOTOGRAPHY—Satisfactory.

SOUND—Ditto.

DIALOGUE—Absurd. But then it's supposed to be.

ACTING—Good enough as a whole. Laura Lee, who tries to be like Marjorie White is pretty hard to take.

AUDIENCE APPEAL—Considerable, for those who laugh easily. Joe Brown and his mouth were causing considerable merriment in the little Orpheum yesterday afternoon.

"ROGUE OF THE RIO GRANDE."

Directed by Spencer Gordon Bennett.
Presented at the Rialto theater.

THE CAST.

El Malo.....José Bohr
Pedro.....Raymond Hatton
Carmita.....Myrna Loy
Dolores.....Carmelita Geraghty
Sheriff Rankin.....William Miller
Seth, the Mayor.....Gene Morgan
Tango Dancer.....William K. Burt
Big Bertha.....Florence Dudley

KIND—Comedy. Take-off on such pictures as "Romance of the Rio Grande," "The Arizona Kid," and "The Bad Man."

QUALITY—Good.

DIRECTION—Done with a twinkle.

PHOTOGRAPHY—All right.

ACTING—Commendable. José Bohr [where did HE come from?] has excellently captured the manner and liquidly lethal vocal inflections of Warner Baxter and Walter Huston, those other "straight" portrayers of soft speaking, swift shooting Robin Hoods of the west. Myrna Loy as the girl in the case is a joy. Raymond Hatton fulfills well his duties as Man Friday to the bandit El Malo, whose chief concern during the picture's action is that nobody seems to think him as handsome or as dangerous as he really is.

DIALOGUE—Fairly droll and reasonably effective.

SOUND—Satisfactory.

Parents of Champion Senn Bandsmen Want City to Pay

Parents of the 125 members of the national championship Senn High school band, led by Herman B. Myer, manager of the Senn Band Parents' association, have started a movement to have the city pay the cost of competition in future national band events.

The Senn band for the last two years has won the city, state and national championships. According to Myer, parents of the 125 players have had to raise $10,000 each year to pay the cost of sending them to other cities for the trials. They seek an appropriation either from the school board or the city council.

The association contends the band is an asset both to the school and the city and that the parents should not have to bear the entire expense. The Senn band and Glee club will give a concert tonight at Orchestra hall to raise funds to buy instruments for band members who cannot buy their own.

Huxley Calls Darwin Theory Fully Proved

Julian to Talk Again at Evanston Tonight.

Prof. Julian Huxley of King's college, London, who is in Chicago to deliver a series of lectures on evolution, last night addressed an overflow audience at Harris hall, Northwestern university's Evanston campus.

Prof. Huxley is a grandson of the late Thomas Henry Huxley, who won the nickname of Darwin's Bulldog by staunch defense of Charles Darwin's theory of evolution by "natural selection" and "survival of the fittest." Prof. Huxley also is a brother of Aldous Huxley, novelist. He is widely known as a teacher, scholar, lecturer and author.

Last night's discussion of "Evolution" was introductory to a discussion of "Heredity and Development," tonight, and "Biology and the Human Outlook" tomorrow night. It was estimated that more were turned away last night then could be admitted to the hall.

Prof. Huxley traced the history of the earth from the birth of the sun down to the famous "monkey trial" of John T. Scopes in Tennessee. He declared that the human embroy itself was evidence of the ascent of man from lower animals. "The gill slits and the large tail with which the embryo is equipped would be senseless in the scheme of creation," he declared, "unless at some time in the remote past they were essential to the life of man."

"The late William Jennings Bryan," he added, "had a tail at one stage of his life, though he would have liked to deny it."

The lecture was profusely illustrated Some slides showed the rudiments of hip joints and legs with which the whale was equipped before it began life in the sea, while others showed the hand like use of wings by which birds support themselves before they have grown feathers.

Prof. Huxley's chief conclusion was that all life, both plant and animal, is one and flows in a constant stream.

Thirty years ago, he said, there was wide difference of opinion among biologists concerning the theories of Darwin, due to the many great gaps in the evidence. But recent discoveries have filled them. He declared Darwin would "weep with joy" if he could see the records which science has assembled in support of his contentions.

Llamas and camels, Prof. Huxley said, originally were the same, but became differentiated when some of them crossed the Bering straits and moved down to South America, the two branches evolving along different lines.

"The horse," he said, "which can be traced without a break from his ancient ancestor, the three toed Eohippus, remains the most complete and classic example of evolution.

The chimpanzee was described as the nearest animal relation of the human race. Pictures of them showing familiar human facial expressions stirred the audience to prolonged laughter and applause.

Newport's New City Clerk Finds Washington Letter

Newport, R. I., Dec. 16.—(AP)—W. Norman Sayer, newly elected city clerk, inspected the recesses of the city hall vault today and found an original letter from George Washington, addressed to "the Freemen of the Town of Newport." Dated Aug. 19, 1790, it thanked them for hospitality on his first official visit as President. Historical records show that Washington was in Newport on Aug. 17, 1790.

MEET, AIDING WOUNDED UNDER FIRE, MARRIED YESTERDAY IN WEST

Los Angeles, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Kathleen Burke McLean, known in world war days as "The Angel of France," became the wife of Girard Van Barkaloo Hale here today.

The British war nurse, whose heroic work among the wounded earned her fame and decorations by many governments, chose the office of a friend, Judge Frank C. Collier, high in the city hall tower, for her marriage. Only three friends were present. The simple ceremony was performd by Judge Collier.

Hale, a mural painter, is a direct descendant of Stephen Girard, Philadelphia merchant of the early days of the United States, and the old New York Dutch family, Van Barkaloo. He is 44 and his bride 43.

Tragedy followed Mrs. Hale's previous marriages. Frederick Peabody to whom she was married in 1920, died at Santa Barbara, Cal., in 1927. Two years later she married Col. John McLean, mining engineer, but he was injured in an automobile accident. He died nine days after their wedding.

The Hales first met a Soissons during a heavy bombardment in Jan, 1918. He was in the American field ambulance service and decorated three times by the French government for bravery. Years later they met again on an archaeological expedition in Peru and their friendship was renewed.

Mrs. Hale, then Kathleen Burke, was the first woman permitted by France to enter Verdun during the siege and she also was the first woman to enter British trenches. Later she spoke before the New York stock exchange and raised $890,000 in a single speech.

THE STAGE

THE stage direction of Tchekhov's "The Sea Gull," which will follow "Hay Fever" at the Goodman theater early in January, has been assigned to Maurice Gnesin, head of the Goodman's school of drama. He has made a new translation of the play, aiming at idiomatic English dialogue. His prompt book, he says, is Tchekhov translated in the style of Turgenev.

Mr. Gnesin is well equipped for the direction of this play. He is of Russian birth; he studied with the Moscow Art theater group, and worked with a Russian repertory company in New York. Before coming to the Goodman he was director of the Little theater of Duluth and head of the department of drama at the University of Denver.

Joe Smith and Charles Dale, co-stars with Alexander Carr in "Mendel, Inc.," at the Adelphi, are planning a reunion of the vaudeville team called the Avon Comedy Four, which they founded thirty years ago. They formed one-half of the quartet and had some fifteen partners in the other rôles during their long career in vaudeville. They hope to reassemble the crew for a dinner during the holidays. . . . Incidentally, "Mendel, Inc." has changed its matinée day for the rest of the run from Wednesday to Saturday.

William Hodge will put aside the Adam's apple whiskers of his rôle in "The Old Rascal" tomorrow night and will replace them with the luxuriant full beard of Santa Claus. The occasion will be the annual Christmas dinner of the advertising council of the Chicago Association of Commerce for the benefit of the Off the Street club. The ballroom of the Hotel Sherman will be the scene of Mr. Hodge's debut as Saint Nicholas. He promises to hand out gifts and pat children on the head like a regular member of the Santa Claus Mummers' union.

This seems to be a good season for the stage debuts of grandsons of the great. Fritz Leiber's company of Shakespeareans contains a grandson of William Jennings Bryan; and "Subway Express," at the Erlanger, boasts of a grandson of Edward Everett Hale, famous as the author of "The Man Without a Country." The grandson appears as the tough and casual motorman, and his name, off stage and on, is Edward Everett Hale III. Like Mr. Bryan's grandson, he is new at the game, but promising.

The Theater Guild's cast for "Much Ado About Nothing" will contain Joanna Roos, Morris Carnovsky, Moffatt Johnson, Edward Fielding, Arthur Hughes and Ernest Cossart. These, of course, in addition to the starlike Lynne Fontanne and Alfred Lunt, who will be the Beatrice and Benedick. . . . Miss Roos, remembered here from "Paris Bound" and "Blue Heaven," will also go into the cast of "Elizabeth the Queen," with which "Much Ado About Nothing" will alternate for the six weeks of its New York engagement.

*Noel Coward, author of the Goodman's "Hay Fever," will figure in next month's Broadway playbills. He will appear in his play, "Private Lives," with Gertrude Lawrence as associate, at the Times Square theater, opening Jan. 27. C. C.

Sidelights on Job Hunting at State Bureau

Briefless Lawyer Finds Client There.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A 24 year old man visited the Illinois Free Employment service at 116 North Dearborn street yesterday. Tears in his eyes, asked if there were nothing he could do. It was not a new experience for him. He first registered for a job there two months ago and since that time has had only a few days' work in all.

The Illinois Free Employment service coöperates with Sally Joy Brown of THE TRIBUNE in aiding unemployed. All persons who have jobs to offer may call Sally Joy Brown, who will turn them over to that agency.

The man, whose initials are H. T. M., is a high school graduate. On his registration card he has listed his last three jobs as that of timekeeper in a Milwaukee dry goods house, assembler with an electric company here and assembler with a utilities corporation in Chicago. But he applies for "general office work or handyman" and underneath the printed form line, "also willing to work as," he has written, "anything."

He lists his dependents as two. He explained that his wife, whom he married about a year ago, would give birth to a child soon.

"I wonder if it would be better for me to do away with myself. Some one would care for them," he told an official of the agency.

"Sometimes I can't forget that young fellow when I go home at night," said that official.

I. A. N., who lives in the 1600 block on North Irving street, read in THE TRIBUNE recently of a young attorney in serious straits. Long without clients and unable to find other work, he appealed to the Illinois Free Employment agency for any sort of job. Mr. N. called John Keane, superintendent of thte agency, and told him he had some legal work to be done, and asked him to send the lawyer without clients to see him.

Mr. J., the lawyer, later reported to the agency officials that he had obtained the legal work from Mr. N. and that he would make a little much needed money from it. The lawyer, incidentally, had been employed by several important companies in Chicago previous to the last six months.

Two other lawyers registered with the agency still are without work. M. D. L., one of them, says he knows carpentry and also is competent as a chauffeur.

"Some of the unmarried men are in bad shape," Mr. Keane said. "One for instance, was here this morning One of our men talked with him. He said he had had only two meals in four days. It was almost impossible for him to get any sort of work, because he was single, he said. Everyone he interviewed thought a married man needed a job worse. Our man gave him a dollar. The man left, saying a cup of coffee and a doughnut would put new life in him."

During the week ending Dec. 13, out of 4,809 men who registered with the agency, 1,675 were placed. Of 1,227 women, 493 were placed, Mr. Keane said. The clerical jobs were found for only four men who applied.

Dr. Cadman's Ruling Sends Barthelmess Child to Mother

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Eight year old Mary Hay, daughter of Richard Barthelmess, motion picture actor, is coming from Hollywood to spend Christmas with her mother in New York under the terms of an agreement in which Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Brooklyn preacher, acted as arbiter. Mary Hay, a dancer, was divorced from Barthelmess in 1926, and they agreed to share custody of the child. Later both remarried and Barthelmess was reluctant to give up the daughter part of each year.

Dr. Cadman recently decided the father was to have Mary for four months and the mother for eight, after which the child will spend equal periods with each parent.

22,000 Junior Leaguers Will Help the Jobless

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Twenty-two thousand young women members of the Association of Junior Leagues have pitched in to help alleviate conditions arising from unemployment, Mrs. Roger S. Sperry, national president, said today.

In response to a letter from the Hoover emergency committee a hundred and eleven Junior leagues outlined their programs. Most of the groups are working through civic organizations, the replies show. Others are raising funds for distributing among existing organized charities.

Early Days of Cudahy Co. Are Recalled at Banquet

More than 250 representatives of the Cudahy Packing company from all parts of the country attended a banquet last night at the Palmer house. It was the climax to a week's celebration here of the anniversary of that company's establishment.

Honor guests included E. A. Cudahy, Sr., chairman of the board and one of the founders, and ten other officials who have been with the company continuously since its organization.

E. A. Cudahy, Jr., present president, told of the experiences of his father and Uncle Michael, who began their careers in a Milwaukee packing house in the '70s and united with P. D. Armour in 1887 to form the Armour-Cudahy Packing company, which took over a plant in Omaha built and operated by Sir Thomas Lipton. The Cudahy company was formed in 1890 when the Armour interests in the Omaha plant were purchased.

Here Are Charming Paintings of Winter; Hint of Spring, Too

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Traffic club in the Palmer house is showing just now some unusually fine paintings by Maud Miller Hoffmaster, who has apparently an unique talent for catching the intangible changing qualities of snow and pinning them down upon canvas.

For instance snow, though we rarely take the trouble to analyze it, is quite different at Thanksgiving, at Christmas, and in the early spring. The first snow which lies is usually dry and powdery; in midwinter the snow is rich and deep under a glistening crust; in the spring it is soft and spongy, tears for its own going running silently under the surface.

Mrs. Hoffmaster has put just those curious essentials of snow into her paintings. No one could mistake them, once the fact has been pointed out. "Thanksgiving Time," "Christmas Morning," and "Spring Is Near" are vibrant with opposing seasonal values. It comes as rather a shock, this uncanny gift for exact description. Besides the snow, look, for your own deep pleasure, at the tenderly blue, cloud veiled sky in "Spring Is Near."

"Overhanging Boughs" is a night painting. The moon behind the leafy barrier spreads a silver path on the quiet lake, fringed by trees. "My Blue Vase" is a particularly delightful still life, an exquisite blend of white and purple lilac. "Abandoned to Vetch" is a tiny song crooned by an old farmhouse whose discomfort is hidden by the clinging blossoms of the wayside flower. "Solitude" shows a cold green river lying heavily between twin banks of colder snow in the shelter of great pines.

Completing the exhibition, which will continue to the first of January, are the several impressive paintings, two of midwinter, "Snowshoe Trail" and [in this a magnificent snowstorm, flakes flying like maddened feathers] "Blocking the Trail." "East Bay, Michigan," is an effective moment at sunset, the sky glowing between the gap in the sand dunes.

22 Modernist Artists Open Sales Salon at Kroch's

Twenty-two Chicago artists of the modern school yesterday launched a movement whereby they hope to sell the paintings, sketches, ink drawings, and wood cuts which have not been in demand in recent months.

Their guiding principle, as expressed by Emil Armin, one of the group, is, "It is better to sell some of our work and see it hanging on the walls of many homes than have it hidden in studios without the opportunity to see daylight." In an exhibit which they call "the next to nothing exhibit," in Kroch's galleries, they offer their original water colors, oils, sketches, and wood cuts at prices ranging from $1 to $10.

Exhibiting artists include Armin, De Koven, Charles Biesel, Gustav Dalstrom, Frances Foy, Emil J. Grumieux, Hazel Hannel, Frances Strain, and others.

Hem of Willow Plumes Completes Jenny Frock

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—The old weeping willow plumes, coq feathers and other exotic and barnyard plumage are back again among the smartest trimmings in Paris fashions. Patou makes romantic afternoon hats draped with drooping willow plumes; Molyneux uses them for the collars of his pastel velvet hostess gowns, and bands of coq feathers replace fur on the hems of many of the smartest evening gowns.

Agnes is using halos of bright feathers, quills and drooping feather motifs to give gayety to her latest felt and tricot bonnets, and some of the other Parisian modistes are using feather arrangements to hide the hair when the cut-far-back-skull-cap shape of hat so popular now is unbecoming.

Feathers are particularly charming in the evening and, naturally, with this volatile vogue the large ostrich feather fans have made their reappearance.

This Jenny evening gown owes much of its charm to its deep hem of willow plumes. They are applied vertically, reaching in points to nine inches above the knees.

The frock is white—at least 75 per cent of the evening frocks being worn this winter in Paris are. It's of chiffon embroidered all over with tiny crystal trompettes.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Eleven classes for amateurs in the annual flower show of the state federation, known as the Garden club of Illinois, have been outlined in a schedule sent out to the garden clubs sponsoring the annual flower show, set for March 21 to 27 in the Merchandise mart.

The classes include model gardens 20 feet square, scenic shadow pictures reproducing landscapes, modernistic bouquets, flower arrangements for living room, service gate planting, sun room arrangements, breakfast, dinner, family and table decorations, and table of nations decoration, and junior garden exhibits open only to junior members.

Next spring's show will be financed and managed entirely by the Garden club of Illinois, with the individual clubs providing a larger proportion of the exhibits than before. Elaborate displays by parks and commercial houses are being planned as an educational feature. These exhibits will outline life size gardens illustrating designs and plant materials which can be employed in gardens in the Chicago area.

Among the leaders planning details are Mrs. W. L. Karcher of Freeport, Ill., president of the state federation, in charge of show management and assisted by Co-chairmen Mrs. E. D. Pomeroy of Crystal Lake and Mrs. Joseph E. Callender of St. Charles.

Married Woman Who "Steps Out" Tells Reason Why

BY DORIS BLAKE.

It takes more than four children to keep some of these restless girls tied to the home post, gentlemen, and you'd better be asking yourselves the reason why. Just read this one:

"How about the women who step out? Who is to blame? Ask me. I'm one of them who steps. And I'm one of hundreds that haunt the movie houses, sneak into a dance place, and dance with men I never saw before.

"Why do I do it? Well, I'm young, in spite of the four kids. I work fast. I have time on my hands during the day. I dress nicely around the house, and I put on powder, rouge, and lipstick, do my hair neatly after a. m. bath, get breakfast, four children washed, and two off to school. I plan and cook good meals. But do I ever get a word of praise? Do I ever hear a compliment?

"When I ask to be taken to the movies, it's 'O, don't bother me! Go yourself.'

"If I turn on the radio and suggest a dance, I'm told I'm too old for such foolishness. When I feel like kissing and petting my man, it's 'Don't bother me. I'm tired.' So, what's the use? I'll take my fun the only way it looks as if I'll ever get it. I'll be a long time dead. And don't you believe I'm not a good mother, or a good housekeeper, or a good wife! I am. SOUR KRAUT."

It's just too bad that high geared, energetic women do not marry men of their kind. It's too bad the dance loving don't hitch up oftener. It is equally too bad that the people who want to settle down don't oftener go in for marriage together. Maybe such perfect matching wouldn't work out well at all. Boredom might be the price to pay then.

But here you have in marriage the one who wants to settle down married to the gaddly, the tired person married to the vitally healthful.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S DRESS.

The bodice of this dress cuts all in one until it joins the plaited flounce that gives a graceful fulness to the hem. A narrow belt holds the figure in snugly at the natural waistline, and the arrangement of the neck, with the revers of a contrasting color, is especially becoming. The sleeves are full length. Black Canton crêpe, or one of the dark green novelty crepes will be good for utility wear.

The pattern, 2782, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4⅝ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting and ⅛ yard of 39 inch material for the belt.

Smooth, Velvety Skin Is Result of Special Care

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Frequently I am asked to decide for a correspondent which form of depilatory is best for her to use. It is a question I can only answer by describing the different kinds available and by leaving the choice to her.

There are numerous depilatories on the market, appearing in liquid, paste or powder [to be made into paste], and wax form. The principle of hair removal by the liquid, paste or powder depilatory is that the hairs are softened or dissolved at the margin of the skin surface by the action of a strong alkali which depilatories contain.

A liquid depilatory is applied to the parts affected and is allowed to remain for from three to ten minutes, the time varying with the particular product. Removal is accomplished by use of a moistened cloth or towel.

A powder depilatory, made into a paste with water, is applied to the growth of hair and removed in a similar manner and in about the same period of time as the liquid product. However, instructions are marked plainly on the outside of the containers.

A wax depilatory is a resinous substance first heated until soft and lightly applied to the parts while still warm. The hairs become enmeshed in the sticky substance and after the wax has cooled it is forcibly removed by a quick jerk, the hairs coming off attached to the hardened wax.

Repeated treatments are required, of course. But for that matter, repeated face washings are necessary to keep the face clean. And depilatories have their use. To me their one bad feature is that they not only remove the heavier hairs but the soft down from the face as well. For this reason one hesitates to recommend them for face use. But for the arms, under the arms and taking excess hair growth from the back of the neck they are very good. Electrolysis for the facial area is the preferred treatment.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

L. C.: TRACHOMA IS AN EYE disease in which the eyes become inflamed, the lids swell and the surface of the eyeball becomes rough. The inner surfaces of the eyelids are covered with small granules and are most painful. Better see an eye specialist at once.

Special Edition of Poems Her Christmas Gift

BY THALIA ——.

ONE volume, privately printed in such a limited edition that you will be unable to find it mentioned in any of the Christmas book lists and not even in the largest and most extensive of the book shops, will delight a select group of recipients on Christmas day. It is the first printed collection of poems by Kathleen Lord, 7 years old and the younger of Mrs. Russell Lord's two daughters, and is a slim tome—as a matter of fact, it includes just three poems, four lines each—but it is the quality of the verse that will delight the favored ones who are to receive copies.

Of the first edition of Miss Lord's poems, twenty-five copies have been printed, each numbered and autographed," according to the flyleaf of the book, which is entitled "The Zoo and Other Poems." The young author's Uncle Dempster MacMurphy is the entrepreneur-publisher of the work, and he dispatched the edition by air yesterday to be numbered and autographed. (I hope Miss Lord doesn't discover his unethical conduct in having an extra copy printed besides the indicated number. This was because he feared that his gifted niece might forget her announcement that he was to be given copy No. 1. Mrs. Lord is to receive copy No. 2, although Sister Kathleen will have to be content with the 25th.)

Far be it from me to impair the enjoyment of those who will become owners of the book by quoting from it, but perhaps after Christmas the young lady will grant permission to reproduce her lines on "The Zoo," "Halloween," and "Little Boy Blue."

These early snowfalls are pleasant and picturesque, and the brisk winter air is invigorating, but after the holidays are over and everybody begins to feel the wear and tear of the winter's sociabilities the stay-at-homes will be envying the fortunate ones who'll be migrating toward milder climes.

Jarvis Hunt got away to Arizona before the winter really began. He's been down there for more than a month now supervising the finishing touches on his new home in Arcadia, near Phoenix, and won't be back until spring.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wrigley Jr.'s place in Phoenix, not far from the Arizona-Biltmore hotel, is nearing the final stages of construction and the Wrigleys plan to go there from Catalina for Christmas.

The Philip K. Wrigleys, who stopped at Phoenix on their way back from California last week, will probably spend some time there in February.

They and their children, who are at school in the east, are to spend the holidays in New York with Mrs. Wrigley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Atwater. Mrs. Wrigley left on Monday for the east, and Mr. Wrigley will go down a few days before Christmas.

Had you heard . . . that immediately on hearing that Count Felix von Luckner had been hurt in an automobile accident Burt Massee went up to Waukegan to see him, and is arranging for him to be brought to the Passavant as soon as he can be moved . . . that the Walter S. Brinkleys were in New York City, guests of their kin, the Cornelius Peers, for the debut-dinner dance for Margaret Peers at Pierre's, that they're going to Montreal and will be back in Hubbard Woods before Christmas. . . . that Mrs. Frank C. Letts is coming on from Washington to spend Christmas here with her daughters, Courtney Letts Borden and Hollis Letts McLaughlin . . . that Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Morgan Miles of Fort Smith, Ark. have been guests of Mrs. F. T. A. Junkin for her recent festivities and are leaving Chicago this morning . . . that the Robert Poe Williamses of Deerfield are parents of twins, David Yoe and Mary Elizabeth, born the 24th of last month at the Highland Park hospital . . . that Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze and Medora, having gone west to see Mrs. Thompson's niece, Kathleen Thompson, marry Lieut. Charles Allen Buchanan, U. S. N. last Saturday, are at the Hotel del Coronado, at Coronado Beach . . .

Also . . . that the Oliver N. Caldwells of 1120 Lake Shore drive are taking the Overland Limited tomorrow for Beverly Hills, Cal., to occupy a large and handsome suite at the Beverly-Wiltshire hotel for the remainder of the winter . . . that Countess Carlo Filliponi has returned to New York City after a visit of several weeks here . . .

This Party Will Parade Old Chicago Before Guests.

Miss Herma Clark [who writes the Martha Freeman Esmond to Julia Boyd letters in the Sunday society section] is to give what she calls a stereopticon review in fiction form of early social life in Chicago entitled, "Dear Julia," on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 4, at the Drake hotel ballroom. Accompanying the pictures and Miss Clark's talk will be old, familiar airs played by the second Johnny Hand, who is a member of the Symphony orchestra, and two other members of the original Johnny Hand organization.

Miss Clark, who was friend and companion to the late Mme. Blair, has invited descendants of Chicago's real pioneers—the prominent citizens of the '60s whom she talks about—to sponsor and attend her program. These include Miss Carolyn Tyler, whose father, William A. Brown, was the Marshall Field of his day, the Arthur L. Farwells, Mrs. Daniel H. Burnham, Frederick B. Tuttle, the Solomon A. Smiths, the William M. Scudders, who are descended from Isaac Newton Arnold, friend and a biographer of Lincoln; the John P. Wilsons, Col. and Mrs. R. R. McCormick, the Honore Palmers, the George A. Carpenters, and the Howard Linns. The Swift, Cudahy, and Armour clans came later in the development of the city than the antecedents of these.

If you want to be well posted about what's going on, you should know . . . that the Friends of Opera meeting on Monday was one of its most enjoyable affairs—after the program given by Charles Marshall, Mme. Ravil, and Hans Hermann Nissen, Mrs. Arthur Meeker arose and announced a surprise not on the program . . . William Tyroler, piano accompanist to the singers, "took off" a tenor's voice so ludicrously that Charles Hackett, sitting in one of the front rows, laughed until the tears rolled down his face.

That Mrs. Henry Royce gave a tea on Sunday at which members of the "Lysistrata" and "Michael and Mary" company were present . . . The Wilhelm Ludwig Baums' "Sunday evenings" are a great success [Mme. Hanna Butler and an extraordinary 17 year old pupil of hers sang at the last one]. . . .

That Mrs. Hallett Thorne gave a tea at Vassar house yesterday afternoon for Dr. Burges Johnson, formerly of the English department of Vassar, now at Syracuse university [he has been with his aunt, Mrs. Lorenzo Johnson during his few days in Chicago] . . . that the Charles T. Atkinsons who sailed last week for a round the world tour will stop for awhile in Bangkok while Mr. Atkinson confers with the king of Siam and his government about plans for Siam's participation in the Chicago World's Fair . . . that Baron von Byssenhardt is going to have his tea on Friday afternoon . . . that there is nothing very much going on at the Fortnightly these days except the regular meetings, and that there is no special holiday meeting planned . . . that tea was served from small tables centered with calla lilies at the Arts club yesterday afternoon, and that the new exhibition of the work, by Valentine Prax and William Littlefield need a Mr. Frederic Bartlett to explain them to the unenlightened on modern art.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart Coonley of 1425 Astor street have gone to New York for the wedding there today of their daughter, Miss Lydia A. Coonley, to Thomas Nickerson Jr. The wedding is to be solemnized quietly at the residence of the bride's aunt, Mrs. William Davies, and only the families and a few friends will be present.

Only relatives and a few friends will be present at the ceremony, which will be followed by a reception at the Ambassador East.

Mrs. Elmer E. Long of Oak Park will be matron of honor for Miss Jacoby; Betty Frey, maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. Franklin Agnew, Mrs. Edward Harkness, Anna Catharine Hurd, Mary Fortune, Jane Condon, and Mrs. Donald La Chance.

ONLY DAUGHTER OF LATE HUGO STINNES TO WED CAMERAMAN

LONDON, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Fraulien Clarenore Stinnes, only daughter of the late Hugo Stinnes, German industrial magnate, plans to be married in London soon to Carl Axel Soderstrom, a Swedish film producer. This was revealed today. Notice of the approaching wedding was filed at a local registry office here. Fraulien Stinnes gave her age as 29. Soderstrom is 36.

Fraulien Stinnes is known as one of the prominent and energetic of Germany's modern young women. Not content with the round of social duties, she established a horse breeding farm in 1924 and a year later opened a shop for automobiles and industrial machinery.

Ideal of Proper Clothes for Child Undergoes a Change

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A booklet of "Prayers and Graces" will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Once upon a time if a little boy's or girl's clothes were lovely to look at, if they enhanced the charm of childhood, people were satisfied. Also, in that same once upon a time, there was another faction of parents who required only one thing of their children's clothes—that they should be strictly utilitarian.

Now our ideal of children's clothing is a combination of these and other requirements.

We know that for a child's good the small suits or dresses must be:

In the first place, comfortable, allowing a child the perfect freedom that is needed for the physical development he gets from bending, running, jumping, wrestling, and squatting—this last being one of his or her most favorite positions in play.

They must be of a material and cut easily laundered.

They must be cut on attractive lines.

They must be of pleasing texture and colors, not only because it gives us pleasure to see the exquisite skins and fresh colorings and fine little bodies enhanced by attractive clothes but because it matters to the children themselves.

And added to all these other requirements is one more—the clothes must be constructed so as to make it possible for the small children to dress themselves. Even very little children naturally want to do things for themselves. "I can do it—let me do it all by myself" is their plea. And they will dress themselves, if it isn't made too difficult by the position of the buttons, or the smallness of the armholes, or some other feature that is too difficult for their limited deftness and patience. Self-help clothes are a necessity for the modern mother and modern child.

Various experts in this field have worked out designs for little children's clothes that fill all these requirements. Information regarding them will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Widow's Request.

"I am a widow and have a son, 22, who has spent his last three winters sick in bed and has been out of work now for six months. We struggle to have a nice home, but luck seems to be against us. If any one has some nice warm bedding and curtains to give we would be glad to call for them.

"MRS. B. P."

Blankets and quilts which are worn could be patched and mended for this family and your old curtains could, no doubt, be cut down to fit their windows. May they not have any you are planning to discard?

Job Hunter's Letter.

"I am badly in need of an overcoat, size 40, a suit, size 38, and shoes, size 8. I am not working and cannot afford to buy them. I will be thankful if you can get me these through your column. F. G."

Looking for a job is a cold and uncomfortable business, these days, when the poor job hunter hasn't warm clothing. Can you supply what this man needs?

Early Yule Parties Tomorrow in Parks on the North Side

The children in the neighborhood of the small north side parks are counting the hours until tomorrow for then Christmas parties will be held in their honor.

Warren Wright, president of the Lincoln park commissioners, announced yesterday that beautifully lighted and decorated Christmas trees will be placed in each of the parks and five trees each thirty feet tall will be put in Lincoln park. Special effort will be made by the board this year, he said, to make the celebrations more delightful than ever for the children. The parks are Stanton, Lake Shore, Seward, Hamlin, Wells, and Chase.

A group of men and women assembled at the Hotel Sherman yesterday to fill 800 Christmas gift bags to be distributed to guests at the annual Christmas party of the advetrising council of the Chicago Association of Commerce. This will be held tomorrow in the grand ballroom of the hotel. It is expected that $500 will be raised to be turned over to the Off-the-Street club.

A fellowship "get-to-gether" sponsored by the junior association of the Royal league will be held on Friday night at the Hotel Sherman. The junior harmonica band will play and a Christmas play, "A Christmas Eve Pilgrimage," will be given.

Society at the Opera

FROM a social standpoint the second performance of "Camille" last night at the Civic Opera house was only a pale reflection of its record breaking premiere last week. Some of the boxes which held 7 or 8 guests at that memorable opening last Wednesday night were untenanted and several box subscribers sent friends to occupy their places as hosts.

Probably because she is seldom seen except behind the footlights, few persons in the audience seemed to know that Claudia Muzio was sitting in a box at the end of the upper tier, watching and listening to Mary Garden's modern interpretation of Dumas' frail heroine, a rôle which Muzio has made one of her greatest triumphs in "Traviata." She was accompanied by her husband, Renato Liberati, and her mother, Mme. Giuseppe Muzio.

At the opposite end of the upper tier Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Leslie Behr were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. William Haerther and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Emig. The junior William E. Clows and the Howard Linns arrived at the opening of the second act with Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott Blair and Henry Channon as their guests. Mrs. Clow was in black velvet, Mrs. Linn in white moire, and Mrs. Blair in brown velvet and an ermine wrap.

Mrs. George M. Reynolds' party included Mr. and Mrs. Edward I. Cudahy, the latter in wine colored satin; Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, and Mr. and Mrs. Earle Reynolds. Mrs. George Reynolds was in hydrangea blue velvet, her daughter-in-law in red lace, and Mrs. Swift in white lace. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Beuttas and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goldie were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sumner Pearce.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Faulkner, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Pierce, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Veeder occupied the George T. Buckingham box. Mrs. Austin Clement and Mrs. Harold Moore were guests of the John R. Thompsons. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Houghteling, and David Dangler. Mrs. Hamill wore blue chiffon, Mrs. Farwell flesh colored crepe, and Mrs. Houghteling pink satin.

Mrs. Daniel J. Schuyler was hostess in her box to Mrs. Edson Cooke, Edson Cooke Jr., Miss Mary MacCaughey, Robert C. Sweetser, and William M. Schuyler. In the Homer L. Dixon box Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Zaring were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. George Silverthorne Jr., Miss Georgiana Whitcomb, and Robert Carr.

The Frederick H. Rawson box was occupied by a group composed of Mrs. Frank Hussey, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Sidley, Mrs. Caryl Young, Miss Rosemary Sidley, and Thomas Dean. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen T. Stackpole were with the Charles B. Pikes.

Food Talk.

Mrs. A. W. W. writes: "I have been a member of a club for the past two years and in that time it seems almost everything under the sun has been served. Have you some unusual luncheon menus and some good new recipes? If so, please may I have them?"

The aim of Mrs. W.'s club may be to serve only unusual luncheons. This group may continue to serve many more years before the limit is reached. There is no end to distinctive new food combinations. If there were, one might use the old menus over, even the simple ones, and prepare the food so unusually well and serve it so attractively that the most critical would be delighted.

There is really only one way to obtain a brand new menu and that is to be original. Which means to sit down and work out one of your own, using those foods that you prepare best. True, this takes time. But individuality can be put into any menu, even the one you may borrow from your neighbor or use from our food column. The secret is to prepare each food in your own best and most ingenious way. Then it can't help being individual.

The following menu, which consists of old foods playing a slightly new rôle, is excellent and we hope will be one different for your own club. For variation, you might serve the salad on curly endive or water cress rather than on lettuce. Instead of cream cheese to stuff the cherries in the salad a thoroughly creamed Roquefort would surely be rare.

But if something different in the realm of "unusual" luncheons is desired, we will send menus for a Hawaiian, an Italian, a Russian, and three good American luncheons with recipes. Send a long self-addressed envelope with four cents postage.

VERONIQUE SALAD.

Select eight nice pears. Peel and slice not too thin. Take white malaga grapes, or, if not in season, use big white canned cherries. Remove seeds and fill centers with cream cheese. Have lettuce cold and crisp. Arrange fruit attractively. Serve with Lorenzo dressing.

CHICKEN MARGUERITE.

To 2 cups cold diced chicken add 2 cups cream sauce. Add ½ cup sliced ripe olives, 1 sliced pimento, and 1 tablespoon cooking sherry. Pour over boiled noodles. Cover with Parmesan cheese and bake until brown.

BLUEBERRY MUFFINS.

1 cup stemmed and washed blueberries. (Use frozen or other well drained canned product at this season of the year.)

Sift flour, then measure. Resift with other dry ingredients into mixing bowl. Add milk and butter to beaten egg. Make a depression in the dry ingredients, pour in the liquid, and mix as quickly as possible. Too much stirring results in compact, ill shaped muffins. Add blueberries with last few stirs. Pour batter at once into oiled muffin tins. Bake in a hot oven (425° Fah.) 20 to 25 minutes.

COCOANUT FANCIES.

CHARLOTTE RUSSE.

1 teaspoon vanilla.
1½ dozen lady fingers.
6 Maraschino cherries.

Soak the gelatin in the milk for about ten minutes. Dissolve over hot water. Cool. When entirely cold, but before it has begun to congeal, add the pint of cream whipped and sweetened with the half cup of sugar. Add the vanilla. Line each dessert dish with the lady fingers split in half. Fill in the open spaces with the whipped cream mixture. Put a cherry on the top of each mound. Set in a cold place to set. This takes 3 or 4 hours.

Geologist, Back from Africa, Learns He's Author of New Book

Palo Alto, Cal., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Bailey Willis, professor emeritus of geology at Stanford university, wrote a book about Africa and didn't know it. He found out about it yesterday after he returned from a year's sojourn in the "dark continent" as a guest of the British government.

"Why don't you write a book about Africa?" Mrs. Willis asked.

"Impossible," he replied. "I'm too technical, too scientific."

"But you've already done it," his wife beamed. She produced a published volume of the professor's sojourn, "Living Africa," written and signed by himself. Pen and ink sketches by Mrs. Willis illustrated the book.

Then she explained. The book was composed of the voluminous letters he had written to her, with personal messages deleted.

BLACKHAWKS DEFEAT OTTAWA SEXTET, 4 TO 2

PRIZE FIGHTERS NO FRIENDS OF SWEET CHARITY

And Never Will Be, Pegler Says.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 16.—Jack Sharkey was prevented from fighting his friend, William Stribling, for charity, as he offered to do several weeks ago, but football, intercollegiate and professional, has produced about a million dollars for the benefit of the unemployed in New York and Chicago.

It was no simple matter to arrange the seven football games, one of which is to be played next year, as they involved about 500 players and a number of faculty representatives and some highly prized issues, but it is much more difficult to present a couple of heavyweight prizefighters in a ring for charity. In fact, it is so difficult that it has never yet been done and that is only half of it. It never will be done, either.

Not a Sporting Proposition.

I hope I do nobody an injustice but at the time that Mr. Sharkey offered to fight Mr. Stribling for nothing, the boxers' pay to be turned over to a fund for charity, I would have offered to bet anybody $100 to $1 that there would be no bout on this basis but for the fact that a sure thing is not a sporting proposition. One does not bet when one's opponent is beaten on sight and it would have been unethical to wager on this even at odds of a thousand to one.

Mr. Sharkey is very charitable as prizefighters go, but he fights on the milk fund program every now and again at an increased rate of pay, but he did not seem to be taking any chance when he offered to fight Stribling for nothing. When one prizefighter makes such an offer he always can depend on the other one to refuse and vice versa and if any fighter ever should accept he would be suspended for life by the associated prizefight commissions for conduct detrimental to the sport.

The prizefighter's offer to turn his end of the receipts over to charity is one of the oldest impositions on the name of charity and the credulity of the sport editors, but it must be said for the boys that they have never yet really turned amateur.

One Nearly Did It.

Once a prize fighter almost turned his end of a gate over to charity, but it was a Negro prize fighter of simple honesty and it was fortunate for him that he had a white man of superior intellect for a manager who prevented him from taking this false step.

The prize fighter was the late Tiger Flowers and his manager the late Walk Miller, both of Atlanta.

The Tiger had fought Jack Delaney in the old Garden one evening and Delaney had popped him square on his chin and knocked him out. The next day Mr. Miller alleged that Delaney's right glove was upholstered with rocks, iron bolts and several small sections of locomotive axle, cried that his gladiator had been foully dealt with by a band of conspirators and demanded a return match.

Of course, a return match was the natural consequence, any way, as Tex Rickard was running the business at the time and the knockout had sent the customers away excited and pleased. However, Mr. Miller was a stranger in the major leagues and he thought it would be necessary to set up a row to get a return match.

"And furthermore," said he over the telephone, "just to show my good faith I will agree to turn our entire end over to charity."

Pegler Makes a Suggestion.

"You mean you will give your end to charity if Delaney will give his end, don't you?" I suggested. "That is the customary way. Then Delaney refuses and you say you would have done it if he had agreed to."

"No," Mr. Miller squawked. "I mean that regardless of what Delaney does with his end, the minute he steps into the ring against my Tiger again, charity gets our end."

So fifteen minutes later, Mr. Miller, sitting in his office behind a window emblazoned with a gaudy sign reading, "Walk Miller, Dixie Fighters Who Fight," repeated his proposition before three witnesses. All three witnesses nodded their heads and made pinwheel motions, but went out and announced Mr. Miller's proposition to the press.

And a few weeks later, Tiger Flowers entered the ring at the old Garden where, as I recall it, Jack Delaney popped him on the chin as before and knocked him out again.

"Which Charity, Mr. Miller?"

Naturally, as Mr. Miller came down the aisle with the Tiger after the contest the witnesses who had heard his offer greeted him cheerily and asked him what charity he had selected to receive his end of the gate receipts.

"O, no, you have got it all mixed up, ha ha," Mr. Miller said. "What I said was that if Delaney would give his end——"

At this, Tiger Flowers interrupted. "Mr. Miller," said he, "if you-all offered to give our end to charity we all ought to be honest and give our end."

But Mr. Miller was behind him pushing him down the aisle to the dressing room, explaining that some of the newspaper boys had gone and gotten things all fuddled up and what he had

Two Dismissed Players Reveal Tuition Promise

Cleveland, O., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Two Cleveland boys, dismissed two weeks ago with fourteen other members of the Wittenberg college freshman football squad, tonight revealed that their tuition and board had not been promised by "outside interests," as previously reported by the college, but by Wittenberg college itself.

A letter written to one of the boys, John Sutter, regular freshman half back on this year's Wittenberg team, by D. L. Keyser, director of admissions to the college, was offered as evidence by Sutter, who was captain of the Lakewood High eleven a year ago. The other boy, Robert Bader, is a former all-scholastic end at Cathedral Latin.

At the time the sixteen freshman football players were ousted, officials at Wittenberg stated that the decision to bar the youths followed an investigation of reports that free tuition and board had been promised for the athletes by outside interests.

The letter, written by Keyser to Sutter, said:

"Answering your letter of Aug. 18, you may depend upon any promises made to you by our representative, Mr. Rider (H. A. Rider, field secretary of the college) should have given you a memorandum to present to the committee at the time of your registration.

"It is my understanding that the aid promised you is contingent upon your making the first freshman team. However, you need not worry, for the first semester except to keep your athletic and scholastic record up to a point which will insure your being kept on the preferred list."

Both Sutter and Bader told of a meeting with Dr. R. E. Tulless, president of Wittenberg, and Director of Athletics J. R. Cornwall, at which the officials told the sixteen members of the freshman squad that they were barred from further participation and that the board and tuition were withdrawn. They promised, according to Sutter, that varsity team members would be dropped Dec. 17.

"We haven't said anything because we were waiting to see if they would fire the varsity men who were getting help," Sutter said. "While on the team I heard that several of the varsity players had written contracts. There are about thirty players on the first team that get help in one way or another."

Commissioner K. M. Landis Undergoes Minor Operation

Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis underwent a minor operation yesterday at the Presbyterian hospital. The operation was performed by Dr. Vernon C. David, who last night reported his patient in good condition.

Wonder if New York Has Heard of Willie Stribling

BY ARCH WARD.

Reading the sport page comment on the heavyweight boxing situation we note that the New York commission threatens to inflict another Sharkey-Schmeling championship bout on the saps and suckers of the eastern provinces.

The New York ring board has notified Herr Schmeling that he must accept Sharkey's challenge within 15 days or stand suspended.

While all this has been going on the National Boxing association has considered naming Young Stribling champion in view of Schmeling's refusal to defend his title within six months after he won it.

We doubt if either the New York commission or the National Boxing association will get anywhere in their determination to force a heavyweight championship fight. Regardless of the decrees of the various governing groups, titles are won and lost in the ring, and you can't convince old Gus H. Fan otherwise.

While the prize fight business as a whole is in the doldrums, we have noticed no manifestations of mob fever in connection with the matter. It seems that a sizeable block of the people feel they can stumble through the winter without seeing the names of any of the title contenders in print.

The only encouragement in the present situation is that neither the New York boxing chiefs nor the N. B. A. are planning a long elimination tournament. Both insist that Schmeling defend his crown or vacate it.

If there must be a heavyweight title fight in the immediate future, it is hard to figure how they can leave Stribling out of the picture. His victories in Chicago over Otto Von Porat and Tuffy Griffith, combined with his quick knockout of Suffering Phil Scott in London, have been the outstanding recent contributions to the pugilistic records.

Why should New York demand that Schmeling first battle Sharkey? Didn't the fans get stung badly enough the first time they fought? Encouraging them to repeat the performance at the customers' expense is like inviting a second story prowler to come back and pick up the jewels he overlooked on his first visit.

WHY PRO BASKETBALL FAILS.

George Halas, Laurie Walquist and State Senator George Maypole, owners of the Chicago Bruins, will hold an executive session this morning to decide what to do with their holdings. According to John O'Brien, president of the American Professional Basketball league, of which the Bruins are members, the club either will be sold or will withdraw from the organization.

While Mr. Halas and his associates are reluctant to admit that business has dropped off alarmingly this season, they are convinced something is wrong.

There may be other reasons for the failure of professional basketball to win favor in Chicago, but the makeup of the league accounts for one. There is no natural rivalry between member teams. No Chicagoan can become purple with excitement when he reads that his team is going out to battle Paterson, N. J., Rochester, N. Y., or Fort Wayne, Ind. The boys representing those towns play just as good basketball as if they were wearing the uniforms of New York, Boston or Philadelphia, but the box office appeal isn't there.

ANOTHER GRID DEFECTION.

Kentucky Wesleyan has followed the example of Loyola university in abolishing intercollegiate football. Dr. C. M. Dannelly, in announcing the new policy, said that football as it now exists "creates atmosphere within the college which is not in harmony with the higher ideals of scholarship and character."

All in all, this has been quite a lively season. First we had Kansas ousted from the Big Six conference on charges of proselyting and then restored to good standing. Next was the demand from five athletes at George Washington university that they be paid for their services or they would quit the game. A day or two later they quit the school—by request. Then came announcements from Loyola, Danville, Ind., Normal and Kentucky Wesleyan that football had grown out of bounds and deserved no place in intercollegiate sport. In between were charges and counter charges among prominent coaches.

You will note, of course, that none of the schools which have abandoned football has figured in sectional or national gridiron rating. We want to believe and do believe that the action of these educational centers represents isolated cases. One of the reasons we feel restrained from cheering a soapbox orator when he urges that the capitalists' wealth be taken from them and distributed among the city's white wings is that we never can feel quite sure if he would preach along the same line if the bank balances were reversed.

Similarly, we wonder if these schools had achieved prominence in athletics, would they be so ready to drop intercollegiate football?

BOBBY JONES NAMED MODEL U. S. ATHLETE

Sportsmanship and Skill Bring Honor.

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Bobby Jones' international golfing triumphs have won for him the Sullivan memorial award, the Amateur Athletic union announced today.

The award, given for the first time this year in memory of the late James E. Sullivan, A. A. U. pioneer, goes to the athlete who, by his performances and by his example and influence as an amateur and as a man, has done most during the year to advance the cause of sportsmanship. The award, a gold medal, will be presented to Jones at a time and place to be decided upon later.

Overlook Movie Contract.

Some members of the memorial committee felt Jones' recent action in signing a moving picture contract had automatically disbarred him from the contest, but this view was not shared by the majority. It was felt that the award was to be made on the basis of what the recipient was and what he had accomplished during the year and that, furthermore, Jones' attitude in signing the movie contract had been entirely aboveboard and marked by that "frankness and openness which always has been one of his characteristics." All this made him "stand out more than ever as a thorough sportsman."

Jones won by an overwhelming margin, receiving more than twice as many votes as the runner-up, Clarence Demar, famous marathoner from Melrose, Mass. Jones received 1,625 votes and Demar 800.

Mrs. Moody Third.

Others in the contest, with the votes cast for them, were: Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, tennis champion, 666; Helene Madison, Seattle, Wash., swimming, 375; Barney Berlinger, all around athlete from the University of Pennsylvania, 255; Thomas Hitchcock, polo player, 236; George Simpson, Ohio State, national 220 yard sprint title holder, 232; Harlow Rothert, all around athlete at Stanford university, 156; Raymond Ruddy, Columbia, long distance swimming champion, 149; and Stella Walsh, Cleveland, women's sprint champion, 61.

The committee, in announcing the award, summarized the reasons for its selection as follows:

"Foremost golfer of today, probably of all time. Winner of open and amateur championships of Great Britain and the United States this year, an unprecedented achievement. High ideals of amateurism and strength of character were exemplified in his refusal to accept a gift of $50,000 raised by popular subscription in Atlanta with which he was to buy a home. Has often been acclaimed at home and abroad as an unofficial ambassador of the United States to foreign lands.

Not a Single Reflection.

"During the several years that he has been in the public eye there has not been a single reflection on his sportsmanship or amateur status. By his excellence of performance, retiring nature, disdain for acclaim, helpfulness to and generous spirit toward his opponent and fine example under many trying situations, he has endeared himself to all lovers of amateur sport."

More than 150 names originally were nominated for the award by the selection tribunal. In making their nominations the members of the tribunal were asked to take into consideration acts of sportsmanship, excellence of performance, strength of character, qualities of leadership, force of personality and high ideals of amateurism.

From among those nominated the Sullivan memorial committee of the A. A. U. selected the ten considered most worthy. These ten together with a summary of the reasons for their selection were sent back to the tribunal for final vote. The members of the tribunal, some 600 outstanding leaders in the world of sport, were asked to vote for three in order of their choice, the first to receive five votes, the second three, and the third one.

CUBS' STAR PLAYS NEW ROLE

Woody English Marries Girl Met at Game

Elwood [Woody] English, shortstop and third baseman of the Chicago Cubs, and Miss Helen Golan, 2133 West 23d street, were married last Friday at Crown Point, Ind.

Their elopement, which the couple had kept secret, became known yesterday when English telegraphed his mother, Mrs. Gladys English of Newark, O., informing her of the marriage. English is 23 years old and his bride is 20.

They met last July, when Miss Golan, an enthusiastic baseball fan, accompanied friends of English to Wrigley field to see the Cubs play. They were introduced after the game and became engaged a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. English will leave this morning for English's farm at Vanatta, O., where he will spend the winter hunting. English has been a member of the Cubs since 1927 when he was purchased from the Toledo American association club for a reported price of $50,000. Until the last season he had played shortstop, but this year he alternated between short and third base.

ROCKNE TELLS SECRET OF IRISH GRID VICTORIES

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 16.—(AP)—"The secret of Notre Dame's success this year was friendship," Knute Rockne, famous gridiron mentor, told Canisius college students, graduates and friends assembled tonight for the institution's annual football banquet. "Every man liked every other man on the squad."

The A B C of football is the first instruction Notre Dame candidates receive and deals entirely with mental factors, Rockne said. A stands for ambition, B for backbone, and C for concentration.

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—De Paul university scored its second victory over the University of Illinois B basketball team here this afternoon, 46 to 15.

For nearly three quarters, the Orange and Blue went scoreless from the field. Theobald sent the ball through the nets for the first Illinois field goal and followed it with two others. A point at the free throw line brought his total to seven of the 15 Illini points. Other baskets were made by Plunk and Howard.

Bud O'Connor was the main scorer for De Paul with six baskets. Ascher made four baskets and added two points at the free throw line. Coan scored three field goals and Joe O'Connor two.

Twice, in the second and fourth rounds, Sharkey went to the canvas, but by concentrating on defense he managed to weather Shea's steady attack and made his best showing in the last round. Shea weighed 126¾, and Sharkey 123½.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Chicago Blackhawks last night resumed their winning ways when they beat the Ottawa Senators, 4 to 2. About 8,000 witnessed the encounter, which perhaps was the most helter skelter game at the Stadium this season.

Frankie Ingram led the Hawk scorers, with two goals, though it scarcely can be said that he was the main man of the evening. In their last two victories, separted by two shutouts, the Hawks have made seven scores and five of these have been propelled by Mr. Ingram.

Johnny Gottselig protected his two season distinction of being the Hawks' leading scorer by ringing up his number six of the year. The fourth Chicago score was made by Ty Arbour in the last two minutes of play. Both Ottawa scores were made by Bill Touhey.

By outskating and outscoring the rugged Senators, Maj. McLaughlin's boys held on to their tie with the Boston Bruins for the league leadership, the Hawks and Boston now being possessed of 17 points each.

Gottselig Starts Scoring.

The customers who have been observing that many of the first periods in Chicago hockey contests have been nonproductive last night had nothing to yearn for in the matter of scoring. There were three markers in the first period and two of them were made in the last two minutes of play.

Johnny Gottselig, recently removed from the sick list, recovered his scoring form and sailed home the first goal of the competition in 4:05. Then things went along with both sides about equal until 13:15 when Finnigan laid the puck two feet in front of the cage. It was a simple, though rather exciting matter for Touhey to come along and score with a back-handed slash.

Thirty seconds after the Senators had tied the score, Ingram took a pass from Romnes and drove the puck against Goalie Connels stick. Mr. Connell was holding the implement at just the right angle for Chicago purposes. The puck caromed in, and the score was 2 to 1 in favor of the Hawks as the period ended.

The scoring business continued in the second period, when the Senators again tied the score and the Hawks again consumed less than two minutes in resuming the lead.

Ottawa Ties Count.

The count became 2 to 2 in 9:10 when Touhy functioned for his second score. He shot it between the heels of both Romnes and Gardiner, the vision of the latter being blocked by Romnes in one of those closeup mêlées.

This manner of tying irked the Hawks no little, and it took them just one minute and 45 seconds to establish the score at 3 to 2. Desjardins passed to Ingram behind Connell, who had come out to meet the play, and Frankie shot home the puck midst wild acclaim.

For a long time it appeared as if the third period would be the only scoreless session. But at 18:30 Arbour received a pass from Cook and netted the Hawks' fourth marker.

All of New York's scoring was done by the midget forward line, Rabbit McVeigh, Normie Himes, and Johnny Sheppard, who tallied once in each period. Lineup:

Boston, Mass., Dec. 16.—(AP)—The Detroit Falcons, who have yet to win a hockey game in this city, lost to the Boston Bruins, 3 to 2, tonight in the American division of the National Hockey league.

Ebbie Goodfellow, high scoring visiting forward, scored both of his team's tallies. Jack [Red] Beattie, up from the Springfield club in the Canadian-American league, made an impressive debut with the Bruins. He helped Marty Barry start the Boston scoring and netted the final Boston point. Dit Clapper banged in the other Boston score.

The Bruins were superior in every department to the Falcons, who appeared tired after playing six games in nine days.

RUDOLPH BEATS WOODS, 125 TO 108, FOR 6TH IN ROW

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Erwin Rudolph, Chicago wizard of the cue, defeated Arthur Woods of New York, 125 to 108, tonight for his sixth consecutive victory in the world's championship pocket billiards tournament. The match went 33 innings.

Rudolph's victory assured him no worse than a tie for the title and he will have two opportunities to win the title without the necessity of a playoff. He will win automatically if Ralph Greenleaf, defending champion, is beaten by Onofrio Lauri, New York, tomorrow. If Greenleaf beats Lauri, the champion must defeat Rudolph in the last regularly scheduled match to gain a tie and force a playoff.

New Orleans Feature Race to Hot Time

New Orleans, La., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. C. L. Applegate's Hot Time, ridden by the Negro jockey, R. Simpson, won in a romp in the Amite purse, which featured the race card at Jefferson Park today. C. V. Whitney's Agitator was second and C. Graffanini's Whileaway third. The winner turned in the fastest six furlongs of the meeting when he stepped the distance in 1:12.

A sudden drop in the temperature caused a slim attendance. It was ladies' day, but the estimated crowd was less than 2,500.

Chicago Doctor Praises Golf as Eye Benefactor

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Here, Mr. Businessman, is your excuse for locking up the office in favor of an afternoon of golf.

"Golf is heaven sent to the average business man," Dr. A. M. Skeffington, director of the graduate clinic foundation at Chicago, told the convention of the American Academy of Optometry today.

"Its value lies not in the paltry exercise of walking the course and slicing the turf but in the benefit derived by the eyes. Golf requires of the eyes a use similar to those under which the visual system was developed—keen, long, accurate sight," he said.

The human face, Dr. Skeffington asserted, is faced with the necessity of revamping its visual systems so that living with the eyes buried in a minute mass of details rather than stalking the woods with an eagle eye will be the usual order of things.

Stadium Club Is Taken Into Skating Group

The Illinois Western Skating association yesterday admitted to membership the Chicago Stadium club, which will promote indoor racing.

The association also notified the Amphion Athletic club that Frank Stack, Illinois state champion, is in good standing, although he failed to request permission to skate in Canada, where he won the championship of Western Canada.

The point system of scoring was rearranged so that young skaters will not be developed into class A qualifiers too quickly. Several class A stars were moved back into the class AA level in the interest of better competition. The points necessary for graduation from each class are now as follows: Novice, 10; class C, 50; class B, 80; class AA, 150.

The following skaters retain their class A rating:

Women—Olga Anderson, Marjorie Barrett, Marie Becker, Helen Bina, Laura Bishop, Elizabeth Du Bois, Mary Fierce, Jean Jacobson, Marie Kieffman, Lois Littlejohn, Priscella Richey, Faith Schoen and Anna Simmons.

Boys entering the juvenile, junior and intermediate classes must show birth certificates as evidence of age before they will be permitted to compete. The opening Derby of the year will be the Franklin Skating club's races on Dec. 28.

3 BASKET GAMES TONIGHT TO AID CATHOLIC CHARITY

Walsh Hall of Notre Dame to Play K. C. Five.

College, high school, and Knights of Columbus quintets tonight will give an exhibition of basketball shooting at the Coliseum to swell Cardinal Mundelein's fund for the Associated Catholic Charities. The games will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The feature contest will be a game between Walsh hall of Notre Dame university, with Frank Carideo and Marchmont Schwartz in the lineup, and a picked team from the Knights of Columbus basketball league, which has handled the arrangements for the benefit. Coach George Keogan of the Irish is sending a squad of 12 men, including the two grid stars. Carideo and Schwartz are basketball players of ability.

Fourteen players, picked from the 43 teams in the K. of C. league, will play against the Notre Dame squad. They are:

Murphy, Damen; Kurka, Lafayette; McCarthy, St. James; Ivers, Madonna; Lawless, Leo; Hooker, Marquette; Cunningham, Hennepin; Brown, Dowling; Connelly, Loyola-Ryde Park; Dillon, Hildebrand; Zukor, Santa Maria; McGraw, Columbus; Riordan, Leo, and Raukauski, Washington.

The addition of Charley Murphy, star center at Loyola last year, to the K. of C. team adds strength to the Chicago quintet. Along with Murphy in the All Stars' lineup will be Ivers and Cunningham at the forward posts, with either Brown, Dillon, or Hooker starting at guards.

There will be two other games, two National Catholic tournament champions, De La Salle of Joliet and De La Salle of Chicago, will clash with the same casts that won the title for each in 1928 and 1929, respectively. St. Patrick's, winner of the championship in the Knights of Columbus league last winter, and Aquinas, runner-up, will meet for this first time since the title game last season.

Krauses Lead De La Salle.

Most of the players on the two De La Salle teams are in college, and they have returned to Chicago to aid the charity fund. Coach Jimmy Groark of the Chicago school is planning to start the two Krauses, Ed and Phil, at forward and guard positions. Jim Hoey, now at Loyola, will jump center, Ray Boland will be at guard, and either Jim Laffey, Jim Hunt, or Frank Golden will be at the other forward.

Coach Jimmy Carroll of De La Salle at Joliet is planning to start Colona and Wolcott at forwards, Jackson at center, and McCarthy and Harper at guards.

The St. Pat-Aquinas game should be a close battle, as St. Pat, by virtue of a last minute basket by Barney Varnes, eked out an 18-17 win over Aquinas last season to win the championship of the K. of C. league.

NOTRE DAME.		K. OF C.
Edwards	F	Ivers [Madonna]
Kizer	F	Cunningham [Hen.]
Schieder	C	Murphy [Damen]
Gardner	G	Brown [Dowling]
Baldwin	G	Dillon [Hildebrand], or Hooker [Marquette]

Spanish Cue Star Breaks Even in Pair of Matches

Isidro Ribas, champion of Spain, who is touring this country with Albert Cutler, former 18.2 balk line billiard champion, defeated Charley Morin at three cushions, 15 to 8, in 9 innings yesterday at Kleckhefer's. Cutler defeated Señor Ribas at balk line, 100 to 29, in 3 innings with an unfinished run of 75.

Here Are Hints About Shotguns for All Hunters

BY BOB BECKER.

Within the last few weeks some handwriting has appeared on the nation's "bulletin board" addressed to all shotgun users in the United States, and it looks as if all of us who use a scattergun had better read it pretty carefully. In fact, it is well to read between the lines, because this message hints at an interesting development for the future.

Here is the message:

When the American Game conference met in New York a short time ago it adopted a resolution which commended the efforts of manufacturers of firearms and ammunition to help perpetuate a game supply and to place hunting on a sportsmanship basis.

The conference especially commended such steps as a recently announced small bore shotgun which cannot be fired more than three times without loading. (We discussed this particular gun here about two months ago.) Also the meeting commended the production of a double barreled shotgun by another of America's oldest makers of magazine guns.

Now we get down to the interesting thought that came from this meeting of hundreds of prominent sportsmen and conservationists in New York. In its resolution the conference said that it hailed these efforts as "definite steps in the right direction," and it urged that other makers and importers of repeating firearms follow these fine examples "in order that presently all new shotguns sold for sporting purposes may be restricted to a maximum of three shells."

In other words, the message can be translated freely into this language. What has been started by the arms manufacturers is excellent. May we not hope that presently (soon) all repeating shotguns will be of a type that take three shells only.

The conference also recommended to the secretary of agriculture that he give serious consideration to the advisability of restricting all shotguns to a maximum of three shots at one loading for the taking of migratory game birds, becoming effective in 1932.

We may be wrong in reading between the lines of this resolution, but we'll hazard a guess that the skids are under the old style five to nine shot magazine shotgun for duck and geese shooting and two or three years from now sportsmen will be using a different type of weapon.

Neron to Fight Pantaleo on Charity Card

George Neron, heavyweight champion of Greece, will meet Paul Pantaleo in the windup of the 60 round charity boxing card at the Coliseum Friday evening. Neron recently showed his ability in a bout with Tuffy Griffith here, while Pantaleo has always been a favorite with Chicagoans.

The card is being conducted by Cook county Democrats. Half of the gate receipts will be used to benefit the needy and unemployed of Cook county. The other half will be used to pay boxers and defray other expenses.

Ross Meets Leach.

Ted Ross, South Chicago clouter, will tangle with Gary Leach in the semi-windup. They are light heavyweights. Charlie Retzlaff and Tony Mata, Spanish heavy, will meet for the second time. In their first bout honors were about even in the first round when Retzlaff fouled the Spaniard.

Tony Cancela, Florida heavyweight, meets Jackie Williams, trial horse, in a six round tussle. Williams is in good condition following his long training session with Tuffy Griffith, and his bout is expected to be one of the best of the evening.

Commission Sanctions Length.

The three four rounders will bring together Harry Roberts, Greek welter, and Paul Schiffer, at 147 pounds. Billy Gladstone and Jackie Davis meet at 133 pounds and Brisk Kannell fights Marion Matuszak, heavyweight.

The Illinois athletic commission permitted the card to go 60 rounds instead of the regulation 40 because proceeds are to be used for charity.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

WHEN SANTA WAS SNOWBOUND.

When Christmastide drew nigh,
A blizzard raged and snow swept down
Till crystal drifts piled high.

The country town lay miles away—
No dolls or toys in sight;
Then Christmas eve the blizzard ceased
And night shone clear and bright.

'Tis sweet to look o'er frosted hills
Down mellow years afar,
On that white Christmas when I learned
The radiance of a star.

Rube Foster.

Dear Harvey: Rube Foster, former colored baseball player and manager, is dead. To me, Rube was an honorable gentleman and a great and true sportsman. He was one of the greatest baseball pitchers and managers I ever have known. Foster and Mendez, I believe, were the equal of any white pitchers of their day. As a manager, Rube was one of the best.

Billy Niesen.

Rube Foster was pitcher and manager of the Chicago Giants back in 1909, when the now Wake was president of the Chicago league. The Giants were the only colored team in the league, consisting of Anson's Colts, managed by "Pop" Anson, Jimmy Callahan's Logan Squares, Frank McNichols' West Ends, Niesen's Gunthers, and Rogers Park.

At times it was difficult to secure efficient umpiring without trouble when the Giants, always league leaders and great drawing cards, appeared. This was in part due to a quick turn and throw to the plate after a feint to one of the bases which Rube had perfected. The opposition claimed Foster's foot was not on the slab when he threw to the plate.

Umpire Eddie Goeckel seldom had trouble and we asked him why. The league operated under the single umpire system. Goeckel explained: "Well, I called Foster over and told him that when I was behind the plate I couldn't see whether or not his foot was on the slab, so I would call a balk every time he tried his quick throw, but when I was standing behind the pitcher he could do as he liked, because I could see. He said, 'All right, Mr. Goeckel; that's fair enough.'"

Rube Foster, as former Manager Niesen says, was a good sportsman and a great character, one of the most popular semi-pro players the city ever has known, both among white and colored patrons. His Giants for years were one of the best money making teams in Chicago.

A notable tribute to THE TRIBUNE'S most valuable player trophy comes from a member of the committee of award, one of the Big Ten coaches. He writes: "Our people all feel that your vote layout for the most popular player and the naming of ten boys by their teammates means more than all these 'star' picks."

IZAAK WALTONS ELECT OFFICERS TOMORROW NIGHT

Close to 500 Chicago outdoorsmen will assemble tomorrow night at the annual meeting and election of officers of the Chicago chapter of the Izaak Walton league. For the first time in the history of the chapter there will be two tickets in the field. This is expected to bring out a full voting attendance.

William G. Thon, retiring president of the organization, has been nominated to succeed himself but an opposition ticket headed by W. Carey Lewis is in the field.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 16.— (AP) — Catcher Earl Smith has been unconditionally released by the Cardinals and Joe Schultz engaged for another year as manager of Houston, the Cardinals' Texas league farm, the Red Birds office announced tonight.

Smith came to the Cardinals from Rochester of the International league last September after Catcher Jimmy Wilson had been injured.

Prize Fighters No Friends of Sweet Charity

really promised was that if Delaney—

The Tiger, of course, if he had been present when the offer was made, would have insisted on giving at least his end of his end regardless of what Mr. Miller did with his end of his end. But the Tiger was a strange character and temperamentally unsuited to the prizefight business, which he presently abandoned for green pastures while lying on a doctor's operating table.

Why Should They Give?

Admittedly, there is no reason why any one prizefighter should give away his entire end for charity, especially if his end amounts to $100,000 or more. Business men in other lines are not expected to make proportionate contributions and the prizefighters are business men. But inasmuch as no prizefighter has yet given his end after hundreds of threats and promises to do so, it would be all right with me if they should quit exploiting charity for publicity.

Although many prizefights are produced in the name of charity, it will keep the record straight to point out that the fighters always are eager to fight on the so-called charity cards because these productions enjoy certain immunities which increase the net receipts on which their percentages are based.

The distress of the unemployed is still acute, and now that William Stribling has attended to the business which prevented his acceptance of Sharkey's proposition in the first place perhaps the boys can be brought together, charity to take all. But I will still offer $100 to $1 that charity will never get Mr. Sharkey's end of a fight with Stribling, Carnera, Griffith, Campolo, or Schmeling and agree to give my winnings to charity.

Millikin Halts Rose Poly Rally to Win 28-25 Game

Decatur, Ill., Dec. 16.—Millikin university's basketball team won its second straight victory tonight, defeating Rose Poly of Terre Haute, Ind., 28 to 25. Millikin piled up an 18-7 lead at the half, but some great work by Ray Neff, freshman center, was needed to stave off a Hoosier rally in the last half.

St. George Beats De La Salle in Two Overtimes, 15 to 13

Al Wilkins' basket in the last minute of the second overtime period brought St. George a 15 to 13 victory over De La Salle of Chicago, national Catholic champions, on the winners' floor last night. Tracy and Ruh led the St. George lights to a 26 to 5 victory.

The score at the end of the regulation time was 9 to 9. Wilkins made a basket for St. George in the first overtime, but Gafvey tied it for De La Salle. In the second extra period Zuercher of St. George and Furlong of De La Salle made baskets to make it 13 to 13. Then Wilkins came through with the basket that won for St. George.

Bill Haarlow, Bowen heavyweight star, set a new scoring record for the season in the south siders' 45 to 17 win over the Harvard School for Boys. Haarlow, playing in the first and fourth quarters only, made 12 baskets and two free throws for a total of 26 points.

SCHMELING TOLD TO BOX SHARKEY BY N. Y. BOARD

New York, Dec. 16.—[Special.]—The New York state athletic commission today ordered Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion of the world, to meet Jack Sharkey in defense of his title. In taking this stand the local body ignored Stribling, who is the choice of the National Boxing association. The commission cabled Schmeling:

"There is on file in this office a challenge directed to you by Jack Sharkey. Your time period in which to defend your title expired Dec. 12. You are directed to advise within 15 days your acceptance of this challenge."

Michigan Men to See George, Koloff Grapple

More than 200 alumni of the University of Michigan will attend the wrestling show at the Coliseum tomorrow night in which Don George, the newest claimant of the heavyweight championship, will make his first appearance in Chicago, against Dan Koloff. George formerly was captain of Michigan's wrestling team and Olympic title holder.

Increasing interest is manifest in the large number of Chicago mat fans who want to see George. The consensus is that any fellow who can whip Gus Sonnenberg is of high caliber.

In Koloff, according to Joe Coffey, promoter, George will meet one of the toughest fellows on the mat. Koloff has met and defeated some of the best men in the sport and has posted forfeits to engage others who consider themselves contenders.

Of almost as much importance in mat circles is the match between Everett Marshall, who sports the scalps of Ed Lewis and Joe Stecher—and Frank Judson in the semi-windup.

MONMOUTH WINS FROM MT. MORRIS QUINTET, 33 TO 13

Monmouth, Ill., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—Monmouth college won its first Little Nineteen game here tonight, defeating Mount Morris, 33 to 13. Play was ragged on both sides. Poor passes weakened Monmouth offensive power. Cargnati, Robinson, and Huggins shared high scoring honors for the Scots. Casiopi, Potter each scored four points for the visitors.

BRUINS BATTLE TOLEDO FIVE ON STADIUM FLOOR

Former Celtic Players Aid Visitors.

Four former members of the New York Celtics, regarded as the greatest basketball team ever assembled, will appear at the Stadium tonight when the Chicago Bruins clash with Toledo in an American Basketball league game. The pro contest will be preceded by a battle between Northwest Aces boys and the Taylor Trunks girls, who will start the ball flipping into the hoop at 8 o'clock.

As league rules prohibit the use of more than three veterans on a team at the same time, the former Celtic stars—Davey Banks, Joe Lapchick, Dutch Dehnert and Pete Barry—will alternate in trying to keep the ball away from the Bruins. Possession of the ball always is the principal objective of the pros.

Former Rosenblums with Toledo.

Banks has been a member of the Toledo five all season, but Lapchick, Dehnert and Barry joined the Redmen when the Cleveland Rosenblums dropped out of the league. The latter three were instrumental in giving Cleveland the championship last season.

The Bruins will rely on their three veterans—Hickey, Herlihy and Kennedy—together with the recruits, Barak and Bramhall. Toledo probably will start Banks, Lapchick, Spindell, Cunningham and Dehnert.

Bruins Vote Today.

George Halas, principal stockholder of the Bruins, yesterday announced that the directors of the club would meet today to decide the future of the Bruins, who were considering either withdrawal from the league or selling out. Halas declared his associates probably would vote to continue as members of the circuit.

SON OF MEXICAN PRESIDENT WINS BOXING DECISION

Atchison, Kas., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Fernando Ortiz Rubio, 19 year old son of the president of Mexico, won his first public boxing match here tonight, easily outpointing Ernie Verscheiden, St. Mary's, Kas., in a three round St. Benedict's college intramural contest.

In the first round the Mexican boy, who weighed 138 pounds to his opponent's 135, rushed across the ring and drove Verscheiden through the ropes with a vicious attack to the head. Verscheiden was sent to the floor in the second round.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES DROP IN ACTIVE TRADING

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Share after share went plunging down to brand new low prices on the Chicago exchange yesterday as the tide of liquidation which has engulfed the market for days continued to flow unchecked.

Stocks that previously had drifted leisurely along outside of the swift current area were caught up by the tide and carried to new bottom levels. And there was no help forthcoming for the issues have been repeatedly beaten back in the last few days.

Transactions rolled up amounted to 316,700 shares—the biggest turnover on the exchange in several weeks. The scene on the floor during the last half hour of trading was one of the busiest since the memorable days of October and November last year.

Many Tape Watchers.

The brokerage offices along the street were filled with interested spectators. An air of bewilderment prevailed among the onlookers as they watched tape record the events which were occurring on the floors of the various exchanges.

"When will the real bottom be reached?" was the question voiced by many of the tape watchers. There were few persons who were willing to hazard an answer to the query.

The selling on the Chicago market converged in the Insull shares and all of the active leaders in the group were driven to prices which set new records for the year or longer. In Middle West alone a total of 55,000 shares changed hands and they settled to a new all time low level of 15¼. The final sale was made a fraction above the worst price of the day. Insull Utility suffered even more, being driven down over three points to 30 from which it made a slight recovery.

In the miscellaneous group net losses ranging from 2 to 6 points were sustained by A. M. Castle, Parker Pen, U. S. Gypsum, Quaker Oats, Morgan Lithograph, Katz Drug, and Time-O-Stat A stock. In most cases the final prices were the lows for the day and also the low for the year. The declines among the motor shares were narrower with net losses ranging from a fraction to two points.

Sell Near the Bottom.

While no outstanding recessions occurred among the investment shares nearly all the issues in the group were selling at or below their previous bottom quotations. In its second day of trading Continental Chicago new stock sold off to 5⅞ from which it edged back to close at 6.

Insull Utility debentures reflected the weakness in the stock by selling down 3½ points to 82. Trading in the issue was active with bonds of a par value of $105,000 changing hands.

"Improvements in broad- sting conditions and increases in ation power," Mr. Caldwell added, may also be expected to open up new rritories, and these, with the new dustrial and business uses of sets w being developed, will, it is ex- cted, restore 1931 volume to past osperous levels."

CAR LOADINGS REAL SIGN OF IMPROVEMENT

Show Gain of 85,088 During Week.

BY O. A. MATHER.

There was plenty of adverse news yesterday, but there also were some cheerful items. The same old tale of quiet trade was told in the weekly report on the railroad movement of commodities and the weekly statistics on petroleum production recited a small increase. On the other hand, there were evidence of betterment in the automobile and steel industries.

The car service division of the American Railway association reported that loading of revenue freight for the week ended Dec. 6 totaled 787,173 cars. This marked an increase of 85,088 cars over the preceding week, when traffic was reduced as a result of the Thanksgiving holiday, but it was a decline of 146,126 cars, or nearly 16 per cent, from the corresponding week in 1929. The chief decreases, compared with a year ago, occurred in miscellaneous freight, merchandise, coal, and forest products.

Oil Output Increases.

Petroleum production has held up rather stubbornly in spite of recent price reductions. The daily average gross crude oil output last week totaled 2,232,850 barrels, an increase of 2,600 barrels a day over the preceding week, according to the American Petroleum institute. Sharp curtailment in most of the Texas fields was offset by large expansion in Oklahoma and California.

Refiners increased their takings of crude oil and operated at 64 per cent of capacity last week, compared with 61.2 per cent in the previous week. Stocks of gasoline decreased 62,000 barrels, but still total 37,680,000 barrels, while stocks of gas and fuel oil receded 983,000 barrels to a total of 137,881,000 barrels. The Standard Oil company of Ohio yesterday cut gasoline prices by 2 cents a gallon.

Low Auto Stocks.

The present low stocks of automobiles in dealers' hands was illustrated in the monthly summary of the General Motors corporation. Sales to dealers in the United States last month totaled 48,155 cars, compared with 22,-214 in October and 39,745 in November, 1929. It was the first month this year in which sales exceeded the corresponding month of 1929. Total domestic and foreign sales last month totaled 57,257 cars, compared with 28,-251 in October and 60,977 in November last year. However, sales to consumers in this country showed the usual seasonal slackening last month, being 41,757 cars, compared with 57,-737 in October and 68,893 in November, 1929.

Another step in its expansion program was announced by the Ford Motor company. Bids will be taken next month for a new assembly plant to be built in Seattle, Wash., at a cost of several million dollars. It will have a capacity of 300 cars and trucks a day and will employ 2,000 men. It will replace the present Seattle plant, which has a capacity of only 115 cars a day.

Chicago Rail Production Rises.

Pointing to improvement in the steel industry, there was a Dow-Jones estimate that production of steel rails in the Chicago district has been increased to 50 per cent of capacity, compared with 40 per cent recently. And further gains were expected after the turn of the year, as the railroads are releasing orders for good sized tonnages.

The Daily Metal Trade reported a better feeling in the structural steel markets as the result of renewed prospects of fairly active building construction work in the Chicago district and western territory during the early part of next year.

CHICAGO BANK STOCK MARKET UNDER PRESSURE

Like other security markets, there was an unusual flurry in the Chicago bank stock market yesterday. Trading was heavy and prices displayed wide fluctuations. Central Trust Company of Illinois shares broke 65 points to low sales at 208 but snapped back in the late trading and closed at 260 bid, 265 asked, off 15 points on the day.

Continental Illinois Bank and Trust stocks had a large turnover but closed in good demand at 375 bid, 380 asked. National Bank of the Republic stock ranged bewteen 73 and 79, closing at 73 bid, 75 asked. The directors declared the regular quarterly dividend and voted a bonus to employés and a contribution to the pension fund. First National shares lost some 10 points, closing in demand at 460 bid, 465 asked. Harris Trust and Savings stock eased to 580 bid, 590 asked; while Northern Trust shares, ex dividend, sagged to 440 bid, 445 asked.

Extra dividends were announced by the following banks: Central Manufacturing, 5½ per cent; University State, 3 per cent; Union State Bank of South Chicago, 2 per cent. Eastern banks to declare extra payments were: Union Trust company, Pittsburgh, $6; Central Hanover Bank and Trust, New York, $1.50; Empire Trust, New York, 40 cents; Fidelity Union Trust, Newark, $2 a share.

Elect Arthur Reynolds Member Board of Trade

Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, was elected a member of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. Five other applicants admitted were Pierre H. Bond, secretary R. B. Bond & Co., Toronto; Clarence M. Frank of E. D. Norton & Co., Chicago; George Bagley Strachan of Logan & Bryan; Carl M. Keiffer, Beer & Co., New Orleans, and Edward F. Bowman Jr. of Stewart Bros. & Co., Chicago.

Pessimism Reigns in Grain Trade, Bringing Liquidation

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Pessimism predominated in the grain trade yesterday. Weakness in foreign markets, the bad break in the stock market in New York, and the general atmosphere of gloom engendered by the combination brought in liquidation in all grains, with July wheat dropping 2c to 69c, a new low on the crop, and to within ¾c of the inside figure made in March, 1903.

Houses with southwestern connections were fair sellers of July wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade and found support limited until the decline had been attained. Buying against bids and short covering caused a fractional rally, with the close 1⅝c lower for the day at 69¼ @69¾c.

December Wheat Eases.

Old crop deliveries of wheat were dull and easy, but the Stabilization corporation continued to take the May futures at 81@81½c, with the close at the "pegged" figures, or the same as on Monday. December, however, was weak and closed ⅝c lower at 76½c, or 4½c under the May, at which figure there was some changing under way, and also good support.

Political complications in Argentina, which were reflected in a decline of 1c in the exchange rate, were a factor in causing a break of 1⅝@1¾c in wheat futures in Buenos Aires. Weather conditions there were generally reported as favorable. Liverpool was off 1@1¼d, ignoring the strength shown in North America the previous day, and the same distrustful feeling toward the buying side which prevailed in American markets was in evidence there. Messages from Winnipeg said it was hard to explain why prices there dropped 2@2¼c for the day, with the May touching 58⅞c, a new low for the season.

There is an unusual tendency at present to magnify bearish developments and to ignore the strengthening influences. Despite reports to the contrary, there was a good export business put through in Manitoba wheats during the day, the sales being made as the result of the break in Winnipeg futures. This was reflected in the buying of the latter at one time by houses with New York connections. A decrease of 641,000 bu was shown in the world's available supply during the last week, with the total 458,485,000 bu, against 459,100,000 bu last year.

Corn Closes Lower.

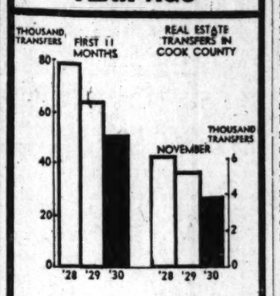
A rumor that a leading local industry was to close down its plant had some effect in bringing in persistent selling of corn futures, with stop loss orders uncovered, and at the inside all futures sold at a new low on the present downturn, and at the inside showed 2⅝@2⅞c under Monday's close, with the finish at net losses of 2¼@2⅝c. Old December was 68⅞c; March, 71¾c; May, 73¾@73⅞c, and July, 75@75⅛c.

The rumor regarding the closing of the plant of a leading local industry on investigation was found to be exaggerated, although it is expected that it will shut down on Dec. 24 and reopen Dec. 29. Shipping demand for cash corn was not aggressive, and the trade looks for a continued good run of cash grain to terminals, as nearly 400 cars were loaded in Nebraska on Monday. December corn closed at 75¾c under December wheat, which is expected to have the effect of increasing feeding of the former in preference to wheat in the main corn belt.

Stop loss orders were caught in oats and, with selling of May by a house that has recently been an aggressive buyer, prices dropped sharply and closed about the bottom, with net losses of 1½@2c. Old December was 31⅝@31¾c, and May, 33⅝@33⅞c at the last. The best buying was by commission houses on resting orders.

Rye weakened in sympathy with other grains, with scattered liquidation developing on the way down. Net losses for the day were 2@2¼, with December, 44c, and May, 44¾c.

NOVEMBER REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS SHOW DECLINE FROM YEAR AGO



TO VOTE ON OLIVER FARM EQUIPMENT RECAPITALIZATION

New York, Dec. 16.—Calling a special meeting of stockholders for Jan. 14, the Oliver Farm Equipment company today announced plans for recapitalization through an exchange of new common stock for the present common and convertible participating stock.

Under the plan each of the present 522,496 shares of convertible stock will be exchanged for a share of new common and each of the outstanding 401,922 shares of present common will be exchanged for a quarter of a share of new common.

Capitalization then will consist of 200,000 shares of $6 prior preferred, and 622,976½ shares of common stock. Warrants attached to the preferred to purchase an aggregate of 250,000 shares of common at $80 until 1934, and 200,000 shares thereafter until 1839 at $100 a share will remain unchanged.

Explaining the change, Joseph D. Oliver, chairman, pointed out that the convertible stock is entitled to cumulative dividends at the rate of $3 annually. "It is obvious," he said, "that until the excessive bank indebtedness is liquidated no dividends can be declared on the convertible participating stock. The resulting annual accumulation of dividends, in the opinion of your board, will adversely affect the credit of the company and will be harmful alike to the convertible participating stock and to the common stock."

Metropolitan Life Gets Refund on Its 1923 Taxes

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—(AP)—A refund of $631,135 to the Metropolitan Life Insurance company for overassessment of income tax in 1923 was announced today by the internal revenue bureau.

Discusses Proposal to Eliminate Wheat Surplus

BY SCRUTATOR.

There is something appealingly simple in the relationship of the federal farm board's wheat holdings to the fact that a great many people in the United States will go hungry this winter unless charitable funds save them.

Numerous suggestions have been made to the effect that this wheat should be given away by the farm board corporations, that the government through some other branch should purchase it and distribute it, and that charity organizations should try the same thing. In some occult manner mass purchases like this, it is assumed, will not only aid the unemployed but will build up the wheat market.

So prominent a man as former Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo has urged the government to take wheat, have it converted into flour, and distributed free to the needy. Another gentleman who has opinions on the subject, slightly different, writes as follows:

Urges Remedy.

"In Chicago, the wheat center of the world, wheat is selling around 80 cents a bushel. In the select grocery stores cracked wheat put up in pretty printed paper bags is selling by the pound at $8.40 a bushel. If cracked wheat is a delicacy for the breakfast table of the well-to-do, why can't good flour making wheat be made available to millions needing such good food at a cheap price?

"The remedy for distress conditions is for the organized local relief agencies in the cities to bring the surplus wheat held by the federal farm board in the grain elevators to those millions. If the local relief agencies get into action they can make $1 contributed by the public do a $5 job. Ten pounds of wheat put up in paper bags and sold at 20 cents will furnish substantial food for a family of five for two days. A large bowl of hot boiled wheat can be distributed in bread lines at the cost of 1 cent a bowl—milk, sugar or molasses extra."

No quarrel can be raised on the ground of the possible low cost or of the nutritive value of wheat. On the other hand, there is something wrong with the assumption that any surplus of wheat will be removed. It is unlikely that the poor could eat more wheat in that form than in standard bread, while in proportion to accepted budgets for family relief the outlay even for wheat in the form of bakery goods is relatively small. Organized charity budgets run from $100 to $150 a month; six or seven dollars would cover the ordinary expenditures for wheat products.

Might Add to Unemployment.

Such a program as the one outlined above, if it worked on a large scale, might mean the loss of employment to a great many in the bakery trade. The bureau of the census has found that the average employment in that industry in 1929 was 197,859 wage earners, and that they drew upwards of 272 million dollars in pay. The industry used 725 million dollars worth of raw materials, including fuel, and turned out products valued wholesale at more than $1,500,000,000. There were available for consumption with our coffee a total of nearly 198 million doughnuts and nearly a billion and half pounds of crackers.

On the big scale distribution of free wheat might so injure the baking trade as to throw some of its tens of thousands into breadlines. On the showing that has been made so far it does not seem worth the cost to go beyond established business and establish new distribution channels in food for a temporary emergency—at least in wheat.

REPUBLIC STEEL OMITS DIVIDEND ON PFD. SHARES

Republic Steel corporation directors yesterday omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the preferred stock due at this time. A statement said the action was taken to maintain the corporation's cash position and under existing conditions it was deemed a proper conservative move for the best interests of the corporation and its stockholders.

Directors of the Howe Sound company, Canadian copper producer, declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1. The company is the only one of the larger copper producers that has maintained its regular dividend through the months of depressed copper prices.

A regular semi-annual dividend of $2.50 a share was declared by the board of directors of the Great Northern railway. The dividend will be paid Feb. 2 to stockholders of record Dec. 29.

Board of Trade Expels A. O. Jones, Corn Trader

Ashley O. Jones, senior corn trader on the Chicago Board of Trade for 30 years, was expelled yesterday after a hearing by the directors under section [b] of rule 150, which prohibits trading systematically against the orders or position of his customers. John J. Carmody, another corn trader, convicted on the same charge, was suspended for a year. B. C. Feeney, also a corn trader, has been cited to appear for a hearing before the directors next week.

SILVER AT 31⅝C HITS ANOTHER ALL-TIME LOW

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Bar silver established a new historical low today for the third time in a week, declining 1¼ cents to 31⅝ cents an ounce.

Last Tuesday bar silver broke to 33 cents, the lowest on record to that time, and on Friday there was a further break to 32¼ cents an ounce.

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The new Tidewater paper making plant of the Main Seaboard Paper company at Bucksport, Me., was placed in operation today. The plant, which has a daily capacity of 250 tons of newsprint, has sold its output for 5 years in advance.

Reduce Export Copper Price to 10.80 Ct. Level

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 16.—Copper Exporters, Inc., the export association of producers, today cut the price of the metal half a cent a pound to 10.80 cents for copper delivered in Hamburg, Havre, and London. A further cut of half a cent to 10.30 cents a pound was predicted in the trade because metal is available to consumers in the domestic market at 10 cents a pound. Compared with that price copper for export is badly out of line, with the result that foreign consumers were not buying any today.

California Flour Millers Cut Price 20c Per Barrel

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 16.—(AP)—A decrease of 20 cents a barrel in the price of flour was announced by leading millers in California today. The new price is $5.80.

New York, Dec. 16.—Heavy selling poured into the stock market anew today, driving prices to fresh lows for two years or longer. High grade issues broke with the lower classed ones, indicating that the moneyed interests which exerted such Herculean efforts to make a showing with the leaders in Monday's debacle had given up the fight for the time being. Losses averaged from 1 to 4 points with a few of the more sensational performers dipping as much as 12 to 13.

Everything in the way of news—with the possible exception of a well known banker's "prosperity" remarks—was in favor of the bear element. A fresh decline in copper metal prices, the omission of the Republic Steel corporation preferred dividend, disappointing figures for November on foreign trade, renewed weakness in the silver exchanges and the commodity markets—these were some of the more discouraging items of the trying day, and the bears, with their wonted gift for capitalizing bad news, saw that none of the grist was overlooked.

Selling drives against the oils, coppers, and rails followed one another in regular succession all day. Toward the last some show of support developed at strategic points, boosting some of the more prominent issues above their lows of the day, but a majority of issues were on the skids from gong to gong.

Altogether about 300 issues established new bottoms for the year and in many cases, particularly in the rails, for several years. Standard Oil of New Jersey finally broke under weight of heavy offerings through the 48 level to sell down to 45⅛, the lowest since 1928 and off nearly 4 points on the day. fact, almost the entire group—followed the leader into new low ground on losses of 1 to 3 points or more.

Leaders Retreat.

Practically all the recognized leaders took headers for new minimums. United States Steel made a brave effort to stem the tide in the early dealings, but by noon the gain it had so laboriously run up had been converted into a loss of more than 2½ points on a new low of 134½. American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Du Pont, R. H. Macy, and numerous other favorites in every section of the roster entered new low territory on declines of 1 to 6 points and most of them were not very far from their minimums when the close of trading came. American Can, at one time down some 3 points, was still off 2½ at the close. Macy recovered a net loss of 5¾ points on the day.

Reduction of the annual dividend rate of Canada Dry Ginger Ale from $5 to $3, coming not so long after the president had assured those concerned that the amount necessary to pay the dividend had been "earned by a good margin," was the signal for heavy selling in that issue. It went tumbling to a new low of 31 on a loss of some 4 points.

P. D. Saylor, president, said sales and profits for the final quarter this year will be less than for the like period last year because the company had not felt the depression at that time, and it was the consensus of the board that it could not expect much improvement in business before the beginning of the beverage season, about April 1. November sales this year, he added, showed an increase over October.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 27,000 hogs, and 16,000 sheep.

The lamb market featured the live stock trade in a sharp recovery yesterday, closing very active at the advance in spite of the fact that receipts exceeded all expectations at 18,000. Hogs slumped 10@20c, but finished active when advance estimates indicated abnormally small supplies for midweek. Prime light steers and yearlings continued in good demand, while other cattle ruled weak to lower.

Another substantial decrease in hog receipts yesterday was more than offset by indifferent buying by smaller packers and city butchers due to a lower wholesale market for fresh pork loins, resulting in a 10@20c break in the price of live hogs. Outsiders bought 10,000, more than a third of the day's fresh receipts, and with the available supply dwindling more rapidly than most interests had anticipated, larger local packers came on the market with some of the highest bids of the day.

The extreme top dropped 15c to $8.10, while the general average at $7.80 showed 10c loss. Prevailing quotations are still 10@15c above last Thursday's market, the low spot so far this year. Only 69,000 hogs are posted at five markets for today, against 90,800 last Wednesday.

Today's Medium Bid $8.00.

Medium weight hogs averaging 210 @260 lbs for today's delivery were bid $8.00 on the "to arrive" market yesterday, which was 10c above the prevailing price for that class on yesterday's cash trade. Bidding for future delivery contracts was 10@15c lower.

March lights were bid $8.90 and mediums for that month at $8.75. January lights carried bids of $8.10 and were offered at $8.60, but mediums for that month were offered at $8.20. Heavy for January delivery were bid $7.90 and offered at $8.10.

While the general cattle market developed into a slow peddling affair at weak to lower prices, the "handful" of highly finished yearlings and light steers suitable for the Christmas holiday trade cleared quickly at the highest prices since last May. Prime 1,100 lb average sold at $14.40, a new top for that weight, while 1,122 lb averages were sold at $14.25.

Lambs $10.00 in East.

Brisk buying on shipping account swept lamb prices to higher levels throughout the middle west yesterday. The $10.00 quotations at one of the far eastern points accelerated buying on local account and closing sales were highest of the day. The top slaughter lambs at Chicago rode to $8.50 on the bulge, showing 50c gain in two days.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unsettled by the further decline in futures and prices were easier. Yesterday local refiners bought 14,000 bags of Cuban from afloat basis at 3.35c and 34,000 bags from store at Norfolk at 3.26c. Further declines occurred in raw futures and under a renewal of heavy general selling, reflecting disappointing ending of the Brussels conference and the easier London cables. NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Was fairly active today and after a steady opening, which reflected temporary firmness in cotton and stocks, developed an easier tone, closing barely steady with prices unchanged to 18 points net lower, the latter on old December. General selling was stimulated by the sharp reaction in cotton and stocks and the generally easier tone of grain markets. Sales were 6,600 bris, all in new contracts. WAGES UP 13.4 PER CENT IN DECADE.

In spite of a decline of 30.4 per cent in commodity prices during the last decade, wages have increased 13.4 per cent. This indicates that labor is not facing a downward trend of wages and, according to the Alexander Hamilton institute, the explanation is to be found in the achievements of mass production.
